

THAT AWFUL BREATH.

Possibly You Haven't Noticed It, but Others Have.

Dr. Agnew's Powder.

Catarrh, if neglected, soon develops into the chronic form, accompanied by the most nauseating and disgusting symptoms. Dr. Agnew's Catarrhal Powder is a specific for curing Colds, Coughs, Deafness, Headache, Sore Throat, Tonsillitis, Cold in the Head, Influenza and all other diseases of the nose and throat. Mr. C. Spooner, a literary man, and editor of the Kingston News, Ontario, writes: "I was troubled with constant headache, and used almost every concoction sold under the name of 'Headache Cure' without obtaining any relief whatever. At last I heard of Dr. Agnew's Catarrhal Powder, and thought to give it a trial, although having but little faith in its curative action. I was at once relieved and after using it but a short time almost entirely free from the disorder."

Do You Suffer from Stomach Disorder? If so, your liver is probably not working properly. Dr. Agnew's Liver Pills, purely vegetable, rapidly induce healthy action and restore the entire system to normal condition. 50 doses, 50 cts. No. 37

DANGER IN THE HIGH DIVE.

Deafness a Frequent Injury to Those Not Initiated.

"Except for those who have an especial aptitude for it—and they are few—high diving is a dangerous pastime to indulge in," said a diving expert the other day. "A good diver may occasionally lose his balance, but, being generally cool headed, he can regulate it, or at any rate sufficiently so as to prevent injury to himself."

"In the majority of cases deafness is the most frequent injury inflicted by diving. The cause of this is that few find it easy to drop the head sufficiently to get it well between the arms. The result is they receive some tremendous blows on the head, and if the water is struck a bit sideways the ear gets most of the concussion, and the result will frequently be a rupture of the membrane of the tympanum. A good preventive for such an accident is to place in the ears a little medicated wool or cotton dipped in oil."

"Another injury to health caused frequently by diving arises from getting large quantities of water into the lungs. The extent of the harm done in cases of this sort depends on the condition of the water as to its cleanliness. I have often seen boys, for instance, dive into water at places where it was absolutely filthy from the evacuation of drainage into it. The danger to health, especially to those with not overstrong constitutions, can readily be seen."

"The higher the dive the longer, of course, will be the duration under water. Now, an inexperienced diver is rarely able to hold his breath under water for more than a second or two at a time, and if the dive is an unusually high one he will in nine cases out of ten give up the struggle in trying to retain his breath and invariably, too, just before his head reaches the surface. The result not infrequently is that the water that has escaped into his lungs and stomach is far more than is good for him, and to many it is positively injurious."

"The best thing I know of to bring one quickly to the surface in high diving is to have a piece of cork fastened under each armpit. Corks weighing four ounces each are sufficiently strong in buoyancy for a man of 150 pounds in weight. There are many devices by which the corks can be kept secured under the armpits. Perhaps the simplest is to sew each cork into a tight fitting canvas or cotton bag and then again sew each bag on to the bathing suit by a couple of strands, allowing the strands to run over the shoulders."

"Those with weak hearts," the expert added, "cannot be too strongly advised against high diving. The spring, the rush through space, the break and the entering and clearing of the water are altogether too exciting for weak hearts, and especially so in cold weather."

A Miser's Last Wish.

A Greek died in the small town of Caracal, having always lived on the alms of his compatriots. Before dying he made his wife swear that she would bury him in the dirt old overcoat which he wore every day. The poor woman had to ask the Greeks of Caracal to help her to provide the costs of the funeral. A good hearted Greek went to see her in her affliction and, pointing to the body, said he would give her a better coat to bury the man in. Then she told him of the dead man's last wish. The Greek, whose suspicions were awakened, told her that she should certainly not part with the body before she had well examined the coat, for there must be some particular reason for the request. The widow unpicked the lining of the overcoat and found 35,000 francs in bank notes which the miser wished to take into the grave with him.

The General's Nose.

Like Cyrano de Bergerac, General B. of the regular army was possessed of a nose which excited curiosity, if not comment, wherever he appeared. At one of the hops given at the post the dancers wore fancy dress and masks. The general's partner chanced to be a vivacious young thing who had never met him before. Nor was she any the wiser as to his identity when, following the custom at mask balls, he removed the covering from his face. His partner followed suit, and her prattle ceased for awhile. Then she remarked, reproachfully: "Oh, but it isn't fair! You haven't taken off your nose!"

The Ruling Passion.

The prospective heirs of the dying miser came silently into his sick room. The physician is seated by the side of the patient, a finger on his pulse. "How is our dear uncle today, doctor?" ask the prospective heirs. "There is small change in his condition," whispers the doctor. The dying miser rouses himself by a supreme effort. "Small change?" he gasps. "Put-it-in-my-pocket!" Judge.

On the Sabbath.

In Scotland once a drunken man met a clergyman chasing his runaway dog on Sunday. "Tammas," said the breathless clergyman, "I am sorry to see you in this condition, but whistle for my dog. He is running away." Tammas regarded the speaker with gravity and said: "Whistle? I may drink whisky, but I'll no whistle for any dog on the Lord's day."

His Souvenir.

"Bring any souvenirs back from your trip?" "One only, but it cost a lot." "What was it?" "Empty pocketbook."

Some people talk as if they thought everything that dropped from their tongue was a "souvenir."

STRUCK THE BOOT OF HIS TROUBLE

James Atwell Cured his Kidneys by using Dodd's Kidney Pills.

And his Lumbago and Urinary Troubles Vanished once and for all—He Tells His Story.

Campbellford, Ont., Oct. 5.—(Special).—That Urinary Troubles and Lumbago are the result of disordered Kidneys has been proved by James Atwell of this place. He had Lumbago and pains in the bladder, and in passing his urine would hurt him so as to almost cause tears to come to his eyes.

He cured his Kidneys by using Dodd's Kidney Pills and his pains of all kinds vanished.

Speaking of his case, Mr. Atwell says:

"I think Dodd's Kidney Pills made a permanent cure in my case, but I will never be without them in the house. I had Lumbago and Bladder Trouble for years. I tried other medicines as a bandage prescribed by the doctor, but I could get no relief till I used Dodd's Kidney Pills and they cured me."

If the disease is of the Kidneys or from the Kidneys, Dodd's Kidney Pills will cure it.

TORNADO KILLED MANY.

Village of St. Charles, Minn., Was Destroyed.

Milwaukee, Wis., Oct. 5.—A tornado swept through this State and parts of Michigan and Minnesota Saturday afternoon, and the following summary of despatches received here show with what result:—

The tornado struck St. Charles, Minn., a place with 1,500 inhabitants, and ruined the town. Seven persons were killed and twenty-eight injured. The entire main street of St. Charles was literally wiped out. Hardly a business place is left standing. Forty-two residences were destroyed.

Two were killed, three fatally injured and a score of others badly hurt at Independence, Wis., and the surrounding country. Many farm buildings were torn down. At Eagle Valley, north of La Crosse, the Reformed Church was destroyed, and houses on the prairie surrounding were demolished.

Baraboo, Wis., reports a cloud-burst lasting three hours. Many buildings and windmills were blown down.

Alcoholic Kidney Remedies Add Fuel to the Fire of Disease

DR. PETTINGILL'S Kidney - Wort Tablets. Are Saving Thousands of Lives.

A vast number of men and women suffer from a slow consumption of the kidneys, and yet do not realize the fact that they are slowly dying from Bright's disease. Many such victims who feel that their kidneys are in a disordered condition are seeking relief by using some of the liquid kidney remedies largely composed of alcohol. Such treatment adds fuel to the fire of the disease. Dr. Pettingill's Kidney-Wort Tablets is now the recognized specific for all forms of kidney diseases, urinary and bladder troubles. They are strictly pure in composition, and are now prescribed by our ablest physicians. Kidney-Wort Tablets are curing thousands who failed to find relief in the ordinary remedies of the day. Ask your Druggist for them; he will guarantee them. Price 50 cents per bottle or six bottles for $2.50.

Some women can tell a queer story without appearing to mean any more than they say.

Beauty is born in the blood. Beauty is more than "skin deep," it is blood deep. When the blood is tainted by disease the flesh will feel it and the skin will show it. Sallow or muddy complexion, pimples, blotches, and eruptions are only the surface signs of impure blood. Face washes, lotions, complexion powders, may palliate the evils, but they cannot cure the disease. The only cure is to cleanse the blood of the poisonous matter which is the cause of the outbreak in the flesh and skin. Impure blood can be absolutely purified by the use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. Its effect on flesh and skin is marked. Sores heal and disappear. The skin becomes smooth, and regains its natural color. The eyes brighten and sparkle, the whole body is radiant with the brightness and beauty of health. "Golden Medical Discovery" contains no alcohol, whiskey or other intoxicant, and is absolutely free from opium, cocaine and other narcotics. The use of Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets, assists the action of the "Discovery," by cleansing the system of clogging matter.

The character in power is true in a much higher sense than that knowledge in power.

LOSS OF APPETITE.

Is commonly gradual; one dish after another is set aside till few remain. These are not eaten with much relish and are often so light as not to afford much nourishment.

Loss of appetite is one of the first indications that the system is running down, and there is nothing else so good for it as Dodd's Kidney Pills, the best of all tonics. Accept no substitute for Dodd's.

SHOPLIFTING IN LONDON.

New Kleptomaniacs Are Watched—Avoiding Police Courts.

Though there is every appearance in all the great London shops that the public is to be trusted implicitly an elaborate and carefully organized system of espionage prevails to circumvent the designs of the peripatetic thief and the marauding kleptomaniac.

The invisible detective, whose office is some unsuspected gallery in the ceiling, whence from artfully designed peep holes in the molding he can survey the whole establishment, is the most successful foil to the shoplifter. But there are only a few shops so structurally designed that surveillance of this kind is possible. Some of the jewellers' treasure palaces are guarded in this manner, and, to make assurance doubly sure, no attendant is without his satellite, who keeps a wary eye on the cases of gems exposed to the customers' inspection, standing at the salesman's elbow while he is showing them.

At all periods a careful watch is kept on those dress establishments that are pervaded by women, but more especially at sale time, for it is then that covetousness overwhelms morality most easily, and the crowded state of the shops favors the pick-up of unconsidered trifles. A manager of one of the largest establishments in the metropolis says it is in those departments that are not spacious that pilfering principally goes on, and that in them detective supervision is always most acute.

Every shopwalker and counter attendant is in effect a detective, but there are some professionals who assume the guise to hide their real position. It is the duty of each attendant when he is suspicious of a customer to call the attention of the detective to her, not blatantly, but by prearranged sign. The detective then keeps the suspect under her immediate eye. In the large emporiums where women chiefly congregate the most efficient, because least conspicuous, detectives are women, either employed as shopwalkers or as customers.

When an attendant misses or thinks he misses something, or notices disturbing signs of thievery, he speaks to the detective, who, as an elegantly garbed customer, seats herself in a position commanding a good view of the suspect and makes her purchases like any other woman, all the while gathering data upon which to proceed. The disguise assumed by the shop detective differs day by day.

If there be one result less desired by the shop proprietor than another it is to convict a kleptomaniac. Prosecutions do not forward business. The proprietor's policy is to prevent pilfering by every conceivable means. Hence a blind eye is turned to what is a theft in embryo, and the wretched shoplifter caught in the act of purloining a blouse under cover of her waterproof is asked whether the article may not be sent home for her. To the bulging umbrella or the gaping handbag the detective alludes with an apology, fearing that madam has incommenced herself with something that fell from the counter. First offenders are often cured by narrow escapes such as this from falling into the abyss that leads to the dock, and gladly pay for the experience in coin of the realm as if they had all the while meant to purchase instead of to purloin the goods. Should leniency of such a kind fail to lead the trespasser back to the paths of rectitude, the manager's office is made the scene of more serious negotiations, on which it is well to draw the veil. But as a rule it does not.

Considering the immense population of London and the ease with which beautiful objects can apparently be taken in the great shops, the detectives and their talents called but seldom into play, probably because their system of surveillance is so capably organized and carried out.—London Mail.
