Taken altogether, there is no reason for discouragement, but rather for hope. We have made a splendid attempt this was part and the labor vote that was cast will have a powerful influence, but we must not be discouraged but take up the fight at once and get ready for a sweeping victory next year. We have lost the first battle of what will be a campaign of years. Let us try hart to win the second. There will be fewer candidates and a much tetter chance. DIRECT LEGISLATION. There is now no doubt that by-laws providing for a measure of the initiative and referendum will be included in the LIMITED LABO it is not fair to the worker to ask him to forsake these unless we provide some-thing equally as good in return. We do not suggest this in an antagonistic spirit to our old friends and advisers, but we do bold that it is just as necessary for the employee to take his seat at the Conneil table as the employer.
