Auspicious Opening of Orange Fair in Queen's Rink Last Night

Hon. Robert Maxwell Formally Declared Fair Open in Eloquent Address—Speeches by Mayor Bullock and Dr. A. W. MacRae—Committees Complimented on Beautiful Appearance of Booths—First Night's Experience Augurs Well for Success of Show.

Under most auspicious circumstances the Orange fair was opened in Queen's rink last evening with a large attendance and there is every promise that the event will be an unequalled success. In the absence of Hon. Wm. Pugsley, Hon. R. Maxwell officially declared the fair open and from that moment the merry making went with a swing and at the close at 10.30 o'clock a most successful evening was reported. The interior of the rink presented a beautiful appearance with a generous display of green bunting and incandescent lights. Five large booths representing the lodges in the city proper and the representatives vied with each other in giving the public a chance to spend their money and at the same time enjoy themselves while doing it. The band stand is in the centre of the floor and is tastefully draped in green. The speakers occupied the stand at the opening ceremony which took place at 8.30 o'clock. Music was furnished by the Carleton Cornet Band.

Hon. ROBERT MAXWELL.

The Mayor's Address. Mayor Bullock spoke of the progress made by the Orange Order and the forward steps in the last few years. The reason for the high standing in the community was found in the commendable principles which were inculcated in the lodge members. They were taught to be better citizens and the city and state owed much to the Orangemen. Some of the greatest and noblest men had been members of the order. He congratulated the district lodge and committees on the fine appearance of the rink and the taste shown in decorating the rink.

Hon. Robert Maxwell. Hon. Robert Maxwell was received with three cheers and made an eloquent address. His first words were high standard of morals which is demanded in Canada.

Greater by far than the peerless prairies, the free unbounded forests and the great physical features of the greater Canada, was the rightous, untrammelled code of citizenship which the order taught. "We are proud," the speaker continued, "to come to the people of St. John and ask of them the same charitable, the same philanthropic and the same humanity which they have displayed in the past knowing that ours is the order that teaches 'through other skies may be as bright and other lands as fair. Yet there is one, the peer of all, beneath bright heaven's dome. Of thee I sing O happy land, My own Canadian Home.'"

The Grand Master. Dr. A. W. MacRae, introduced as grand master, said he was somewhat forcibly reminded of the last occasion, nearly a year since that he had spoken in the Queen's Rink. Though an honorable Minister of Public Works had been unable to come through rush of business he was sure that the fair had been opened just as auspiciously, as generally and as gracefully.

In speaking of the order the grand master said that those who were familiar with the presents and the inside history were not at a loss to account for the hold the order had upon the people and the great work it has accomplished. He looked forward to the time when the natal day of the order would receive the same attention and he observed the same as the natal day of the nation itself. He wished the promoters of the fair the utmost success. A Glance Round. The visitor to the fair found a bewildering array of attractions and there was no need to spend a dull moment while inside the doors. Twelve hundred and twenty-five booths, a pretty trimmed booth to the right of the bandstand. Here, Japanese goods and fancy articles are on sale. Air Rifle—Sergt. J. A. Sullivan. Excelsior Game—W. Simpson and W. Grant. Doll Game—W. H. Ruddock and Roy Ruddock.

of the excellent arrangement of the booths and the beautiful effect of the decorations. The order taught a patriotism and love of the order called for a high standard of citizenship. There must be something noble and grand about an order which had bred the storms of two hundred years and which taught the doctrine of universal brotherhood of God and universal brotherhood of man. The order taught a patriotism and love of duty to that grand old flag which had braved a thousand years the battle and the breeze. Orangemen taught the

NOT KNOWN WHERE PISTOL WAS OBTAINED.

Last evening in the court house before Coroner Berryman, the jury enquired into the cause of the death of Benjamin Wilson, who was found dead with a bullet wound in his temple in an outhouse in the yard of his son, at 55 Chesley street. Daniel J. Britt called, saying that his death was due to a bullet fired from a revolver held by his hand. The jury were Stephen Golding, foreman, James Wilson, John P. Williams, W. P. Hatfield, Ben. Arthur Foster and Thomas Gibbon. Mrs. Elizabeth Sheehan, 59 Murray street was the first witness examined. In reply to the coroner witness said she knew deceased for the past 10 or 11 years. She had last seen him on Monday, two days previous to the discovery of his dead body. He was going in the outhouse about 1.30 in the afternoon. On that occasion deceased looked somewhat downhearted. She was present when the door was opened, and had been the body lying in the outhouse. She had not heard any pistol shot and did not see any pistol. Daniel J. Britt called, said he saw deceased on the morning of Oct. 5 about 10 o'clock on Murray street. He did not notice anything unusual about his appearance then. E. Wilson in reply to the coroner, said the deceased was his father and lived on Chesley street. The last time he had seen him alive was on Friday, Oct. 1. Deceased had left his (witness's) home that evening between 7 and 8 o'clock and he did not see him again until he found the body on Wednesday morning in his (witness's) yard.

DISCOVERY OF THE BODY.

Witness then told of discovering the body in the outhouse, in company with Mr. Rogers, his landlord. By marks placed upon the revolver by the undertaker, witness identified it in court as the one found near the body. He did not know his father had a revolver, and did not know where he got it. He did not know of any reason why his father should have committed such a deed. He had never heard him say he would take his life. He did not notice anything unusual about the deceased the last time he saw him. William Rogers, 55 Murray street, was then called. He corroborated the evidence of Mr. Wilson about the finding the body. He did not know deceased and had not seen any revolver. Robert Wilson brother of deceased said he had never known him to have a revolver. He was addicted to drink and seemed to be jealous of his wife. He had not worked about the house since his father's death and seemed low spirited.

CHARGING THE JURY.

In charging the jury the coroner reviewed the evidence pointed to the fact that the deceased had family troubles and was in low spirits previous to his death. The condition of the outhouse where the body was discovered showed rather plainly that deceased had met death from his own hand. After being out about 15 minutes the jury returned a verdict as previously stated.
