

Epoch Making Event.

ANNIVERSARY OF ALOOCK AND BROWN'S ATLANTIC FLIGHT.

Three years ago to-day, June 15, epoch-making event of crossing the Atlantic in a heavier-than-air machine, was accomplished. Not only was it a feat, but it was a triumph for the men who made the daring trip from Newfoundland to Ireland. Capt. Arthur W. Brown and Lieut. Arthur W. Brown, in a Vickers-Vimy bomber, made the landing near Clifftown, Ireland, at 8.40 a.m. on the 15th, after a flight of 16 hours and 12 minutes. The following is a brief description of the event given after the flight:

NON-STOP FLIGHT OVER ATLANTIC.

The final goal of all the ambitious flying men have ventured to since the Wright Brothers first flew from the earth in a heavier-than-air machine, was realized Sunday morning, June 15, when the young British officers, Capt. Arthur W. Brown and Lieut. Arthur W. Brown, made the first non-stop flight across the Atlantic from Newfoundland to Ireland. Their voyage was without accident and without unforeseen delay, so far as can be learned. It was a straightaway, clean-cut flight, covered in sixteen hours and twelve minutes, from Newfoundland to Clifftown, Ireland, a distance of more than 3,000 miles. But the brief and modest description which comes from the men at Clifftown tells of an adventure and an amazingly hazardous enterprise. Fog and mist hung over the North Atlantic and the Vickers-Vimy biplane climbed and dove, struggling to extricate herself from the worst of the airplane's worst enemies, fog and mist, to a height of 11,000 feet, swooped down to the surface of the sea, and at times the two navigators found themselves flying upside down, only a few feet above the water. Before reaching the earth, near the Clifftown station, Lieut. Brown, who was in the cockpit, reported that the engine was running, seeking the best place to reach the earth. But no suitable ground was found, so he changed his mind. The wireless staff rushed to the aid of the aviators. They had Brown dazed and Alock temporarily deafened by the force of the wind. As soon as they were able to be escorted to the wireless station and telegraphed the news to their friends, then they had breakfast.

Late Miss Frances Bonia.

There was laid to rest on Monday at Placentia, one whose death was a void that will take a long time to fill. Miss Frances Bonia, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Bonia, of that town. The deceased lady, after the death of her mother, which occurred many years ago, had made a name for herself in the place that was practically her home. She lived to enjoy her reward, by seeing her children achieve success in positions of trust and responsibility. She was the best known member of her community, and her outstanding characteristic was the saintliness of her life. She was a "good woman" in all the terms implied—a good mother, a good daughter, and an excellent neighbor wherever there was a word of charity and kindly ministrance. When the good women of Placentia united with their men-folk to form the beautiful church that now stands in their town, Miss Bonia was among the most enthusiastic and when the church was completed she spent many days and much of her life in beautifying the altars of the temple. It was her happiness to devote many years to the consolation for her bereaved friends and all her spare time she presided over the tabernacle and her fervor and piety were a source of education to her friends and neighbors. She was survived by several brothers, some of whom may be noted every day in the streets of Placentia. Mr. Patrick Bonia, one of Placentia's leading business men, a brother of her father, Mr. Maurice Bonia, a Priest of the Redemption, who was noted for his piety, his potency as a preacher, his remarkable success as a confessor, and in the city of Newark, New Jersey, where he died some years ago, universally mourned both here and in the city of Newark, New Jersey, the scene of his labors. He was a store on Duckworth Street, owned by the late Wm. Bonia, and was taken over by Mr. O'Rourke, and opened for business with a full line of groceries and provisions. Mr. O'Rourke has a long experience with grocery trade, having been for a number of years in the employ of Messrs. James Baird Ltd., and the assistance of Mr. M. P. O'Rourke, who goes second in command.

New Grocery Store.

There has been a little stir in town of late, occasioned by the different Labrador crews making preparations for the fishery, although the matter of supplies is not an easy matter this year and, no doubt, many who came under the heading of fishermen last summer when the Government Guarantee was in vogue, will this year have to be content with a back seat so far as getting supplies is concerned.

Harbor Grace Notes.

There has been a little stir in town of late, occasioned by the different Labrador crews making preparations for the fishery, although the matter of supplies is not an easy matter this year and, no doubt, many who came under the heading of fishermen last summer when the Government Guarantee was in vogue, will this year have to be content with a back seat so far as getting supplies is concerned.

Mr. W. A. Munn of St. John's was in town to-day.

Mr. E. Simmons spent last week in the city and returned by Saturday night's train.

Mr. Thos. Thistle spent last week at Wabana and came to town again on Saturday.

Miss Elsie Murphy arrived from St. John's by motor car yesterday, (Sunday) morning, and spent the day here, returning to the city in the evening.

Mr. Ernest Bartlett of St. John's was in town yesterday.

Through a telegram received in town on Friday last, we learn that the stork had arrived at the home of Rev. Ernest and Mrs. Davis of Chilling, Bay of Islands, and left a son—Congratulations.

Lots of fresh salmon have been in evidence within the last few weeks and meet with ready purchasers, the price sold for in the stores being 12 cents per pound.

Mr. C. A. Jerrett's son, Clarence B., Capt. Gushue, which had been here for dockage, left port on Friday afternoon for Brigue.

The Yacht Pawnee was docked Friday morning, and came off again in the afternoon. She made her first trip of the service last inaugurated, at 7 a.m. Saturday.

Recently the tower for the Fire Bell at the head of the public wharf has been rebuilt. Mr. Robert Tetford had the contract for doing the job; the material used was of good class and the work is substantially done. The size of the structure is about that of the old one, built about 1870.

The flies during the short spurt of hot weather last week, seemed to come out in abundance. Friday, on hearing a party who had just driven out of the country remark that "a swarm had struck him on the way down and actually held his horse up" (?!), made us really think that the flies were "going some" in that direction, and, as the wind took such a sudden change that afternoon we wonder what course did this particular swarm in question pursue, and what other traffic they came in contact with?

Wedding Bells.

ARMSTRONG-RYAN.

A very pretty wedding was solemnized yesterday afternoon at St. Patrick's Church, by the Rev. Dr. Kitchin. The contracting parties were Mr. F. J. Armstrong, of the Commercial Cable Co.'s staff and son of Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Armstrong, of Circular Road, and Miss Rita Ryan, daughter of Mrs. and the late James Ryan, of Hamilton Street. The groom was ably supported by his cousin, Mr. Gerald Carey, whilst the bride was attended by her sister Miss Monica Ryan, with the Misses Jackman, little daughters of W. H. Jackman, Esq., acting as flower girls. The bride entered the church leaning on the arm of her uncle, Mr. D. J. Jackman, of Bell Island, whilst the wedding march was played by Miss Agnes Armstrong, sister of the groom. The bride was very neatly attired in a costume of grey with hat to match. Immediately after the ceremony the party proceeded to Bowring Park and from thence to the home of the bride's mother where a wedding supper was prepared for the guests who numbered one hundred. W. H. Jackman, Esq., was toast master. The health of the bride and groom was proposed by Mr. D. J. Jackman and responded to by Mr. T. F. Armstrong. At 5 o'clock Mr. and Mrs. Armstrong motored to Bay Bulls where the honeymoon will be spent. Many congratulatory messages were received from friends abroad, testifying to the popularity of the happy young couple. That their voyage on the matrimonial sea may be a pleasant one is the sincere wish of the writer.—B.

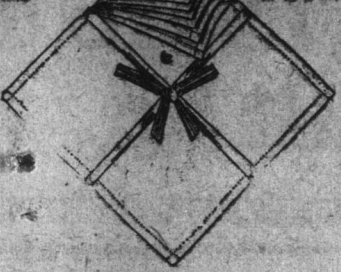

Personal.

Mr. C. E. Russell, J.P., of Bay Roberts, left by Tuesday's express en route to Kingston, Ont. The annual convention of the Sovereign Grand Lodge of British North America, will be held in Kingston the week beginning June 19th, and Mr. Russell goes there as a delegate from the Provincial Grand Lodge of Newfoundland. During his absence he will also visit Montreal, Toronto and Boston.
