A good deal was said around town last night about the umpiring. As a matter of fact Hugh McLean was one of the best and most impartial judges that has been seen on the grounds this year. That he made a mistake as regards Wade's run is not only possible but probable, but there were many others who were at a puzzle to understand how he arrived at the plate so quickly. Still if the umpire did not see what happened, as alleged, he had a right to give the Torontos at least the benefit of the doubt.

Under the above heading the Turf, Field and Farm prints the following letter-from Mr. Acer of Montreal, we venture to guess:

Thos. J. Vail, Esq., Hartford. Conn.—Dear Sir: The race business did not turn out a success financially, and consequently I do not propose to give anything save load races.

My track is more in demand for circuses and athletic games, being situated almost in the centre of the city.

The people here don't take sufficient stock in trotting to warrant my giving races.

The Turf then proceeds to hammer the nail on the head in this wise:

Canada has within its bounds a large number of wealthy and intelligent breeders and many well-established stock farms. It is amply supplied with stallions of the choicest. Mr. Acer of Montreal, we venture to guess:

New goods in large quantities for this season of the year specially shown to-day at Far-ley's Bon Marche. Welcome Volunteers!

Welcome fathers, lovers, brothers! Heroes not afraid to die. Loving wives, sweethearts and mothers Laughing, weeping, welcome cry. Nobly have you served your nation, Nobly have you borne the strain; Listen to the acclamation: Welcome patriots home again!

Bravely have you fought each battle, Never once did courage fail; Steady, cool, amid the rattle And the ping of deadly hail. Onward marching, forward rushing, Charging with resistless might; Strong positions taking—pushing Out the foe 'mid fleroest fight,

Cool, when comrades fought no longer, But lay wounded on the field; Brave, when death, sometimes the stron Forced the dauntless heart to yield. Brave were ye, who faced the foemen! Not less brave the noble corps, With a touch like that of woman, From the field the wounded bore,

Saving life by quick appliance,
Of the means by skill devised;
Bidding death meanwhile defiant
Danger scarcely realized. Honored heroes, worn by marches, Long and arduous o'er the plain. Welcome! with triumphal arches, Welcome to our hearts again!

Welcome! Let the joy-bells tell it, Welcome! Let the cannons roar: Let the flags and banners wave it From each flagstaff, house and store. Welcome! Let the trumpets blow it; Welcome! To the brave and true. Welcome! Let each bright face show it, Thank God mourners are but few.

But for those to-day in sadness, We have feelings deep, unseen; And in all this joy and gladness Keep their loved one's memory green. And we pray. God bless the weeping, War-berett fond hearts to-day; Thinking of their dear ones sleeping. Crowned with laurel wreaths and bay.

They have passed beyond the portal, Leaving something more than name Heroism is immortal, They have won a deathless fame, Welcome fathers, lovers, brothers!
Heroes not afraid to die.
Loving wives, sweethearts and mothers,
Laughing, weeping, welcome cry.
