TERRIBLE TRAGEDY IN LUMBER CAMP

One Man Shot and Another Wounded by Peter Rioux, an Owner of Homestead.

RIOUX SUICIDES

(From Monday's Extra)

One of the most atrocious murders committed in New Brunswick in recent years was the killing of Elvin Annett, a lumber foreman, a native of Gaspé, P. Q., where his mother and father reside, and the seriously wounding of John Glover, a lumber jobber, by Peter Rioux, a settler about two miles from the little village of Anderson in this county, and on the International Railway.

That the murder was premeditated and was not committed in the heat of a quarrel, was clearly shown by the statements of those who were in the vicinity of the crime when it was committed. Rioux deliberately followed Annett from camp and shot him from ambush at a distance of about twenty-five yards. Two shots were fired. The first, missing the mark, but the second killing Annett instantly, the bullet striking him in the left side in the vicinity of the heart.

The murderer then returned to his camp, packed a small haversack, supposedly with food, and went into the woods in the opposite direction, to where Glover was at work, and fired one shot at him as he was standing on a log trimming off the branches. Glover was in a stooped position swinging his axe, so the bullet, which struck him in the back, passed out of his shoulder, entered his cheek, passed through his eye and out his forehead. He is now in the Campbellton hospital in a serious condition, but may recover.

Such in brief is the story of the tragedy.

When word of the shooting was received here Saturday morning, Coroner A. Martin, M. D., and Judge Matheson took charge of the affair. The provincial authorities were notified and orders were issued setting in motion the necessary legal machinery for the apprehension

DRINK CURE A MIRACLE

No, Just Sound Science

Many drunkards are sent to jail when what they need is medicine. Drink has undermined their constitutions, inflamed their stomach and nerves, until the craving must be satisfied, if it is not removed by a scientific prescription like Samaria.

Samaria Prescription stops the craving, restores the health and appetite, and renders drink distasteful, even nauseous. It is odorless and tasteless, and dissolves in tea, coffee or food. It can be given with or without the patient's knowledge.

Read what it did for Mrs. C., of Vancouver: "I was so anxious to get my husband cured that I went up to Harrison Drug Store, and got your remedy there. I had no trouble giving it without his knowledge. I greatly thank you for all the peace and happiness that it brought already into my home. The cost was nothing according to what he would spend in drinking. The cure of drink was putting me into my grave, but now I feel so happy, and everything seems so different and bright. May this Lord be with you and help you in curing the evil. I don't want any name published."

Now, if you know of any unfortunate needing Samaria Treatment, tell him or his family or friends about it. If you have any friend or relative who forms the drink habit, help him to release himself from its clutches.

A FREE TRIAL PACKAGE of Samaria Prescription, with booklet, giving full particulars, testimonials, prices, etc., will be sent absolutely free and postpaid in plain sealed package to anyone asking for it and mentioning this paper. Correspondence sacredly confidential. Write to-day. The Samaria Remedy Co. Dept. 77 49 Colborne Street, Toronto, Canada. Also for sale by Thos. Wain, Druggist, The Rexall Store, Campbellton, N. B.

of the murderer, the varying for the injured and the taking of the evidence by the coroner.

A special train was made up by the International Railway to carry the Coroner, Judge Matheson and others as well as a posse of fifteen special constables under the leadership of Chief of Police Hughes, to Anderson. Among those in the party were Judge Matheson, A. E. G. McKenzie, D. A. Stewart, M. P. P. M. A. Kelly, Dr. Lunam, E. H. Anderson, W. Comeau, and others, while the posse was composed of Chief Hughes, Max M. Mowat, F. M. Anderson, Wm. Savoy, L. Wallace, J. Aylward, A. Hooper, J. Keirstead, John White, Harvey Calder, P. Blyth, J. Imray, and others.

The train left here about four o'clock, arriving at Richards about 6.30, where supper was partaken of and the regular express for Campbellton crossed. On board this express was Glover on his way to the hospital at Campbellton. Dr. Lunam examined him and found that he was standing the journey in good shape, and returned to Campbellton with him. The two young men, Jos. Arseneau and Arthur Patterson, who were with him at the time of the shooting and during the entire day, returned to Anderson on the special as their services and evidence were required by the coroner.

Searched Camp

The special then proceeded to Anderson, arriving there about 8 o'clock. Immediately the posse under the guidance of experienced druggists, left for the scene of the shooting, as it was thought probable that Rioux might return to camp for the night. The posse marched with lanterns over the rough road, which was in a very bad condition, owing to the recent heavy rains and snow, in very short time, arrived at the camps and without any preliminary proceedings walked into the Rioux abode and found it deserted. The premises were searched and nothing found except the usual camp equipment, some food and a small grip containing a half bottle of gin and one Mauser rifle cartridge.

Three men were left in charge of the camps, while the others returned to Anderson. On their return the posse joined the coroner and party at the scene of the shooting.

Shortly after the departure of the posse the coroner and a party, under the guidance of Robert Lynch, went into the scene of the shooting to bring out the body of Annett, which had remained at the spot under guard all day. After the walk of about two miles the scene of the tragedy was reached. The body was found lying face down, his axe on one side, and his hat on the other, slightly in advance. The men on guard had a bright fire burning. The coroner examined the body and Messrs. A. E. G. McKenzie and W. Comeau made a hasty search of the woods in the vicinity, with the aid of a lantern. They found the spot where the murderer stood behind a tree and fired the fatal shot. They also found the empty shell, which was for a Swiss Mauser rifle of about 45-70 calibre. This shell fitted the rifle used by Rioux.

The coroner then gave the necessary instructions for the removal of the body, which was placed on a stretcher and borne to Anderson, no light work, as the deceased was a large man, weighing about two hundred pounds, and the roads were very soft.

Upon arrival at Anderson the body was placed upon the special train and the coroner proceeded to empanel a jury and took the evidence of a number of witnesses, after which adjournment was made to Campbellton, and the coroner accompanied by a few of the party, returned to town, where they arrived at 3 o'clock Sunday morning. The body was handed over to undertaker Graham.

The Cook's Story

The cook, Sydney Sans, a native of Gaspé tells the following story:

After the other men had left the camp which was before daylight he saw Peter Rioux leave his camp which was only about six feet from the lumbermen's camp. He had his rifle with him and went in the direction taken by Annett. Some time later he saw Rioux return but without his rifle, enter the camp, and leave again with a small pack of haversack on his back. Rioux went into the woods in the opposite direction this time and a few minutes later Sam thought he heard a shot. Shortly after Arthur Patterson came into camp and told him Glover was shot. He went with him and the others and carried the wounded man to camp and later to Anderson.

The Shooting Of Glover

The particulars as related by the men who were with him:

Glover, Arthur Patterson, Jos. Arseneau, Anthony Arseneau and Edwin Campbell left the camp before daylight and went to the scene of their operations which were on the Rioux grant. They were engaged skidding up logs. They had been working some little time when they were startled by the report of a gun. Glover who was upon a log with an axe trimming off the limbs and was thus in a stooping position, fell over among the brush in a little hollow under the log, and a moment or so later called for help.

Patterson, who looked round in the direction of the sound saw the smoke of the rifle shot. Arseneau and Campbell went to Glover's assistance, while Patterson was hurried off for the assistance of the cook. This was about 7.30 in the morning. Together they carried the injured man to the camp which was close by. There they made an examination of the wound and bound it up as well as they could. Glover was conscious all the time and talked with the men. They then made a stretcher of blankets, rolled Glover up warmly and started for Anderson, which was about two miles distant over a road in which the men with their burden frequently went so their knees in mud. Arriving in Anderson Glover was made as comfortable as possible until the arrival of the express from Campbellton.

On this train he was taken to St. Leonard's but as Glover wished to be taken back to Campbellton a doctor dressed his wounds on the train. Arthur Patterson and Jos. Arseneau stayed with the injured man until released by Dr. Lunam at Richards.

Rioux Made Threats

These two men both state that they saw Rioux talking with Annett and Glover several times recently and understood that he had threatened to shoot if they cut the lumber on his lot, but he was not taken seriously. There had never been any very angry words.

The camp occupied by Glover and his crew was built some years ago by another lumber operator as was the camp occupied by Rioux. These two camps are situated on Range No. 22 and only a space about six feet wide separates them. Rioux lot is on No. 22 the line of which is only a few feet distant from either camp. Practically no improvements had been made by

The Shooting

Frank Patterson a young man and a native of Gaspé this tells of the shooting of Annett.

About 6.45 a. m. I left the camp alone to go to a point about half a mile distant to clean the brush out of an old hauling road, which we were to use. About half an hour later I was joined by Annett. I saw Peter Rioux coming along the road in the rear of Annett about 50 yards. After Annett joined me we worked about five minutes when I was startled by hearing a rifle shot. I looked back along the road and saw smoke among the trees about 25 yards distant, but could not see any person. I heard Annett say "what's the matter, Peter" as he started towards where the shot came from and where I had previously seen Rioux. I was also looking in this direction when I saw the flash of another shot and heard the report. Immediately Annett fell with a groan and never moved. I was badly scared and ran into the woods towards the settlement, where I arrived in a short time, and gave the alarm. With a number of men I was returning to the spot when we met others coming out carrying a man. I at once thought it was Annett, but they told me it was Glover and he had been shot. I told them that Annett had been shot dead. Later I went into the woods and guarded the body until the arrival of the coroner.

In order that our readers may understand the case clearly we print the following details as given a representative of the Graphic who went to the scene of the tragedy on Saturday afternoon.

The Homestead Law

The primary cause of the murder was undoubtedly the fact that Glover was cutting timber and ties off the lot of one hundred acres which Rioux had made application for, and had been approved by notice published in the Royal Gazette dated November 6th.

According to an act passed in 1875 any British subject over 18 years of age who owns no other property in the province can apply for a grant to 100 acres for settlement purposes only, and upon approval a permit is issued, which call for certain obligations which include the clearing of 10 acres and a three years residence. By this act if the lot so granted is leased timber limits, the assessor of said limits has until the next August to cut off the lumber on this granted land.

In this present case the lessee of the
