J. Haverson, K.C., contra. Judgment (B). I think those launching the motion acted hastily. I am not convinced that the council acted, with any impropriety. Had such circumstances been shown I should not hesitate in making an order convenience. should not hesitate in making an order compelling the council to perform the duty cast upon it by the statute cited. It does not appear to me to be a case where it is "just or convenient" (Judicature Act, sec. 58, sub-sec. 9) that a mandatory order should be made. The motion is refused. McLeod v. Canadian Northern Railway—R. B. Henderson, for the defendants, on appeal from the judgment of Clute, J., of May 7, 1908; J. B. Clarke, K.C., for plaintiff, contra. Action by farmer for $600 damages for two horses and a colt killed on the track of the defendants on June 28, 1907, as alleged, from the neglect of the defendants in fencing their line of railway. At the trial judgment was given for plaintiff for $600. Defendants appealed. Judgment (G.). After the argument there were left two contentions, which are now to be disposed of. The first, and the one most strongly urged, that the plaintiff was on his own showing guilty of negligence, or contributory negligence, in turning his horses into a field when he knew there was an open and unprotected gap in the railway fence; and, second, but less strongly, that under the statute the company was exempted from putting up or keeping up a fence in the locality and at the plaintiff's farm. It was held that these contentions were not well taken, and appeal was dismissed with costs.

Rex v. Simmons—J. B. McKenzle, for Matthew H. Simmons, an Owen Sound hotelkeeper, moved for an order nist to quash a conviction for illicit sale of liquor. Order as asked, but without prejudice to any objection which may be made upon the return thereof, that the applicant should have proceeded by notice of motion instead of by order nist and without prejudice also to any objection that may be made that the applicant does not give the usual security by recognizance or otherwise.

The Bank of Nova Scotia v. Booth—F. Arnoldi, K.C., for the garnishee, from the order of Meredith, C.J., in chambers of Dec. 8, 1908; C. A. Masten, K.C., for plaintiffs. There are two grounds upon which the garnishee is seeking to have the garnishing order rescinded—one that there was no proper material justifying the making of the order and the other, that the garnishees were not within the jurisdiction in such a way as to be the garnisheed.

nishees were not within the jurisdiction in such a way as to be the subject of garnishing proceedings. The master granted the garnishing order, and the appeal to this court. Appeal dismissed. Costs to plaintiff in any event of garnishee proceedings.

Longaker v. Sisters of St. Joseph—E. A. Appleby (Hamilton), for E. Longaker, appealed from the order of Britton, J., dated Dec. 8, 1808; M. J. O'Reil'y K.C., for the Sisters of St. Joseph, con-tra. A case where children were left with the sisters several years ago on agreement to pay $4 per week and sup-ply clothing, neither of which was ever done. Now when the children are all done. Now when the children are all placed in good families, where they are happy and contented the mother, who has remarried and lives in New York City, applied on neturn of habeas corpus to regain possession of her children. Her application was refused by the judge, and she now appeals to this court. Respondents take preliminary objection that this court has no jurisdiction to try an appeal from a jurisdiction to try an appeal from a judge-in-chambers on a habeas corpus application. Objection held good and appeal dismissed with costs.

Innes v. The Queen City Plate Glass Company-R. H. Greer, for the defend-Company—R. H. Greer, for the defendants, appealed from the judgment of Clute, J., of Nov. 19, 1908; E. Meek, K. C., for plaintiff, contra, Plaintiff sued for $1000, alleged to have been loaned to defendant company, but which the company averred had been paid for twenty shares of stock in the company at $50 each. The plaintiff a leg d that these were merely taken as collateral to secure the loan. At the trial judgment was given for the plaintiff for $1095.56 and costs. Defendants appealed. Appeal argued and dismissed with costs, Judgment should, however, be varied by reciting the willingness of the plaintiff to return the stock certificate.
