A rumor, which may or may not have any authenticity is in brief, that the land force is to be increased that a line regiment of probably a thousand men will be sent out here from England, and that this will be done with a view to reducing the naval station at Esquimalt to that of a commcdore's station. This would mean, of course, a reduction in the fleet, and a

It was in effect that the war office was seriously contemplating the removal of the Royal Canadian regiment from the Nova Scotian capital to British Columbia to garrison the fortifications of Esquimalt and strengthen Britain's position of the Pacific. The dispatch read that the only official word that Major-General Sir Charles Parsons, commanding in British America, has received is compressed in 200, 500 and 600 yards respectively. The possible was fixed at 36. Out of this two cablegrams. From the war office one of these asked him for a statement of the extent of the married quarters for troops in Halifax, the other was a notice that the 5th Royal Garrison regiment would sail from Liverpool for Halifax

OLD ESQUIMALT RANGE

A Very Interesting Ceremony Held in Connection With the Event on Monday Afternoon.

The old naval range, situated near the lagoon, Esquimalt, and which has been out of service for a number of years, was formally reopened on Monday af-ternoon, the ceremonies attending being of a most interesting character. Rear-Admiral and Mrs. Bickford presided, and there were present, including those from the city and Esquimalt, upwards of 250 people. The Water Lily, kindly loaned for the occasion by Mr. Bannister, conveyed the guests to and from Foster's landing, the scene of the event being just across the harbor. Mrs. Bickford had the honor of firing the first shot, and with excellent skill placed 200, 500 and 600 yards respectively. The possible was fixed at 36. Out of this number Capt. Clark scored 28, winning the first match. Capt. Bowdler took the second, while the third, which was a contest between the ladies, went to the laurels of Miss Vernon, after very excellent shooting. The fourth and last event on the afternoon's programme was a skiff race, in which 27 ladies in all participated. There were three heats, in which as many skiffs raced, and the best in these qualified for the final. That winning out the event had as a crew Miss Holmes (stroke), Miss Hallowes (coxswain) and Mrs. Laing. Altogether the event proved a most enjoyable outing, the preceedings, which commenced The range has been greatly improved and considerably altered since it was line, and thus created a certain amount of fear among residents living in the shooting that is carried on will jeopardize no one. New butts have been place in position, and all equipment necessary has been added. The range will be used principally for small matches, while the big range will, of course, continue in use for the ships, where a number are now on practice.

NEGOTIATIONS FOR

PROSPECTIVE BUYERS MEET CITY COUNCIL

An Abrupt Termination of Secret Conference Held Last Night With That Body.

It has been rumored for some time that the Victoria Terminal & Sidney Railway Company were about to dis pose of their interests. The purchasers who have been carrying on the negotiations are A. Guthrie, of St. Paul, and John Hendry, manager of the B. C Mills Trading & Lumber Co., of Vancouver. The former is the chief contractor of the Great Northern railway, and while not perhaps directly interested in that company, he is yet regarded as having close relations with the Great Yesterday the parties above mentioned with their solicitor, Aulay Morrison, M. P., were in the city for the purpose of negotiating for the purchase of these interests. A conference was held in the afternoon at which their were present Guthrie, John Hendry and Aulay and power.

Mr. Morton seconded the motion, which was unanimously agreed to.

E. V. Bodwell, K. C., A. H. B. Mac-Gowan, A. E. Henry, Jas. Anderson and S. McKenzie, representing the buyers, and G. W. Bodwell, K. C., A. H. B. Mac-Gowan, A. E. Henry, Jas. The purchasers were agreeable to those aterested in the Terminal railway, inasmuch as they were known to have close relations with the Great Northern of the New Westminster, Vancouver & Yukon railway project. E. V. Bodwell, who has been so closely identified with the Terminal railway project since its inception, states that he was anxious to see that the spirit of the agreement made with the city of Victoria should be carried out, which called for a connection with the Great Northern inter ests. So anxious were they to see that this feature of the agreement should be consummated that the company was ready to make what they regarded as a specially tempting offer to these capitalists to take over the business. In keeping with this the negotiations held yes terday afternoon were regarded by them as strictly confidential The Terminal Company contend that the terms of the agreement with the city regarding the different connections which are to be made can all be carried out within the time specified. This time loes not expire until May 11th, 1903. On the other hand the purchasing pany had some doubt as to its ability to carry out all these terms in the time, and for that reason believed that an extension of the time might be necessary It was upon this ground that they at-tempted to ascertain from the city councial its mind upon the matter of an extension, if this was found necessary. A private conference between these parties and the members of the city council was held last evening when this matter was discussed. It was in connection with the holding of this conference that an unfortunate misunder-standing arose, and which culminated in E. V. Bodwell entering the meeting and expressing his displeasure at the method of holding this meeting. He contended that it was entirely out of order for such a secret meeting being held without the company which he represented hav ing been consulted, or in anyway not fied that a conference was to be held.

Mr. Bodwell states that at the con-

of fear among residents living in the ricinity, now points seaward, and what deal was completed. He specified explicitly that the city council was not to be approached in any manner until this stood to be a binding agreement by all those present representing the allied in proaching the council they consider that there was a direct violation of this agreement. The council they believe also have been misled in doing as they did in the matter, without consulting the Virtoria Terminal principals The lat ter would doubtless have been willing to have taken part in any such conference among the different parties including the city council had this matter been previ ously arranged. What they did object to was the way they were discarded in the matter. While the conference with the city council is regarded as private, and Mayor Hayward does not consider it proper to reveal what was done, it is nevertheless learned to have been satisfactory to Messrs. Guthrie and Hendry. The deal may, therefore, be concluded in spite of the little misunderstanding No Europeans Killed. which has arisen. A. Guthrie, John Hendry and Aulay Morrison left this
