 ire, where he was discharged from the army of the revolution in Jan., 1783, having enlisted at the age of 17, in Capt. Moody Dustin's Company, 1st Regiment New Hampshire line, commanded by Col. Cilley.

They settled in the town of Weathersfield, near the village of Reading, where, after raising a family of children, both died, she at the age of 63, and he at the age of 83.

On the breaking out of the war of 1812 he enlisted at the age of 49, in Jan., 1813, in Capt. Marston's Company, 21st Regiment U. S.
 Infantry, and served until Oct. 5, 1814, when he was discharged at Fort Erie, Canada, on surgeon's certificate of disability.

His son-in-law, Robert White, lost both arms by a cannon shot at the battle of Fort Erie, Canada, not far from Buffalo, N. Y., in August, 1814.

His family consisted of the following:

Mary, who married Robert White, and settled in Ohio, and later in Bureau Co., Ill.

Sarah, who married — Bemiss, and settled in Ontario Co.,
 New York, where she died soon after.

James Gibson, born Sept. 29, 1799, and settled in Michigan.

Thomazin, who married Calvin Grandy, and settled in Vermont.

Lorenzo Dow, born Aug. 21, 1805, and settled in Mass.

Susan, who married Linas Thayer, and settled in Ohio.

Thomas, the youngest, who also settled in Ohio.
