THE DIFFERENCE.

In consequence of the great success of Molassine Meal, other foods containing molasses have been put on the market. Sellers are frequently asked—

What is the difference between MOLASSINE MEAL and

The answer is, that many other sugar foods are simple imitations of MOLASSINE MEAL and do not contain any antiseptic, digestive, health-giving, worm-destroying properties.

Further, to give some of these molassed foods in quantities to cattle is dangerous, as they contain unneutralised potash salts, which have an injurious effect on the animal organism, frequently causing purgation and death.

We all love the Spring. It's the season of promise—months of beautiful weather ahead. It also means the replenishing of the wardrobe. Before buying the new costume, suit or other Spring apparel, make a few enquiries about what process of Dry Cleansing and Dyeing can do for you.
