Forty-Six Years in the Service of the Public—The Evening Telegram

Prospero Will Make Another Trip

The Prospero, which sails for the Cook's Harbor service on Saturday, will be making her last trip for the season, and on return she will lay up to have some repairs made to her boilers. The steamer Kyle, which has been assisting the Prospero on the route, left Lewisporte at 10 o'clock this morning on the return run, and should reach port Sunday night or early Monday morning. The Railway management intends to keep the Kyle on the northern service until navigation closes.

Bumper Audience Delighted With Mystery Comedy

The opening performance of the mystery comedy, "Anne What's Her Name," was presented to a crowded hall at St. Patrick's Parish Hall last night, when the St. Patrick's Theatre troupe very ably accomplished their endeavor to give the audience a hearty laugh and an enjoyable evening. "Anne What's Her Name," is a play that is full of laughter from beginning to end. Every succeeding situation is comical to the extreme. The story deals with Anthony Wheat, who is wanted for the death of a girl and, being chased by the police, he makes his way into the house where they are awaiting the arrival of Ebenezer Whittle. The former learns of this and, getting away with it for a long time, still the arrival of the true Ebenezer; then, however, the former claims to be his uncle. Between the acts specialties were rendered by Misses Ida Howlett, Mary Jackson and Mr. R. P. Redmond, which greatly augmented the evening's entertainment. The C.L.B. Band played splendidly during the evening. The performance, which is under the direction of Capt. O'Grady, was a decided success and will be repeated to-morrow evening.

Big Attraction at the Majestic

"Hearts of Oak," which opened last night at the Majestic Theatre, is a gripping story of hearts and the sea which has gained rather than lost strength in its transcription, to the silver sheet. With an excellent cast headed by Hobart Bosworth, the photoplay grips you from the start, just as did the play, and it holds you until the very last flicker of the camera. There is a heart throb, a smile or a tear in every inch of it. Bosworth, who is well known for his portrayals of sea-faring men, plays the character of Terry Dunne—and his strong dramatic qualifications are tested to the limit only to add more glory to his estimable reputation. Pauline Starke as Crystal Herne and Theodore Von Eltz as Ned Fairweather commit themselves admirably in difficult roles. The artists Hope and Menton scored a second success by reason of the excellence of their musical, and the many who heard them congratulated the management upon the splendid bill and talented artists. To-night the same programme will be repeated. Much interest is now centered in the Pony Contest. The large number of school children who have already seen the Shetland Pony are enthusiastic campaigners for votes. Who will win? The Pathe serial ten installments will commence at the Majestic Theatre with the usual first-class programme to-morrow night. The title "Ten Scars Make a Man" is a thrilling story, every chapter of which creates much interest and is very exciting to the finish.

Another Great Film Has Arrived

"KISS ME AGAIN" TO BE SHOWN AT THE NICKEL.
The sad truth that "when you get what you want, you don't want it any more" is the basic theme of "Kiss Me Again," the newest Warner Bros. production that will be featured at the Nickel Theatre beginning Monday. "Kiss Me Again" is the latest vehicle for the directorial genius of the great Ernest Lubitsch, who has contributed more to the progress of screen development than any other director in the industry. Since his arrival in America, about two years ago, he has introduced an entirely new technique in screen production with "The Marriage Circle," his first picture for Warner Bros. He followed this by "Three Women" and now his third effort, "Kiss Me Again" is ready for the public. Marie Prevost, Monte Blue, Clara Bow, John Roche and Willard Louis are the players chosen by Mr. Lubitsch to enact "Kiss Me Again" on the screen. These five favorites constitute the entire cast, which means that the action will be concentrated and well done; if the past performances of Mr. Lubitsch and each of these actors are the criterion.

PEPPYS BEHIND THE SCENES

Dec. 9th.—Up and to seek for news of the City Election in my morning sheet, and do find that the fight for 6th place lies between Mrs. Earle and Mr. Ryan. But when the last count comes, Ryan wins by a small margin. The others chosen are Messrs. Fitzgibbon, Tait, Martin, Brophy, and Outerbridge. The indeed a pity that no woman was elected albeit Mrs. Earle did indeed make a pretty fight of it for which she deserves congratulations. Talking with diver merchants this day and learn from them how the retail trade in the city is not so good as in former years, for which they give a variety of reasons, and one of these the fine weather which do cause people to hesitate about buying winter clothes. This night to the Nickel Theatre, where greatly amused at Syd Chaplin playing in "The Man on the Box," and is mechanics a greater comedian than is his famous brother. But Lord, how annoying are those people that do read aloud the titles and mentions they should be all taken together and drowned in the waters of the harbour.

Expects Airdale to Refloat To-Night

Messrs. Harvey & Co. received word this morning stating that a large quantity of flour had been jettisoned from the S.S. Airdale and that it was expected the ship would refloat to-night. The Airdale which went ashore near Quebec, has about 8,000 barrels of flour for St. John's and a large quantity of cement destined for a South American port. Some of the flour has been saved by lighters. The ship will be towed into Quebec and after repairs are made she will proceed here.

Personal

Mrs. S. Jackson, who is one of the passengers on the Newfoundland, en route to England has paid her second visit to the city. On her last trip she was a passenger on S.S. Digby when that ship assisted in the towing of the Okonia by the S. S. Winfred. Hon. W. J. and Mrs. Higgins, returned from abroad by the express which reached the city at 3 p.m. Miss Sophie Coultas, formerly of Geo. Knowling, Ltd., left by Tuesday's express for Montreal on a visit to her brother.

Cars Must Park in Square

Motor cars owners who intend participating in the demonstration in honor of the return of His Grace are requested to assemble in the square at Fort Townsend previous to the start of the parade. Permission to park in the square has been obtained and it is important that all cars assemble there and not in the street opposite the Fire Hall.

Notes for Women!

I have just received a new shipment of Lantic Brown Sugar. It is packed in drums which conserves its superior qualities. You will find it best for making Christmas cakes and for all cooking purposes. Before you buy brown sugar you will find it worth while to see Lantic Brown. In my opinion it is the best obtainable, but if you don't agree with me you are under no obligation to buy. A cupful of Lantic Brown melted in a cup of boiling water makes a splendid syrup for pancakes or puddings; 8 pounds of Lantic Brown (which costs only 56 cents), when dissolved in 6 cupfuls of boiling water, is equal in strength but better in quality than a gallon of molasses. Try Lantic Brown instead of white sugar in your coffee. Don't fail to use Lantic icing on your Christmas Cakes. I sell it in one pound sealed packages. 'Twill improve them wonderfully.

NICKEL WILL RAISE PRICE OF PRODUCT.

There is still a heavy demand for International Nickel shares around 46, or within four points of double the par value of the shares. Two or three brokerage houses have circularized their clients recommending that they purchase the stock. It is understood that there have been quite a number of tips from New York to buy the shares. This is generally regarded as a danger sign. It is understood, however, that there has been a distinct improvement in the sales of nickel and nickel alloys, and a new bullish factor has been the announcement of the International Co. that it intends to increase the price of nickel for 1926 delivery. It is being estimated that earnings to date are on a basis of $5,000,000 yearly, while high prices for products will materially add to this.

Hearing of False Pretences Case

The charge of obtaining money under false pretences from the Highroads Commission preferred against Messrs. Snow and Griffin was continued in the Magistrate's Court yesterday afternoon when Griffin, one of the defendants, was recalled to the witness stand and examined by his counsel, Mr. J. A. Barron. The witness was also examined by Mr. W. R. Warren, counsel for Snow. Mr. Cramm, counsel for the Crown, then began a cross-examination of the witness which did not conclude up to time of adjournment at 6 p.m. The witness asked how his name came to be on the time sheet for a sum of $15.00, stated that $8.25 of the amount represented wages for work done, and the balance was for hire of tools which were used on the work. He made no complaint as to receiving the extra money for the hire of the tools. The value of the tools loaned could not be calculated by the witness as he has them for a long time. When Snow gave him the seven cheques, with instructions to pay the men who had not received their cheques, he left no instructions as to how this should be done. There was only one cheque made out to John Murphy, and he did not see anything wrong with paying two men of the same name out of the same cheque when it was made out for a sufficient amount to do so. There had been some names on the pay roll that were wrong, but the men for whom they were meant were paid the cheques. The money he had remaining after paying all the men was left in the chiffoinier, and remained there until he brought it in to Mr. Hall. He did not send it along before because he considered it was Mr. Snow's business and he did not like to do it. The money was brought in when the work was all finished on the roads, because witness knew it was the property of the Highroads Commission and Mr. Snow did not come after it. The hearing resumes this afternoon.
