THE WAY OF SALVATION.

Rom. iii, 25. “ Whom God hath set forth to be a propitiation through faith in His blood, to declare His righteousness for the remission of sins that are past (through the forbearance of God).”

The subject of these words is Jesus Christ. He is “ the way.”

Ignorance of the way of salvation is the saddest mode of ignorance. It is all the more sad, because that in our land and time, it is necessarily, to a great extent, wilful.

Men, in general, do not pay anything like an adequate amount of attention to the interests of their souls. Yet, strange to say, you will find very few who, amid life's bustle, are not willing to acknowledge, that it were better to let the things of the seen world sink into their proper place, while, calmly and deliberately, the things unseen and eternal be weighed and measured, that they may be appropriately placed supreme in the heart and life. A conviction of this kind has doubtless a place somewhere in every heart. For the thought, that the soul has been made for eternity, lives within a man's heart, after many a good thing and many a good thought have died out altogether from the sphere of his being. And it is indeed a wonder, that when men know that eternity lies before them, they should yet be ignorant of the simple plan by which God seeks to save them for eternity. The wonder increases when it is found that men, having become familiar with this plan, permit that familiarity to become contempt.
