LOADS THE ISSUE SAYS ASQUITH TO ELECTORS

In Addressing Constituents, Ignores All But Budget Rejection — Churchill is Heckled by Suffragettes.

LONDON, Jan. 10.—The second parliament of King Edward's reign came to an end to-day. Four privy councillors attended at Buckingham Palace, where at 3.30 the King signed the proclamation summoning a new parliament to meet on Feb. 15. Within an hour the royal writs had been despatched from the crown office to every constituency in the United Kingdom.

Parliament having been formally dissolved, Prime Minister Asquith to-night issued an election address to his East Fife electors. It ignores all side issues raised during the campaign and is confined strictly to the constitutional question involved in the lords' rejection of the budget.

In defence of the budget the premier says: "It apportions the new taxes between the luxuries, superfluities and monopolies, leaving the necessities of life untouched."

Asquith says: "In a sentence, the house of lords has violated the constitution in order to save the cause of tariff reform from a mortal blow."

The premier declares that the lords' claim to the control of the country's finances is usurpation, and the expenditure of the parliament just dissolved shows that the possession of an unlimited veto by a partisan second chamber is an insupportable objection to domestic legislation.

Describing how the legislation of a Tory house of commons, while a Liberal house of commons is impotent to carry new legislation, he says: "It is absurd to speak of this system as the best of all possible systems. The best of all possible systems is a system in which the commons is understood, and is practically interpreted by every other democratic country."

After a brief respite, A. J. Balfour, Chancellor—Lloyd-George, Winston Spencer Churchill and other ministers and ex-ministers are again busy on the platform.

Mr. Churchill at Birmingham suffered considerable interruption from suffragettes, several of whom were expelled from the meeting.

A crowd of Unionists invaded a Liberal meeting at Camberwell, a parliamentary borough of London, and created a disturbance that Thomas James McNamara, member of parliament for that district, could not get a hearing and was obliged to abandon the attempt.

Mr. Edward Grey at Edinburgh declared that there never had been less reason to talk about war between Great Britain and Germany than there was to-day.

UNION JACK IN CREPE

How One Excited Briton Views the War Scare.

(Canadian Associated Press Cable.)

LONDON, Jan. 10.—The Mail is making a great effort to make the country believe that defence is the dominant issue. This aspect of the political situation has so impressed one person in Richmond that on a high flagstaff he has hoisted a German helmet. Below it is a German ensign. Then, decorated with crepe comes the Union Jack. "If this is what you want, vote Liberal," is the inscription. There are many protests at this indignity to the flag.

Stewart Lyon writes the press concluding the cry of "foreigner" used towards Hansard Greenleaf in London. Concluding a dignified letter, Mr. Lyon says: "There are two insults the colonial kinsman will not tolerate; one that is loyal must be bought; the other that they are foreigners."

Electroencephalography is becoming still more turbulent. The Conservative candidate at Fulham had to watch a number of free fights before he could begin. Similar scenes were witnessed.

QUARTZ ALL RICH; GOLD NOT IN "POCKETS"

Even Distribution is Best Sign of Permanency With Depth — Some Comparisons.

MATHESON, Jan. 10.—(Special.) Mining engineers now visiting the Porcupine camp are amazed at the remarkable surface showings of gold which are to be seen on many of the earlier finds and at the great extent of the area in which is found gold-bearing quartz. Experience has taught them not to commit themselves in regard to the probability of what lies below the surface. One must wait for development to prove this. Suffice it to say that where sinking has been done, the indications point to its continuance to a very much greater depth than has yet been attained.

The gold is largely associated with iron oxide, which gives the quartz a rusty or reddish brown appearance. This iron, sometimes specular, often in the form of pyrite, and in small cubes, has oxidized thru the percolation of water and air, and left the free gold. Gold is nearly always associated with some other mineral, chiefly iron and chalcopyrite; but in August of 1908, a nice vein of eight inches was uncovered by Mr. Gibson in the Timagami Reserve, five claims east from the southern end of Lake Peashaba, in which gold running over $100 to the ton, was associated with iron and cobalt with some silver.

Gold associated with cobalt is not of common occurrence, the similar veins have been found near Rib Lake. These veins are comparatively small, the matrix is of calcite, and the ore is somewhat refractory. Interesting as these finds are from a geological standpoint, showing distribution of gold to be widespread over the whole camp area outside of the rich silver section, they are completely overshadowed by the remarkable finds at Porcupine, where on the Wilson and Hollinger ridges, which are really horsts with the side and surface exposed, free gold is to be seen dotted over the side exposed, and on climbing up to the top, the free gold is still visible in all parts of it.

Indication of Permanency. It is the even distribution of the gold thru the quartz which gives hope of its continuance. The permanency of these large pockets can hardly be entertained, because pockets, sometimes very rich, are invariably found in the veins and the richness is all in one place, the quartz itself, a few yards from the pocket carrying an infinitesimal quantity of the precious metal.

All thru the Porcupine district, whilst there are seams running thru the quartz which carry a much greater mineralization than parts of the same vein outside of the seams, there is not that tendency to pocket which is characteristic of smaller veins in other sections. There again some of the biggest discoveries are one immense matrix of quartz with free gold all thru it. Remarkable! Marvelous! as one mining engineer, with a reputation from coast to coast, said on reaching Matheson, after viewing the wonderful showings on the Porcupine claims.

Comparisons with the Yukon and Klondike cannot be fairly made, except by way of contrast. The gold in the Yukon and Klondike is recovered from large placers in small particles and in nuggets. The quartz veins have been ground down by glacial action, and the gold, which will neither corrode or oxidize, has been deposited with the gravel and sand into river beds and gullies. Where the gold came from has always been a question puzzling to the western miner, because whilst the quartz veins and the veins, when found, are invariably barren, or contain so little gold that they are not nearly as remunerative as a placer mine.

In the Saskatchewan Valley, where it is argued that the gold came from the Rocky Mountains, the most gold has been found furthest away from the Rockies, and the sands in the river nearest the mountains are almost devoid of even traces of gold.

The mother lode is never found. Miners are forever looking for the source.

GLARING STUPIDITY

Deputy Minister of Trade Calls Down British Firm.

LONDON, Jan. 10.—(C. A. A. P.)—P. C. O'Hara of Ottawa writes The Times, giving an instance of a British electrical firm who refused to supply a Canadian firm enjoying a high reputation, with samples to the value of 25 shillings, until the money was sent, as it was contrary to their usual practice. This, says Mr. O'Hara, is the most glaring and stupid of many cases of utter indifference of British exporters to Canada ever brought to his notice.

RATHER HE WOULD KEEP OUT OF SIGHT

CHAIRMAN BALFOUR: Pardon me, my lord, but would you kindly "duck," and let me ask him?

NEW YORK, Jan. 10.—The first exhibition in this country of the gyrostatic mono-rail car, which has been advertised abroad as the solution of the mono rail problem and ranked among the wonders of the present century, by Richard Scherl, the young inventor who is a son of the owner of one of Germany's greatest newspapers. Many of America's best known railroad engineers and financiers were invited.

A single rail track had been laid on the floor of the rink in Aschcliffe, with about 12 laps to a mile. The car, which seats four passengers and two operators, and which is intended solely for demonstration purposes, worked perfectly.

Under the car are two gyroscopes, each revolving in a vacuum at the rate of 8,000 revolutions per minute, one on a perpendicular axis and the other horizontal.

These gyroscopes, operated by an electric current of 110 volts picked up by "shoes" from wires laid on either side of the mono rail, so balanced the car, either standing or running, that all tendency to incline, rock or pitch was counteracted.

Mr. Scherl believes that a speed of at least 120 miles an hour can be reached and maintained by a gyrostatic mono rail train of regulation size.

A 'CANADIAN' IS A 'FOREIGNER'

According to the Interpretation of Some York Conservatives.

LONDON, Jan. 10.—(Special cable to The World.)—A desperate attempt is being made by the Tories to defeat Hamar Greenwood in York. Because he is a Canadian, he is called a "foreigner." Canada ought to resent this at once. Mr. Greenwood always sticks up for the Dominion, and is to-day insulted because of it. His opponent, a Tory, however, says the empire has been built on beer. Greenwood replies that it was built on brains. Strange, but it is bitterly true, that because Greenwood is a typical Canadian, it puts many Tories hot against him, although they are always talking of dear colonialism and the empire.

BOURASSA'S NEW PAPER SETS FORTH ITS POLICY

Organ of the Nationalist Party and Why It Will Oppose Government.

MONTREAL, Jan. 10.—(Special.)—Henri Bourassa's new organ, "The Devoir," made its first appearance to-day. It will be an evening daily journal to defend the principles of the Nationalist party.

The introductory editorial, headed, "Before the Battle," is signed by Bourassa himself, as managing director of the paper.

After laying down the general rule, that the Devoir will support honest defense and denounce scoundrels, the article says:

"In provincial politics we will oppose the present government, because we find therein all the bad tendencies which we wish to make disappear from public life; hereditarily, carelessness, cowardice, degradation and narrow-party spirit. We will support the opposition because we find therein the opposite tendencies, probity, courage, firm principle, great breadth of view. These principles are splendidly combined in the person of its leader, Mr. Teller. Should the day come when this group will no longer follow the inspirations that now guide them, they will find us ready to oppose them, as we are now opposing the men in power."

The article goes on to say that the position is not so clear at Ottawa, where both parties suffer from the atrophy which characterized provincial politics a few years ago, and when a desire to secure or preserve power seems to be the only aim. After mentioning that both parliamentary groups seem to have conspired on the important questions within the past few years, a solution in which right, justice and national interests were sacrificed, Mr. Bourassa adds: "Mr. Monk's famous speech at Lachine gives us the hope that the dangerous and stupid position in which we are placed will not last. The member for Jacques Cartier may rest assured of our support, if he maintains his attitude with firmness, logic and perseverance."

CHABOT CHOSEN

Will Again Be the Conservative Candidate for Ottawa Seat.

OTTAWA, Jan. 10.—(Special.)—Dr. J. L. Chabot, who was Conservative candidate at the last general election, received the unanimous nomination tonight by the Conservative convention. He accepted.

The Liberal candidate is Auguste Lemoine, a brother of the postmaster-general, and there is a third candidate in the field, Ex-Mayor J. A. Ellis, running as an independent.

Dr. Chabot, at the last election, reduced the Liberal majority from fourteen hundred to six hundred, although his opponent was Sir Wilfrid Laurier. He is at present in poor health, and may have to undergo an operation within the next few days.

WHERE MONEY WENT TO

Further Ventilated—Toronto Bank is Interested.

ALBANY, N.Y., Jan. 10.—Recent investigation of the change in control of the People's Mutual Life Association and League of Syracuse, by the state insurance department, which is endeavoring to take over the business and $3,000,000 assets of the company, shows, according to a statement to-night by Superintendent of Insurance Hotchkiss, that eight of the nine directors of the association received various amounts for permitting the control of the society to pass into other hands, and that part of the money received from the alleged purchaser, John Tevis of Louisville, Ky., was disbursed by Lieut.-Governor White.

Fifty thousand of the $150,000 placed in Lieut.-Governor White's hands by Mr. Tevis was paid him as follows: William H. Peck, $10,000; First National Bank of Syracuse, $500; John Tevis, $10,000. Mr. White retained $20,000, and there is still $5000 on deposit in the First National Bank of Syracuse.

"As to the disbursement of the $20,000," says Superintendent Hotchkiss, "it would appear that the $10,000 paid Mr. Peck was by way of securing his services in connection with a new reorganized company; that the payment to the First National Bank of Syracuse was in consideration of its agreeing to disburse from the $20,000 of the association's securities that the same might be used in making a deposit in the Farmers' Bank of Canada, in payment of $1000 to Mr. Tevis, and that the payment of $1000 to Mr. Tevis was a loan to him of his own money; and that the payment of $1000 to Lieut.-Governor White was for money owing to him over a period of several years."

SUCCESS THE FIRST CONSIDERATION

James B. Pinkham, advertising manager of The New York Tribune, says:

"The advertising successes of to-day are not made by the retailer with little or no knowledge of advertising who trusts blindly to his agent and chance, but by the man with a working knowledge of advertising plus the intelligent co-operation of that type of advertising agent who thinks less of the commission involved than of the success of the campaign planned for and with his client."

YOUNG HERESS RAN OFF WITH WATER

She's 16, He's 43, and Married, and After Zig-Zag Tour They're Arrested by Chicago Police.

CHICAGO, Jan. 10.—Living as father and daughter, Roberta Blust de Janon, a Philadelphia heiress, aged only 16, and Frederick Cohen, a former waiter of the Bellevue-Stratford Hotel, who eloped Dec. 29 from Philadelphia, were arrested late to-day.

They were discovered by detectives in a rooming house at 48 West Superior-street, on the north side of the city. When the policemen entered the house Miss de Janon was playing with a pet dog which she took with her when she disappeared with Cohen, who is 43 years old and married. Cohen was reading in an adjoining room.

Cohen at first protested against arrest. He soon admitted his identity, however, and Miss de Janon, sobbing bitterly, pleaded with the police to restore her to her parents.

Cohen revealed to the officers the story of his flight with the girl from Philadelphia, a flight extending thousands of miles.

From Philadelphia they went to New York, then to Montreal and on to St. John, N. B., where they boarded a steamer for England, leaving it at Halifax and going to Boston and then on to Chicago.

They gave up their trip to England at Halifax, because the boat officers would not permit the presence of Miss de Janon's pet dog on the vessel. At least, that was Cohen's explanation, but the police believe he planned to elude his pursuers.

Cohen and Miss de Janon reached Chicago on Thursday and rented a room in a boarding house, introducing the girl as his daughter. A maid said he was Robert King, a barber from Montreal, in search of work.

The girl, after she had admitted her identity, said that she and Cohen had reached Chicago with only $1.00, and that she gave Cohen a bracelet and a necklace, which he pawned to get money to live on. The next day followed a report to the police by the landlady, who had seen pictures of the eloping pair in the newspapers.
