MONCTON, July 12.-The Orange demonstration here today under the auspices of the Grand Lodge of New Brunswick, was a most successful celebration. The railway town was thronged with people from various parts of the province, and everybody square, along St. George street to High down High to Main, down Main to Bonaccord, up Bonaccord to Union, along Union to Robinson, down Rob-inson to Main, down Main to Alma, went away delighted with their visit. The Orangemen of the town did everything possible to make the stay of the visitors a pleasant one, and the citizens generally lent them a hand up Alma to St. George, along St. George to Steadman, down Steadman to Main, up Main to Weldon, to place in this work. The buildings on the principal streets were decorated with flags and bunting, and wherever there of starting. The music of the different l was a pole on which a flag could be

GLOUCESTER CO. ANNUAL S. S. CONVENTION.

The Sunday school workers of this county assembled in the Presbyterian church at 10 a. m. July 11th. John Brown led the opening Bible reading, after which committees were appointed. Rev. John Goldsmith made a report of the home department work for the year. This report showed an excellent work though not extensive. Several joined in the conference on this subject. 'The county secretary, Mr. Grant, read his statistical report, which promised some great features. One new school had been opened. There was an increased enrolment, and a larger increase in the average attendance Every school in the county had sent in a full report. Nearly every one had sent in an annual offering. Mrs. J. Ferguson, who is the member of the provincial executive, strongly advocaed faithfulness in giving to this cause, which had done so much for Sunday schoool work. The conversation which followed showed that the county had nearly fulfilled its pledge amount, and it was thought would exceed it in a

BRITAIN'S SHARE OF THE JAP-ANESE TRADE.

Foreign trade in Japan for 1899 had reached the highest figures recorded since Japan had commercial dealings with other nations. That record, however, occording to Engineering, was in its turn surpassed by the result re-vealed by the returns for 1900. The foreign office report gives the value of the imports at £29,324,646, and of 'exports £20,868,895, making a grand total of £50,193,541. The increase in the trade with the United Kingdom was £2,734,463; of Hong Kong, £837,853; of the United States of America, £1,346,-728; and of Germany, £1,158,155; while a decrease took place in that of Brita decrease took place in that of Brit-ish India to the amount of £1,809,454; of China, £726,064; and of France, £895,249. The decrease in the case of British India is accounted for by the much smaller amount of raw cotton imported into Japan, and of France by the comparative failure of the silk crop; while that of China is, of course explained by the disturbances in that country. It is satisfactory to find that the United Kingdom records the largest increase in value of imports, though the increase of Germany (70 per cent) is the greatest in proportion. The percentage gained by the United States is 63 per cent, and by France 40 per cent; the decrease in the trade of the latter being in the silk exported. mports from the United Kingdom inted, in value, to about 25 per pert of the total import trade, as com-pared with 20 per cent in 1899 and 23 per cent in 1898. In previous years, owever, the percentage of our trade to Japan was larger. Of the iron an
