A Satisfactory Deal

Thousands of Guide subscribers have bought, sold or exchanged through the Farmers' Market Place of The Guide—giving and receiving satisfaction.

Within the last two years less than a dozen complaints have been received at The Guide office in regard to Guide classified advertisements. On investigation most of these complaints were found to have arisen owing to some misunderstanding or owing to causes over which the advertiser had no control.

A very few advertisers—less than could be counted on the fingers of one hand—failed to give entire satisfaction to Guide readers who did business with them. They will not advertise in The Guide again.

Guide advertisers have the true co-operative spirit. They are anxious to give satisfaction. Guide subscribers know this, and believe in Guide advertisements—that is why advertisers in The Guide get such good results. Here is a typical letter of scores which reach The Guide:—

Gentlemen—I had an ad. running with you this summer about land trade. Through this ad. I exchanged my orchard for a farm. It was a satisfactory deal.

THOS. B. YOUNG, West Summerland, B.C.

September 25, 1917.

Satisfaction is the key-note of Guide classified advertisements.
