

NORWEGIAN HAD A DOLL

Six Two Hundred Dollar Bills in Money Belt— Going Home to Spend Christmas.

"Have I made money?" said a big husky boy said Norway was his native country, to a Standard reporter, last evening, in the Union Depot, as he sat munging at a piece of dry bread with a look of perfect satisfaction on his countenance.

The Norwegian was one of the party who came in from the West on the special C. P. R. train en route home for Christmas, and of all those in the depot he apparently was the only one able to converse in English fluently enough to have himself understood properly.

"I have made lots of money in the West and I am going back after Christmas to bring others out here."

How much the Western settler considered a "lot" was the whole point in the matter, but when after some further conversation, he produced a leather purse and showed six two hundred dollar bills, which he had secured tucked beneath his coat and fastened with a ring and linked chain, it was taken for granted that "success" was the proper name to apply in his case.

To look at the man with his cloth bag and rough clothing one would think that even the price of passage was beyond the traveller's means. Indeed one person in the station was heard to remark that he "ought to be ashamed to return home for Christmas without any money after spending a year in the West."

A close examination of all the foreigners in the depot last evening may possibly have shown the same result, and the amount of money would probably astonish the ordinary individual. With possibly not a single exception they get-up was one of a man who was unable to provide for his next meal.

"I have been out here nearly two years," said the Norwegian, in question, "and have made lots of money. I expect to return and bring out two of my brothers with me on my next trip."

Starting the Day Right

Do you begin the day with a "krouch"? Are you tired in the morning? Do you get a headache, a nervous, restless influence of sleep, which should make good the energy and vitality consumed by the day's work?

Then you are rapidly becoming bankrupt so far as health is concerned. You should look to your habits of eating, make sure that you get lots of fresh air in your sleeping apartments, and restore waste vitality by using Dr. Chase's Nerve Food.

This great food cure does not induce sleep by any drugging effect, but when you have nearly two a few days and get the nervous system into condition you find yourself resting and sleeping naturally and healthily. By keeping up this restorative treatment you will be able to make good the waste and fill the exhausted nervous system with new vigor and energy. This means thorough cure of such symptoms as headache, sleeplessness, indigestion and tired, listless feelings.

BOARD OF HEALTH ON TOWN PLANNING

At a special meeting held in the Board of Health rooms yesterday afternoon a delegation from the Board of Trade discussed with the board the house planning problem with the view to concerted action being taken in the matter by the city.

The delegation from the Board of Trade was composed of W. F. Burditt, R. T. Hayes, A. M. Belding, T. H. Estabrooks and S. H. Hawker. Members of the delegation gave valuable information on the subject, dealing with the proper siting, the amount of space each room should occupy, the sanitary conditions necessary and general knowledge on the house planning problem. It was decided to hold a meeting some time next week to discuss the matter more fully.

December 10 is the anniversary of the destruction of the Montreal cathedral by fire in 1856.

Nerves Were So Bad THOUGHT SHE WOULD GO OUT OF HER MIND.

Diseases of the nervous system are very common. All the organs of the body may be sound while the nerve centres may be affected.

Many women become run down and worn out by household cares and duties never ending, and sooner or later find themselves with the nerves shattered, and the heart action weakened.

On the first sign of any weakness of either the heart or nerves, flagging energy, or physical breakdown, do not wait until your case becomes hopeless.

Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills will at once quieten the nerves, strengthen the heart and build up the entire system.

Mrs. Archie Goodine, Tilley, N.B., writes: "When I was troubled with my heart two years ago, I was very bad. My nerves were so unstrung that sometimes I would almost go out of my mind. I doctored myself with everything I could get, until at last I got four boxes of Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills, and they have cured me. I cannot speak too highly of this wonderful remedy, and will recommend it to all sufferers."

Price, 50 cents per box, or 3 boxes for $1.30, at all dealers, or mailed direct on receipt of price by The T. Millburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

UNION DEPOT CROWDED BY FOREIGNERS

If there was ever a time that a police officer in the city was overtaxed in the discharge of his duties it was most assuredly last evening, and if I. C. B. Police Officer Scovell Smith did not have his hands full in handling the mob that thronged the station from 6 o'clock last evening until midnight, then he would like to have someone explain to him what the word "busy" means.

With a mixture of Norwegians, Russians, Finns, Hungarians and representatives almost of every known nationality—numbering altogether over five hundred men, the Union Depot constantly presented a busy scene, and the occasion afforded an interesting few minutes for many a curious visitor during the evening.

The foreigners arrived at the depot in the vicinity of six o'clock by special train, carrying over five hundred settlers from Western Canada, on their way to spend the festive season of Christmas with families, relatives and friends in their native countries.

The foreigners are to connect with the steamer Turlan leaving port at 8:30 o'clock this morning, and either were not provided for by the railway, or were ignorant as to how they should secure provision for the night. At any rate, they, with a comparatively few exceptions, loitered about the station during the night, and Officer Smith, upon whom was placed the responsibility of removing them, was kept "on the job" continually.

Perhaps to the officer in charge the most regrettable fact was that in designing the Union Depot the architect had not been contented with one exit or entrance to the station. No sooner had he elected two or three, some-times rather forcibly, than he would find them popping in at another entrance.

Some few secured accommodation for the night in nearby boarding houses, but the majority bundled their baggage in a heap on the floor of the station lobby and decided right off that that would be their resting place whether the authorities were willing or not.

Bent on rejoining their families before the arrival of Christmas, the happy crowd did not lose spirit, and with their baggage piled in the lobby and they themselves prevailed from entering with a police officer stationed at either door of the front entrance, they apparently were just as contented as though they were living in the best of luxury and had not squabbled noisily among themselves.

After the steady efforts of Officer Smith the crowd gradually dwindled down, until at midnight all had been cleared out of the station, save about 150 men, who lingered about the building, some flatteringly refusing to be turned out of their only shelter.

CRIB DAMAGE VERY HEAVY

Yesterday morning a number of tugs were engaged and the big Conolly crib was towed from near the Ballast wharf and grounded on the Navy Island bar, while the smaller crib was made fast to extension of No. 1 berth at Sand Point. The big crib appears to be the most damaged of the structure, and it is estimated that a portion of the bottom had been torn away.

Yesterday morning soundings of the small crib were taken by the government engineer, C. M. Steeves, and it was found that the lower seventeen feet of the structure was still in position, and that the part that floated away was the upper half. It had broken off comparatively recently. It may be found necessary to remove the ballast from the sunken section to remove it. It was stated yesterday that there were three thousand tons of ballast in each crib and that was thought sufficient enough to hold them down but the storm was heavier than was anticipated.

The damage is being placed at about $100,000.

It may be necessary to employ divers to remove the ballast from the sunken parts of the cribs. Divers will make a thorough examination of the bottom of the crib which floated away, also the sites.

Both the contractors are at present in Ottawa and are expected back in a few days.

TWO ENGLISH MAILS HERE THIS WEEK

Two English mails and an overseas mail will be landed at St. John this week, a total of 7,184 packages, or sufficient to fill between fifteen and twenty cars.

The Canadian Northern S.S. Royal George, due early on Thursday morning, will have the regular Wednesday mail, while the Allan line S.S. Victoria, due on Friday or Saturday, is bringing a very large Canadian mail as well as the overseas mail for China and Japan. The Victorias apparently is the only Canadian week-end mail boat, but Halifax will even up next week, when two English mails will be landed there, the S.S. Corsican in the middle of the week, and the Empress on Friday or Saturday.

The Royal George is bringing 47 cabin, 104 second class and 356 third class passengers, and 1,234 bags of mail and 1,194 bags and parcels of parcel post, a total of 2,528 packages of mail for Canada.

The Victorian has an even larger mail, 4,656 packages and parcels all told, of which 2,222 bags are ordinary mail and 2,434 bags and packages are parcel post. This includes the overseas mails, which will be rushed to the Pacific coast. The Victorian also is bringing 29 cabin, 126 second class and 356 third class passengers.

PROTECTION OF MIGRATORY BIRDS URGED

North American Fish Forest and Game Association Adopt Resolution—Interesting Papers at Convention.

Ottawa, Dec. 9.—The annual convention of the North American Fish and Game Association opened in the City Hall this morning with Hon. J. D. Hazen, the president of the association, in the chair. The session was limited to reading the various reports representing nearly every Canadian province as well as several American states. The conference will be resumed this afternoon. Mr. Hazen made reference to the laws protecting moose in New Brunswick, stating that at the present time there are more moose in the forests than there were twenty years ago, owing to the fact that the Canadian government has passed such acts preventing the wholesale slaughter of this animal.

The delegates adopted the following resolution: "That the executive committee be requested to communicate with the provincial governments of Canada, urging on them the importance of soliciting the good offices of the Dominion government in obtaining by negotiation or treaty between Great Britain and United States looking to the more efficient protection of migratory birds now threatened with extinction."

LOOKING OUT FOR FUTURE, THAT'S ALL

Sir Edmund Osler Characterizes Talk of Cutting another Melon as Rubbish—Need Money for Work.

Toronto, Dec. 9.—"Melon? Rubbish! It is the traditional policy of the Canadian Pacific Railway to look ahead and finance for the future—now."

Thus did Sir Edmund Osler, M.P., director of the Canadian Pacific Railway, and president of the Dominion Bank, characterize the charge that in creating an investment of $41,000,000 by discounting the deferred payments on western land sales, the Canadian Pacific Railway was indulging in "financial prudence" or "cutting another melon." And thus did he explain the object of the directors in creating the "special investment fund."

We are simply putting aside the deferred payments upon Canadian Pacific Railway lands already sold, together with the securities bought with money for lands already paid for, and netting the railway company some $40,000,000. This fund is to be used for railway purposes. The Canadian Pacific Railway will require money. It is double-tracking the system, building tunnels, constructing branch lines and so forth. The idea is to get the money needed for future work of this kind now.

The Saving of Money by the use of Royal Baking Powder is considerable

Royal is economical, because it possesses more leavening power and goes further. Royal saves also, because it always makes fine, light, sweet food, all digestible; never wastes good flour, butter and eggs.

More important still is the saving in health. Royal Baking Powder adds anti-dyspeptic qualities to the food.

There is no baking powder so economical in practical use, no matter how little others may cost, as the Royal
