

affirmed or not, and whether obtained in the Kingdom of the Netherlands or elsewhere, shall be admitted in evidence as proof of the facts contained therein, if a rechter-commissaris (investigating judge) certifies that they constitute evidence admissible under Dutch law and were the basis for the issuance of the order of arrest;

c. in the case of a person sought for the enforcement of a sentence:

(i) the original or a certified copy of the judgement or other document setting out the conviction and sentence imposed;

(ii) if a portion of the sentence has already been served, a statement by a public official specifying the portion of the sentence which remains to be served;

d. in support of requests from Canada, relating to a person who has been convicted but has not been sentenced, the original or a certified copy of the order of arrest and the original or a certified copy of a document establishing that the person has been convicted and that a sentence is to be imposed.

2. In the case of a person convicted in absentia the requirements relating to the submission of documents referred to in subparagraphs a and b of paragraph 1 shall apply. If, however, it is established that the charge, containing notice of the date and place of trial, or the judgement rendered in absentia has been personally served on the person sought, and that person has not appeared or availed himself or herself of the rights to appeal and retrial, the requirements relating to the submission of documents referred to in subparagraphs a and c of paragraph 1 shall apply.

3. All documents submitted in support of a request for extradition and appearing to have been certified or issued by a judicial authority of the requesting State or made under its authority shall be admitted in extradition proceedings in the requested State without having to be taken under oath or affirmation and without proof of the signature or of the official character of the person appearing to have signed them.

4. No authentication or further certification of documents submitted in support of the request for extradition shall be required.

5. Any translation of documents submitted in support of a request for extradition provided by the requesting State, shall be admitted for all purposes in extradition proceedings.

Article 8 - Additional Information

1. If the competent authorities of the requested State consider at any stage of the extradition process that the information provided by the requesting State is insufficient to make a decision under this Treaty, the requested State may ask for additional information. The requested State
