

RUSSIAN CZAR ALIVE IN JAPAN, SAYS FORMER ROMANOF CONFIDANTE

KEEP UP BARS, SAYS LEGION

Drastic Restriction of Immigration to U. S. by Congress Predicted.

Indianapolis, Jan. 25. — (United Press.)—Drastic restriction, if not complete suspension, of all immigration to the United States by the present congress was prophesied today by Garland W. Powell, national director of the Americanization Commission of the American Legion, following a poll of both houses. Among about 250 replies, a great majority favor some sort of restriction, Powell said.

In a few instances, senators and representatives favor closer restriction than is provided in existing laws, and a large number of the nation's lawmakers indicate a friendly sentiment toward complete exclusion of immigrants over a period of years, Powell declared.

At the fifth National Legion convention resolutions aimed at shutting the doors of America to immigrants, in order to assimilate those now in the nation.

A further resolution adopted by the veterans looks to the raising of standards of citizenship.

Among the senators favoring the Legion's attitude without qualifications are both senators from Oklahoma, R. W. Owen and J. W. Harold; both from Arizona, Henry P. Ashurst and Ralph Cameron; both from Texas, Morris Shephard and E. B. Mayfield. Others who expressed unqualified support of the veterans' programme were Senators Willis, Ohio; Green, Vermont; Jones, Washington; Hoffman, Alabama; and Harrison of Georgia.

Approval was also given to the Legion stand, with certain qualifications, by Senators Overman, North Carolina; Watson, Indiana; Weller, Maryland; Smith, South Carolina; Sterling, South Dakota; George, Georgia; Ferris, Michigan; Lodge, Massachusetts.

From Senator Cushman of Michigan, came the only absolute dissent from the Legion's proposals. He said he felt it would be a special meeting in the Senate to this nation, but declared he was willing to hear the arguments of the Legion.

Sentiment in the House is equally strong for stringent restriction or exclusion, Powell said.

By A. H. FREDERICK.

San Francisco—Nicholas, czar of all the Russians, is alive—a prisoner in Japan of his own desire.

Intrenched behind garden walls and thick-foliated trees—using as protective camouflage the modesty of the house he has selected—the former ruler has found refuge in the orient.

From Madame Eugenia Gaevsky, little old white-haired lady, who makes her living here teaching languages and acting interpreter to her fellow Russians, comes this report.

Story Rouses Interest.

Her affirmative story has caused a ripple in international circles, and temporarily set aside sinister tales of butchery of the Romanof royal family in the prison castle of Ekaterinburg, July 17, 1918.

Likewise it follows close on the heels of a counter narrative, supposedly issued by the Bolshevik government to the effect that Nicholas is not only dead but his severed head is now a curiosity, preserved in alcohol, in a Russian museum.

But such accounts have not shaken Madame Gaevsky's faith.

Once an intimate of those moving in the inner circles of Russian society, and knowing well the nobility whose names were synonymous with the power of the old regime, she persists in belief of her story.

"It is indeed true," she stoutly maintains. "The little father is alive."

"Those of unquestionable veracity have told me they have seen him. 'His life? Of that they cannot tell. None but his closest intimates know of that. Even his neighbors know him only as a man who shrouds himself in inconspicuousness, who shrinks from contact with the street, who is, perhaps, a little queer, a bit feeble-minded."

"But long before these people told me they had seen the czar, I knew that he had made his escape to Japan. In 1918, I first heard it, direct from those who heard it from the dowager empress herself."

Whether a myth fathered by wish, or a true high light in historical romance, belief in the escape of the czar is held by many of the Russian refugees here, says Madame Gaevsky. "Imperialists were busy during the days when the 'little father' and his family were prisoners of the soviet. Royalist spies penetrated into the Red councils and carried back reports to their superiors, the chiefs of the plotters," she relates.

Escaped by Ruse.
"One night as the imperial family sat with their meditations on what the future might hold, the door opened, and a small group of peasants entered. Peasants in dress, but not deportment. With all the grace of the court, they saluted the czar."

"They told him of the plot. He was to escape in the dress of a peasant, while one of their number, very similar in face, figure and carriage to the czar, was to stay behind in his place to avoid pursuit."

"The czar demurred. He would not allow the sacrifice, nor would he desert his family."

"The conspirators apparently were prepared for this, for and without unnecessary disturbance they forcibly garbed him in peasant attire and spirited him away."

"Only a few days later until the pseudo czar and the four members of the royal family were led to their death in the cellar of the fortress."

"How it was managed, I have never heard," says Madame Gaevsky. "Perhaps the guard that night was loyal to the imperial house, maybe he was bribed, maybe vodka."

"But I do know he is alive. Only he and the Grand Duchess Yriana escaped. The grand duchess fled with her soldier husband earlier in the revolution."

Keep Your Body Fit in Winter Use POST'S Bran Flakes

BECAUSE winter shuts off a good deal of your outdoor exercise; because in winter you do not get fresh vegetables or as much fresh air, and are inclined to eat heavier foods, your system needs Post's Bran Flakes with Other Parts of Wheat more than ever.

Post's Bran Flakes is just Nature's way of keeping your body clear of poisons. It is bran as Nature meant you to eat it—with other parts of the wheat retained in order to make it nourishing, so delicious and appetizing that you'll like it, eat it regularly, and get all its non-irritating laxative benefits.

And it is effective! Millions now have proved it! Millions have found it the key to new, tingling health and fitness because of its deliciousness.

Try it! Use it all winter—regularly. Serve it with cream or milk. But insist on Post's Bran Flakes—the inimitable, tasty cereal that took four years to perfect.
