"Every Inch a King!"

These words of Shakespeare at King Edward apply. He lived a King and he died a King, as the leader who knew and can, as Carlyle put it.

His sentiment in life was strong in death. As a leader he knew what to do, how to do it well, and he did it. He lived up to his standard, and in death his standard was still excellent.

His ideal was service; courageous, faithful and meritorious.

COURAGEOUS.—Face to face with death he was courageous and preserved the even tenor of his kingly ways. As he died so he had lived. In life he instituted the Edward Medal as a kingly reward for heroism performed while men and women were pursuing the common rounds and the trivial tasks of the work-a-day world.

FAITHFUL.—He instituted the Imperial Service Order for civil servants who had performed long and faithful or meritorious service to the Empire in any part of the world.

MERITORIOUS.—He instituted the Order of Merit. In this high and distinguished order neither birth nor wealth tells. Merit alone is monarch. In the list you find Kitchener, the soldier, Fisher, the sailor, Morley the author, Rayleigh the scientist, Lister the surgeon, Alma-Tadema the painter, and Nightingale the nurse.

Facing life, King Edward encouraged courageous, faithful, meritorious work.

Facing death, he said: "I shall not give in. I shall go on. I shall work to the end."

And at the very last he said: "Well, it is all over; but I think I have done my duty."

BIG SNOW STORM.—Capt. Keen, of the Prospero, reports that a big snow storm raged at Griquet last week. It began Tuesday night and continued until Thursday. Over four feet of snow fell on the levels, and the hills were covered with it.

Shannahan on the Poor Settler.

Tucker in the Chair; or Rather on the Chair.

TIM SHANNAHAN.

Mrs. Tucker arose, that is to say, she stood up, took a mouthful of water from the jug, and began. "Mr. Chairman, the matter, or rather the subject matter, before the chair is, I understand, that well worn and played-out 'soaker for votes,' the down-trodden fisherman. We have read with tear bedimmed eyes and watery noses of the great hardships endured by the fishermen of this country, and we know that many are the troubles they have to endure; but at the same time I am of the opinion that they are greatly overdrawn. We can take a look at the workman of this town and if you compare his conditions with those of his fellow man in the out-harbor, you will come to the conclusion that the man in town's got no snap (hear, hear, Mrs. Tucker sneezes and swallows a quart of water). Yes, as I was saying before, I knocked off, this played-out cry of the hardships of the out-harbor man is baked, bottled and stewed by politicians when seeking election. They point to the St. John's man as the one having the cinch; but let us look into the matter and what do we find? We find, gentlemen, the everyday workman in the city hardly able to scrape up enough to keep him out of debt." (A voice bawls out, "What about the men who build houses and rear big families out of a day's pay?") Mrs. Tucker continued: "What about them? Yes, sir, I ask what about them? Go up on the higher levels, where most of these houses are built, and what will you find? Mortgages hold sway, and any of them that are paid off, the man who built them is dead, good and dead—blown by draughts to a better world." (Mrs. Tucker calls out for half an apple she left unfinished last Xmas). Gnawing she proceeds: "The out-harbor man has everything he uses—hooks, lines, twines, flour, molasses, kero oil—duty free. His house is his own and he has no Municipal taxes to pay, while the St. John's man is taxed on coal and house rent, and every twist and turn he makes means money. (Have it out of you.) You can't get a lend of a match in the neighborhood and no one does a turn for nothing. This bawling and shouting of knocking down the out-harbor man is doing a lot of harm. Talking about the picnic to be found in St. John's often induces people to give up their homes in the out-harbors to come here, and when they do come here, what do they find? (A voice in the rear, "That they struck an iceberg.") Yes, gentlemen, that's the word, an iceberg; a jading, draggy living, a hand to mouth existence in trying to be grand—trying to keep up with some half fool that lives on the opposite side of the street. Oh, how I sigh for the day of the boiling rounders, the shiny caplin and the good old sanded floor. I can smell again the coming of the northeaster and watch the billows dash, as they often dashed before, up against the stage head. I can see again—" "Shut your trotter," bawled the woman next door, and the meeting adjourned.

TIM SHANNAHAN.

To the Municipal Electors of St. John's

Fellow Citizens.—As the period for which the present Municipal Council Board was elected expires shortly and you will be asked to make a selection for a new term, I take occasion to announce that I have decided to appeal to you for a renewal of that honour so kindly conferred on me four years ago.

During the time I have served as a Councillor for my native city I have endeavoured, from first to last, to conform to the wishes of the people in so far as this was possible to do, and I earnestly hope that my record all through has been such as to merit and obtain this renewal I now seek.

If so I shall continue as in the past to devote my attention towards the furtherance of the civic welfare of each and every citizen and to bring about all necessary improvements that are at all possible to accomplish.

A close and constant application to the study of our civic problems is one of the chief essentials to make for that progress we all desire, therefore it shall be my earnest aim to keep pursuing such a course until our Municipal needs in all respects are dealt with most effectively.

Whilst having a seat at the Council Board I have always recognized it as my duty to attend to the requirements of the people over all sections of the city and to in every way advance the respective claims of each particular portion. This policy shall be continued by me as actively as ever, for I recognize that the claims of each and every citizen and each and every locality should receive the fullest consideration and that all be given the most ample share of whatever benefits are awarded.

I shall at all times be only too happy to personally meet any of my civic constituents who may wish to point out or discuss with me any matters they are interested in and to pay alike the closest attention whether coming from the highest or the humblest of the people, for I believe that it is mainly by such intimate association with my fellow citizens that the best satisfaction can result.

In this appeal I respectfully solicit the valued influence and support of all willing to endorse my candidature and to express my very high appreciation of such help not alone to the kind friends who volunteered me this before but to the many new friends who have been good enough to express their approval of my record as a Councillor.

Before concluding I wish to add that I seek a renewal of this honor as much by reason of the request of representative civic residents all over the city, who have tendered me most encouraging promises of support, as well as from a desire on my own part to enter the contest because I realize that the experience gained during the past four years would aid me greatly in my endeavour to help carry out the best ideal suggestions for the improvement of our city.

With a further expression of thanks to all my friends and fellow citizens who have very generously tendered me that help which I esteem so highly, and trusting to again have the honor to meet with success, I remain,

Your most obedient servant,
JAMES T. MARTIN.

We observe by the Morning News of April 28th an extract from the London Times, which reads as follows:—

"Seeds for Newfoundland.—Messrs. James Carter & Co's have just received a telegraphed order from the Minister of Agriculture and Mines at St. John's, Newfoundland, for 15,000 packets of seed of one of their 'pedigree English Swedes, for distribution among farmers in that colony."

Farmers and others can purchase in the ordinary way one ounce of Carter's pedigree English Swede seed for two cents. Are there any people in Newfoundland so poor, and so wanting in independence, that they would accept these seeds from the Government free, when they can buy them so cheaply?—The People.

The S. S. Prospero, Capt. Abraham Keen, arrived here off her first trip to the Northward this season, at 4.30 p.m. yesterday. She met no ice and had very fine weather the whole trip. She brought about a half cargo, including a number of seal pelts and these passengers:—

Cures Children's Crampy Colic.

At this season of cold searching winds and changeable weather, children will catch cold, will contract cramps, bronchitis and sore throat. The experienced mother knows of nothing half so good as a rubbing of chest and neck with Nerviline—rub it in well, lots of rubbing won't hurt. The influence of Nerviline is simply wonderful—swollen, inflamed tissues are soothed and healed, coughing is promptly allayed, hard strong phlegm is loosened and every trace of cough and cold disappears. Nerviline is so safe to use, so powerful, so penetrating—makes such a good all-round household remedy for colds, neuralgia, lumbago, soreness and stiffness—how can you afford to be without a large 50c. bottle? Get Nerviline to-day; it's mighty useful in the home and keeps the doctor's bill small.
