SIX DAYS this week you'll notice many men standing about in various attitudes of disappointment, because they have failed to get something for nothing!

The getting of something for nothing is so rare an occurrence in this life that most sensible men don't consider it in solving life's problems. You wouldn't expect to find games of chance run in a clothing store, would you? And yet there are clothing stores where you take a chance and others where you haven't a chance—but that's another store—y.

A men's store with a reputation such as ours builds its business on the principle of a fair exchange. And speaking of exchanges, have you exchanged your heavy suit for one of Summer weight, or even flannels? If not, here's your chance.
