

APRIL 14th, 1890.

DEAR SIR,

I beg to direct your attention to the following resolution passed at a recent meeting of the Faculty of Medicine :

"The attention of the Faculty has been directed to the fact that some of the courses during the past summer session were not given with sufficient regularity or punctuality. Feeling that such irregularity and unpunctuality is not only disadvantageous to the students themselves, but also detrimental to the interests of the University, the Faculty of Medicine begs to draw the attention of the Summer Session Staff to the matter, and hopes that satisfactory arrangements will be made for the ensuing session."

It was further resolved that a printed copy of the above resolution be sent to every member of the Summer Session Staff.

Yours, etc.,

J. STEWART,
Registrar.
