He said he did not believe that there was an international discussion of more importance, not even that regarding the Eastern question, than the one relative to permanent arbitration between Great Britain and the United States. The statement was greeted with cheers by the audience. Continuing, Mr. Morley said he trusted that the two nations, which were far ahead of the great military monarchies in a thousand other respects, had set them in this matter a splendid and benevolent example.

Arbitration of the Venezuelan Dispute a Settled Fact.

All the Parties Appear to be Pleased.

Great Satisfaction Expressed by th Newspapers.

> London, Nov. 11.-The newspapers are unanimous in expressing satisfaction at the Marquis of Salisbury's announcement in his speech at the Guildhall banquet of the practical settlement of the Venezuelan difficulty. The Pall Mall Gazette says: "The presence of Mr. Bayard at the banquet gave additional enthusiasm to the satisfaction with which it was received. The solution is in every way honorable and final, and will materially strengthen the ties between the two

The Globe says: "The amicable and honorable settlement is creditable alike to the diplomacy of Great Britain and the United States." The Westminster Gazette says:"Both Secretary Olney and Lord Salisbury are entitled to say that they sacrificed no principle for which they originally contended." The St. James' Gazette asserts that "The question remains at to who is to be the arbitrator? If it is the United States, the so-called settlement covers a surrender, for the United States has been a party to the dis-pute, and is not qualified to be its judge

A Washington dispatch says: "The Venezuelan commission has authorized this official statement: 'The statements of Lord Salisbury make it possible that the boundary dispute now pending between Great Britain and Venezuela will be setled by arbitration at an early day. mission, while continuing its labors in the preparation and orderly arrangement of many valuable maps, reports labors, does not propose to formulate any decision for the present, of the tation that a friendly and just settlement of all pending differences between the nations interested will make

C., Nov. 11.-The belief expressed by Lord Salisbury that the Venezuelan controversy has come tion on this side of the Atlantic in an official announcement by the Venezuelan boundary commission, that for the present, at least, it would abandon the further prosecution of its task of finding the true divisional ine between Venezuela and British Guiana, and would make no report thereon. The announcement was worded with a saving clause, evidently inserted as a precaution against a possible hitch at the last moment on some matter of details. Its official declaration makes it clear that the reaty of arbitration is nearly comlete, or, at least, has reached such stage, that an attempt by the independent United States commission to ocate a boundary line would be an ssumption of the very task that the arbitration commission most undertake, and therefore would be courteous and in violation of diplomatic ethics.

Another Washington dispatch says: The arbitration of the Venezuelan dispute is a settled fact. All arrangements have been completed and all detils of the arbitration treaty between the United States and Great Britain are arranged. The final terms of the treaty of arbitration were ar ranged in this city last night. The terms were cabled to London and have been accepted. The treaty covers Venezuela only, and does not include a general treaty of arbitration of all future disputes between the great English-speaking nations. This treaty is to be arranged The Venezuelan arbitration commission will consist of five arbitrators, Lorenzo Marquet, where the Gov-two to be named by the United States, ernor apologized to him for the at-two by Great Britain, and these four two by Great Britain, and these four

The St. James Gazette asks whether the agreement will not throw into arbitration "all the sparsely settled region between the Schomburgk line and the settled territory of Guiana, which Lord Kimberley and the Marquis of Salisbury declared they would never submit to arbitration, and whereupo President Cleveland and Secretary Olney declared they should or the Unite States would make them." Continuing, the Globe says: "Had the commission reported adversely to Great Britain, it would force President Cleveland to attempt the coercion of Great Britain, or eat the humblest of humble pie. No one in this country wishes to see these developments, or the United States retarded for half a century, as it would necessarily have been if the Government at Washington had seen fie to enter, on so trivial a pretext, upon so unequal a contest. The decision of the commission to withhold its report is an obvious, but effective way out of an awkward situation," In its criticism of the tribunal, the Globe refers to the fact that Venezuela is not represented, "in spite of Lord Salisbury's early assertion that the question at issue only con-cerned the United Kingdom and Venezuela." The article concludes: "It must clearly be understood that the constitution of the new tribunal of arbitration is not to constitute a precedent for arranging all future disputes between the United States and the United Kingdom in North and South America, and that we are not ready to recognize Monroeism as in-ternational law."

Remarkable Story Told by an English Captain.

How He Rescued a Party of Fugitive Armenians

With the Aid of an American Cruiser.

New York, Nov. 11 .- The World today publishes the following: The steamship Boyne, of the Mercantile Steamship Company, of London, arrived in port on Friday last from Gibraltar and Mediterranean points. Today Capt. Fischer told a remarkable story to Collector of the Port Kilbreth, Law Officer Phelps and Special Deputy Naval Officer Gourley, of the Customs Department, as to why he had entered port without a manifest. The British steamship Boyne lay off Smyrna, Turkey in Asia, on Oct. 10. There had been several riots in Smyrna for three or four days before. din of another conflict reached the ears of the Boyne's captain about 7 o'clock in the evening, and the cries of the victims of the assassins came over the waters. An hour afterwards a small boat came up to the side of the British steamship, and an aged man begged permission to go aboard. were six others, three of them women, all Armenian refugees. Cant. Fischer assented. He fed them, cared for them, and gave them the protection of the British flag. Mr. Fischer said he was bound for America, and in order to be on the safe side the refugees were registered as passen-Not long afterwards a boat load of
