The rush at Farley's.

THE WAY OF THE WICKED.

Arrest of a Handsome Cincinnati Embezzler.

Another big extradition case looms up in the near future which promises to be as interesting as some of those which preceded it. Yesterday Henry Lee, alias Andrews, of Cincinnati, was arrested by Detective

Small under instructions from Detective Hazen of that city. It appears that Lee has, up to a very short time past, been employed in a very responsible position of confidential cashier for the large firm of Wandrough & McFarlin, saw manufacturer

ers. He is a young man of twenty five, of extremely good looking, and was known as "Beauty" by his friends. He had a large salary, but was and women seduced him. He embezzled nearly $10,000 of the firm's cash, and in company with a flash woman known as Lizzie Lee fled to this city and registered at the Queen's as man and wife under the name of Andrews, having from San Francisco. In a few days they removed to the American hotel, where they foolishly changed their names to Blocc, New York. In a short time however they took private apartments on Simcoe street, where the detectives unobtrusively entered the embezzler. He will in all probability contest the legality of his arrest, as he has sent for counsel to consult on that point.

A BANK ROBBERY.

Seven Thousand Five Hundred Dollars Lifted This Time.

The Queen street branch of the Dominion bank was the scene of the latest bank robbery. It appears that on the Jan. 28 the messenger of a contemporary bank brought a package containing $7,500 to the branch, handed it to the teller, got a receipt for it, and left. The cashier placed the package on a shelf in his desk and continued his work. At noon he stepped into another apartment to get his lunch, partook of it and returned to his work. Some time after he turned to get the package and found it missing. Private detectives are working up the case, but with no success so far.

Disappointed Detectives.

Shortly before Wednesday midnight the night-watchman patrolling Yonge street, near Front, observed that the grating leading to the cellar at James Lugin's whole sale fur warehouse had been disturbed, and fearing that another fur robbery was being hatched, and that the grating had been temporarily dislodged in order to a rapid removal when the coast was clear, he raised the alarm at police headquarters, and a posse of police and detectives hurried to the spot, examined the building, outside, and then entered the warehouse, but without finding a trace of the expected burglars. The energetic officers retired after seeing that the grating was firmly replaced. All this was very alarming and the crowd of spectators that had gathered around as well as the police, were fully of the belief that a great burglary had been nipped in its bud. It appears that two young women engaged at the American left the hotel for home about 11 o'clock last night, and as they passed Lugin's one of them dropped a key down the grating, and the pair proceeded to remove the grating, and the key was procured. They did not properly replace the grating, and hence the hue and cry when the watchman found it out of position.

"Because They Bred As Evil."

A correspondent of the New York Times at Newark, N.J., writes as follows: Many complaints have recently appeared in the New York newspapers respecting the huggers, traps, etc., that nightly infest the southern end of Central park, rendering it very unsafe at that time, perhaps the experience of Newark with a similar trouble might suggest a remedy. For many years the public parks of Newark, while on the whole a great benefit to the city, have at night quite the reverse, being overrun by a class of characters that made it extremely unpleasant to pass through them. Notwithstanding the efforts of the police it was impossible to abate this nuisance for some months ago the city authorities had a number of the night lights placed in Military park, think ing that they would beautify it and render it attractive to the people. The effect has been remarkable. The park being well lighted, the disreputable characters now carefully avoid it, and the parks have been entirely freed from many objectionable features previously existing. The probabilities are that other public grounds in Newark will hereafter be lighted in the same manner. A like measure would no doubt prove beneficial in Central park. The same testimony is given with regard to the parks in Chicago. —Electric World, Jan. 26.

In Paradise.

Toronto has a few favorite actors, and John T. Raymond is one of them. In spite of the great conflagration which attracted half the city to the Esplanade last night, the Grand opera house was well filled by an enthusiastic audience. Mr. Raymond is a delightful comedian, and as Major Bob Belter in In Paradise he is seen at his best. There is not an actor on the stage who can speak his witticisms with such evident relish as the star of last night. Everything he says seems to enjoy, and the enjoyment is catching. In fact, the audience bubbling over with mirth. Mr. Raymond is supported by an excellent company, whose united efforts succeed in giving the theatre-goer one of the rarest treats to be had. In Paradise will be repeated to-night, but at the matinee tomorrow and in the evening. Sell-out. There's Millions in it will be the attraction.

A Lady in the Case.

The suit of S. A. Walton vs. Miss M. L. Simpson of Guelph occupied the court of justice all day yesterday. Plaintiff is the manufacturer of bazaar patterns and has 300 agents throughout the country, one of those being the defendant. Articles were drawn up by which Miss Simpson agreed to pay $50 for the right to sell the patterns. After a short time Miss Simpson found the business did not pay and asked to be released, offering to remunerate Walton for any loss he might have been in. This was refused and action for damages followed. Mr. Bethune, Q. C., appeared for plaintiff and Mr. Akers for defendant.

Police Court Posters.

Four drunks were sent down to board. E. W. Pritchard was fined $5 or 30 days for assaulting George Siskella. Michael Rooney, for assaulting James Driscoll, was fined $5 and costs or 30 days. James Hill, for threatening his wife, and Alfred Elmwood, for threatening Robert Southworth, were remanded until the 7th inst. Alfred J. Holland, a lad accused of the larceny of stockings from Mr. Cooper of Yonge street, was remanded until the 4th. Margaret Doyle, charged with insanity, was sent back till Saturday. The lottery case against E. King Dods was adjourned till the 6th. The case against Miller et al. was adjourned till the 7th.

Sir Lepel Griffin says in an article in the London Fortnightly: "Female beauty in the States is extremely rare, usually the average of ordinary good looks is unusually low. More pretty faces are to be seen in London than in any other city in the States. The average of beauty is far higher in Canada, and in the American town in which most of the Canadian border, and containing many Canadian residents. In the western States beauty is conspicuous in its absence, and in the eastern towns, Baltimore, Philadelphia, New York and Boston, it is chiefly hardly a new face which could be called pretty."

Retains His Seat.

At Osgoode hall yesterday the judges finally decided in the Welland election petition. Col. Morin retains his seat, while Mr. Holson, the petitioner, is allowed the costs on the charges which he proved, but they allow no costs to either party on the charges which the petitioner gave evidence upon but failed to establish.

THE HILL AT LARGE.

An Illinois man had accumulated a few thousands, and his health was such as to convince him that he had not much left of life. He picked out the scriptural clause, "Lay up treasure in heaven," and believed that he could obey. The process he adopted was to come to his weight in paper money and burn it prayerfully on an altar. He went so far as to build the altar and kindle a sacrificial fire, but he had burned only $10 when his relatives forcibly deprived him of his religious liberty.

In Wurtemberg the minister of the interior has ordered the police authorities to take care that no one of either sex, under 16 is permitted, except at wedding festivities, to dance in places of public amusement.

At the last election for York, England, which was the first under the new corrupt practices act, the expenses of Sir F. Miller, the successful Tory candidate, were $4000, and of Lockwood, Liberal, $3500. At the previous election James Lofther spent $25,000 in an unsuccessful effort to keep his seat.

The leading French printers have sent a petition to the senate praying that measures may be taken to protect artists and the public from the sale of cheap copies of their works, which are being manufactured by the manufacturers of false canvases. No fewer than four cases of spurious productions, attributed to living masters, are now being really sold in Paris.

Mr. Franz Lechner, lately director of the Munich court orchestra, was asked by his successor, Hans Von Bulow, after the same day that the Marquis de Castell, "Why shouldn't I?" with the reply, "An orchestra which I have directed for thirty years can scarcely be spoiled by you in two months."

A recent coincidence may be of great service toward lighting the load of slacker lung borne by the patient male. The patient was killed by a horse in the hunting field in England, a mule in the mountains of the Alps, and a blacksmith, in the head, and also a man hurt him considerably. Mr. Madden will recover. Perhaps, of the two animals, the mule is really the more unfortunate.

So mild is the weather in North Wales that primroses, honeysuckles, snowdrops, and roses are to be found blooming in the valleys and on the hillsides. Vegetation in the low lying districts is also fast springing into life, and in the Vale of Llanidloes fruit trees are in bloom. Tourists are enabled to enjoy the mountains without difficulty—feats which, when previously attempted at this season of the year, have been attended with loss of life.

One day early this month persons passing by the Place de la Concorde along 7 o'clock in the morning were surprised to see the celebrated statue of Strasbourg (which almost all the year round is hung with flags and other emblems of French patriotism) decorated with a large white veil, and the statue of the city of Strasbourg, which represents the ancient monarchy of France. This decoration being considered seditious, it was removed by the police.

Two or three years ago the assault made by the Count de Dion, a young man about town, on that redoubtable and pugacious journalist, M. Aurelien Scholl, was the subject of a book published in Paris, and was the subject of an offensive article in the Evening Post on the count who was sent to prison for his assault on the count. The count was the Longchamps race course, when Mr. Scholl was slightly wounded.

A clergyman in Durham, England, some short time ago taught an old man in his parish to read, and found him able to read. After his lessons were finished he was not able to call for some time, and when he did only found the wife at home. "How is John?" said he. "How does he get on with his reading?" "Oh, nicely, sir," "Ah, I suppose he'll read his bible very comfortably now?" "Bless, sir! Bless you he was out of the bible and into the newspapers long ago."

It has been found necessary to erect another wing to the North hall, Newnham college, founded to promote the higher education of women in connection with the university of Cambridge. This is the hall under the care of Miss Helen Clagstone, the premier's daughter. A hospital is also being provided for the use of any student attacked with infectious disease. During the term which has just ended, there have been in the south hall, and which was erected in 1876, forty students living in the college under the principalship of Miss Clough, and four out-students living with their friends; and in the north hall thirty-six resident students and four out-students under Miss Gladstone.

Mrs. Martin of Omaha didn't scream when she unlocked her room and saw a burglar. On the contrary, she marched him to the police station. The Omaha Bee sketches the scene: "A big, strapping fellow, fully six feet high, with broad shoulders and heavy frame, came marching up the street with his head banging, and looking decidedly sheepish. Right behind him walked a little woman, of average height and slim build, but in her eye was determined look, and what looked more determined was a five shooter revolver, which she carried in her right hand, with the muzzle in a direct line with the big fellow's head. The pistol was cocked, and the prisoner: away from the look in her eye
