

- In 1999, Swedish composer Karin Rehnqvist accompanied a Canada–Sweden research voyage into the Canadian Arctic on the icebreaker Odin. The voyage provided inspiration for her symphony, Arktis! Arktis!. The Winnipeg Symphony Orchestra performed this symphony in Winnipeg in May 2001 in honour of the Canada–Sweden and the European Union Arctic Science Workshop.
- The Canadian and Swedish embassies operate a Sweden–Canada Youth Exchange Program aimed at Canadian citizens between 18 and 30 years who are interested in a working vacation overseas.
- In October 2000, Canada won the Stockholm Challenge Award in the culture and entertainment category for its Digital Collections Project — more than 2,300 young Canadians created over 350 Web sites featuring original Canadian curriculum and learning resources.
