

SEVENTH PERIOD

1867-1929

No attempt has been made to illustrate the workings of the British North America Act from the mass of case law which has gathered round it. The beginner will find an excellent survey of it up to 1918 in Lefroy and Kennedy, Short Treatise on Canadian Constitutional Law (Toronto, 1918). The subsequent leading cases must be followed in the reports. In this period documents are inserted dealing with the territorial completion of the Dominion and the organization of new provinces (Nos. CLXXIV, CLXXV, CLXXVI, CLXXVII, CLXXVIII, CLXXIX, CLXXXIX, CXC); with the office of governor-general (Nos. CLXXXI, CLXXXII, CLXXXIII, CLXXXIV); with the constitution of the senate (No. CXCIV); with the nature and constitution of the imperial conferences (Nos. CXCI and CXCIII); with the treaty-making power (Nos. CLXXXVIII, CXCII, and CCI); with Canadian representation in London and in foreign countries (Nos. CLXXXV, CLXXXVI, CXCIX, CCIII); with the development of nationhood (Nos. CXCVII, CXCVIII, CCII, CCV); with Canadian nationals and citizens (No. CC). For obvious reasons the covenant of the league of nations has been added.
