

Business of the House

BUSINESS OF THE HOUSE

Mr. Chevrier: Mr. Speaker, is the house leader in a position to indicate the business for tomorrow?

Mr. Churchill: Mr. Speaker, in accordance with the rules tomorrow would normally be given over to a consideration of private members' bills but after consultation with parties on the other side of the house we have agreed that we will continue with government business tomorrow and that would mean the continuation of the debate on the bill now before us. If that is concluded we would go on then with the resolution in the name of the Minister of Labour dealing with technical and vocational training.

At six o'clock the house adjourned, without question put, pursuant to standing order.

The hon. member who has just finished speaking...

The hon. member who has just finished speaking...

The hon. member who has just finished speaking...

The hon. member who has just finished speaking...

The hon. member who has just finished speaking...

The hon. member who has just finished speaking...

The hon. member who has just finished speaking...

The hon. member who has just finished speaking...

The hon. member who has just finished speaking...

The hon. member who has just finished speaking...

The hon. member who has just finished speaking...

The hon. member who has just finished speaking...

The hon. member who has just finished speaking...

The hon. member who has just finished speaking...

The hon. member who has just finished speaking...

The hon. member who has just finished speaking...

The hon. member who has just finished speaking...

The hon. member who has just finished speaking...

The hon. member who has just finished speaking...

The hon. member who has just finished speaking...

The hon. member who has just finished speaking...

The hon. member who has just finished speaking...

The hon. member who has just finished speaking...

The hon. member who has just finished speaking...

The hon. member who has just finished speaking...

The hon. member who has just finished speaking...

The hon. member who has just finished speaking...

The hon. member who has just finished speaking...

The hon. member who has just finished speaking...

The hon. member who has just finished speaking...

The hon. member who has just finished speaking...

The hon. member who has just finished speaking...

The hon. member who has just finished speaking...

The hon. member who has just finished speaking...

The hon. member who has just finished speaking...

The hon. member who has just finished speaking...

The hon. member who has just finished speaking...

The hon. member who has just finished speaking...