

ST. JOSEPH'S SCHOOL GRADUATION PROVES BRILLIANT FUNCTION

24 Nurses Receive Diplomas
—Largest Class Hospital
Has Yet Had.

DR. TILLMANN PRESIDES

Vicar-General O'Connor Presents Parchments—Dr. W.
J. Stevenson Speaks.

One of the most brilliant functions of the year in this city was the presentation of medals and diplomas to 24 senior members of St. Joseph's Hospital School and graduation exercises conducted in St. Peter's Parish Hall Wednesday evening. Hundreds of relatives and friends of the graduates filled the hall to capacity, and long before the program commenced gallery and main floor space was at a premium. Scores of disappointed guests being turned away. Promptly following the overture the curtain rose, disclosing the 24 young nurses, gowned in white uniform and caps, each seated on the stage and holding a bouquet of red roses. The class was accorded a tremendous ovation by those present. Exclamations of approval were heard from all parts of the hall at the pretty scene, the setting being increased in beauty by the neat arrangement of the class upon the platform.

Dr. Tillmann presides. Dr. W. J. Tillmann, acting as chairman at the exercises, in his opening address declared that the work of the class was appreciated by their former patients in a tangible form, by the many floral offerings, which practically covered the front and sides of the stage, making a huge floral bower. In the centre of which were seated the graduates. He paid a tribute to them, mentioning the meagre remuneration and long hours of the nurse-in-training.

"It is very satisfactory to know that your work has been appreciated," he said. "This is the largest and best class that ever left St. Joseph's Hospital." He concluded by outlining to the graduates their future duties to patient and hospital in order to make a success of their chosen profession, and congratulated them upon their achievement.

The valedictory address was delivered in a creditable manner by Miss Olivia Fehrenbach, who paid a tribute to the sisters of St. Joseph's Hospital Training School, members of the medical profession, and friends of the nurses for advice, and valued assistance rendered during the period of training. She concluded by paying an impressive tribute to the memory of the late Dr. H. A. McCallum, who one year ago addressed the 1920 graduating class of St. Joseph's Hospital.

Dr. Stevenson spoke. "A worthy friend and adviser," she said, concerning the late Dr. McCallum, "whose death has left a deep void." Dr. W. J. Stevenson then addressed the graduates and advised them of pitfalls and triumphs to be encountered in adhering to the ethics and principles of the profession.

Vicar-General O'Connor presented diplomas to each graduate, as the class filed from the stage to the main floor. Each in turn was the recipient of rounds of applause from the spectators. Monsignor P. J. McKeon presented medals to each graduate, while a diploma was presented, on behalf of Dr. W. J. Stevenson, by little Mary Tillmann.

Speaking to the audience present, Vicar-General O'Connor said: "It is a magnificent thing that you wish to associate with them in their joys, and wish them every success and Godspeed in their profession. This vast gathering is a token to the good sisters of St. Joseph, in charge of St. Joseph's Hospital Training School that you appreciate the work they are doing for the sick."

To the class of graduates he said: "As an interpreter, I convey to you the congratulations of this magnificent gathering. We wish you all success." He mentioned their duties to the surgeon and physician, and enjoined them to professional secrecy at all times. "You are bound professionally to silence," he cautioned. "All professional secrecy is modeled after the great standard of secrecy, the Catholic Confessional."

Sympathy, eagerness to help and bring health, he declared to be the high ideals of the nursing profession. "Here man may excel in some qualities. Use these in the practice of your profession."

Special Orchestra Plays.

During the evening a special orchestra provided the music, while a solo by Miss Helen Farrell, and a reading by Miss Mary Devlin were received with appreciation. A chorus of eight school nurses rendered a selection in approved style, the following taking part: Misses Dorrington, Lawson, Mullins, Devlin, Farrell, Woods, Caruthers and Storey.

At the conclusion of the graduation exercises the newly-created, full-fledged nurses received their many friends and relatives in the St. Peter's Parish Hall parlors, where they were showered with greetings and congratulations. A dance also constituted a feature of the evening program, when the graduates acted as hostesses to their many friends.

Class Banquet Tonight.

On Thursday evening members of the 1921 class will be guests of the St. Joseph's School Alumnae Association in the De Luxe Cafe. Following are the names of the graduates who received diplomas and medals Wednesday evening: Miss Rose Hanlon, Miss Marguerita Henry, Miss Kathleen Dunn, Miss Lenore Kinsella, Miss Rosa Burley, Miss Hope Nicholson, Miss Elva Stewart, Miss Beatrice Smith, Miss Agatha Gerard, Miss Mabel McLeod, Miss Olivia Fehrenbach, Miss Nettie Munnoch, Miss Kathleen Burke, Miss Anna Neville, Miss Lola Frances, Miss Agnes McGregor, Miss Marie Hennessey, Miss Pearl McCallum, Miss Nettie Rosser, Miss Ruby Crosby, Miss Agnes Hefernan, Miss Agnes Costello, and Miss Monica Etherington.

LAY ASSOCIATION OPENS ITS SESSIONS

Most Men Better Than Some in Pharisaic Hypocrisy
Make Out

SAYS CAPTAIN EDWARDS

Capital and Labor Must Meet in the Spirit of Christ.

The eighteenth annual session of the Lay Association of the Methodist Church of Canada opened in the Askin Street Sunday school Wednesday afternoon, the hall being filled to capacity by district delegates.

T. B. Shillington of Blenheim, president of the association, acted as chairman, and in his opening remarks said in part: "Our keyword is brotherhood and personal evangelism. Universal happiness would come to the ministers of our church if more of this work was done, and not only the ministers—we should all undertake more of it. I believe that in this country there are men hungry for someone to say a few words to them regarding their souls. Any man with a love for Christ in his soul cannot help but have love for his fellowmen."

"We ought to pay more attention to our boys and girls when they are at an age when they can be reached. Keep them in the church, and let them grow up with a knowledge of God. May it become a habit of your life to speak to your neighbor and friends about Jesus."

Although F. C. Wanless of this city was scheduled to address the meeting on "The Work of the Brotherhood," he was unable to attend, and F. O. Whitworth, president of St. George's Brotherhood, First Methodist Church, St. Thomas, replaced him on the program. Introducing the speaker, Secretary F. B. Hotby said: "He is a man who went to the front, and did not lose his Christ over there."

Experience Overseas Valuable. Mr. Whitworth stated that he had 28 years' experience with the Brotherhood Movement, but that obtained in overseas service was by far the most valuable. "Had the Church of Canada been prepared as it might have been prepared to receive these men there might have been gathered a vast number. The men today are thinking more seriously, and are only waiting for a wise leadership. Today, if a thing must stand, it must prove its worth. Men want to know the real value of a thing now, as they understand thoroughly the term camouflage, as applied to that which creates a false impression."

"I went over a totalitarian," he informed his audience amidst great applause. "And never even touched the rum over there. There was no credit in that, as I was not tempted, but the credit is due to those who were tempted and resisted, although it was a torture to refuse. Let us get away from the thought that we are better than others. There are men today outside the church, who, if rightly approached, could be brought into the fold, to realize that there is a God and a Saviour."

Teach by Living. "If you teach them that is your profession. If you teach they say that it is for a purpose, but if you live no one can say a word against you. If we are going to succeed in brotherhood work we must live to hear our ideals on other men. I believe today outside of Christ there is no real solution to our troubles of capital and labor," he concluded.

Captain E. W. Edwards of Seaforth, a former officer in the Canadian overseas forces, addressed the delegates on "Work Among Men." He urged his audience to "get the sun in its meridian with respect to men to bring them in," and to analyze themselves as Christians. "Personal work is what counts," he began. "Jesus Christ was one of the most extraordinary persons who ever lived. The individual life and work of the church is the procuring of changed hearts. This can be accomplished only by contact man to man, and soul with soul. It is not by proxy, but by personal contact, that we are going to win the men we want to win for Jesus Christ."

"There is always an avenue to a man's soul if we have eyes to see it," continued the speaker. "I had with me in France some long-suffering men from Kingston penitentiary, and they gave me a rough ride for a month. Later they opened up, and by personal contact, that we are going to win the men we want to win for Jesus Christ."

Pharisaic Hypocrisy. "There are not so many men absolutely gone to the devil as we would like to make out," said Captain Edwards. "Some men I have seen under fire knew not how to put words together, or stop blaspheming, but they were nearer heaven than some of us pretend to be. All they needed was to be reached by a strong, clear personal message. Men appreciate strongness. I do not believe in any ice cream cones in the pulpit or in the pew."

"If I delight to see a man throw his hat in the air, and jump three feet when his team wins. Why on earth can we not say 'amen' with the same liberality?"

During the meeting a nominating committee was selected by the president as follows: Messrs. Austin of Chatham, J. C. Hay of Listowel, J. Ferguson of Sarnia, and M. Pickard of Kingsville. F. R. Hotby of St. Thomas, secretary-treasurer of the association for four years, announced that he was relinquishing his office, and urged that his successor be appointed for a period of years, in order that he might obtain a thorough training in the work.

Song Service Held. In announcing the Lay Association annual banquet Friday evening, Vice-President William Hoeman, of London, urged everyone to be present to hear Hon. W. E. Raney, attorney-general for Ontario speak. "He is a big man," he declared, "and after his noble stand in the temperance cause I am sure you will all want to hear him." Prior to the meeting a song service was in order, and the opening devotional exercises were well attended.

In the interval between addresses, the Hunt quartette, composed solely of members of one Methodist society, rendered several pleasing sacred numbers.

WORKINGMEN CAN

TEACH ECONOMICS

TO THE PROFESSORS

Three Out of Four University
Teachers Have Much To Learn.

ARTHUR MOULD'S VIEW

T. and L. Delegates Say That the Labor Forum In-sulted Them.

"The workingmen of today can educate three-fourths of the university professors in this country on every-day economics," said Delegate Arthur Mould at a meeting of the trades and labor council last evening. This assertion was made in the course of a discussion on the advisability of withdrawing the trades and labor council delegates to the labor forum. A motion of the withdrawal was brought up by President McGuire, but after nearly an hour's discussion a vote was taken, and it was decided to continue the council's representation.

"I move that we withdraw our delegates from the labor forum," said President McGuire, when he took the floor. "There is a decided lack of courtesy and co-operation extended to our representatives. The reason for my asking you to do this is because a man has been invited to speak at a meeting whom the forum previously objected to, mainly because of the strong opposition put up by our delegates. At a later meeting, when they were not present, it was decided to bring him back. It is a direct insult to the council."

Delegates Were Notified. Delegates Hothersall and Thompson took exception to the last sentence. "McGuire has not a case," said Mr. Thompson. "The T. and L. delegates were invited, and it is not up to us to see that they attend. It was voted unanimously that we ask the men to speak, even though it turns out down once. We thought we weren't giving him British fair play. I as secretary acted on authority when he was invited. It is as wrot the forum's object to cast a slur or an insult on the T. and L. delegates or council. We have done some very good things for the workingmen of London, and hope to do more in the future. Opposition to our movement came from those who do not attend the meetings. Don't be afraid, the forum will stand to hear no man who is hostile to the labor movement."

At this point Mr. Mould took the floor and asked to be heard. In his opening remarks he said that the whole affair hinged on personalities. Mr. McGuire immediately objected that this was not true. However, Mr. Mould was permitted to continue.

Wings Of Personality. "All questions rest around personalities," he continued. "The question comes to my mind, is he fit to address a body of men representing labor organizations? If the T. and L. men do not attend, let us elect some who will do so. I am quite willing to support Mr. McGuire's motion. Let them bring men to speak who can educate the workingmen. Get those who are not converted, as to our idea of labor, and bring a crowd out to hear him. Both of us have our grievances then."

He then made the statement contained in the first paragraph.

Mr. McGuire asked to speak again. He said that when the forum objected to the man speaking, the vote was 4 to 1. "Bringing him back is a deliberate insult," he declared again. Mr. Thompson rose for a point of order, but the vote was taken.

Harry Wray Appointed. The question as to who was representing the council on the forum was then brought up. The secretary stated that the delegate was not living in the city at present. The chairman was asked to appoint a delegate. Harry Wray will be the future representative. Delegate Stewart asked that a copy of the labor section of the peace treaty be obtained from Ottawa.

Delegates to the Labor Educational Association convention in Preston recently gave their report. A motion was brought up at the convention urging the necessity of free tuition of public school pupils who lived in the country
