Our trousers are made by experts in trouser making. It takes experts to make trousers well. Trousers of correct cut from neat patterns of Worsted, Serges, Cheviots and tweeds, at

CUPID AT THE CLEANER'S

By DELLA CAMPBELL MACLEOD.

"Dis heah's Mame Billy Rutledge!" Pomp performed the introduction with pride—"and dis heah's Miss Sissy Crutcher. She gwine to ouh house or visit." The girl laughed delicately and held out a gray-gloved hand. Billy gripped it mechanically, with rage in his heart. She had not only stolen his sweetheart's eyes and hair—she even had her voice!
It was very pleasant to be at home again, Billy told himself, as he dressed for the Southern supper. He would make the best of whatever it was that brought him. And he would show he was made of sterner stuff than her. The department was not bound to accept the lowest or any tender. D. POTTINGER, General Manager. Railway Office, Moncton, N.B., 31st March, 1909. 11-3-4.

AMUSEMENTS.

AN AMERICAN GENTLEMAN.

Is the play scheduled for tonight at the Opera House, and the company put especial string request that the patrons don't miss the powerful comedy drama. Every act is carried in the scenery department, and as the theme of the play deals with Gypies there is always a good opportunity to take advantage of the characterful costumes of this race of people which this company does. The big wrestling scene in the second act is one of the sensations of the play. In the third act is another scene between the American Gentleman and the Gypies which puts the audience on edge. The daring act of invading the hut of the Gypies is another strong scene. Altogether this play will suit the St. John theatre going public better than anything yet produced. New specialties for tonight.
The house was big again last night to witness the second performance of One Girl in a Thousand.
PHOTOS OF HOLMES AND BUCHANAN TONIGHT.
This afternoon at the Nickel there will be a brand new show, another high class film exhibition, the distinguishing feature of which will be Edison's exquisite pictorial version of the story of how Beethoven came to write his magnificent Moonlight Sonata. This is a distinct novelty in motion photographs and the light effects introduced are wonderful truly. Another film is "The Music Master," a

Bob hesitated a moment. "Let's hear, Bob," Billy finally burst forth about nine o'clock, when the two brothers were left alone together. "You've got me here; and I can't for the life of me make out what it's all about. Buck up! Let's take business. I've got an important affair in New York, something that concerns my whole future, to come to your rescue. Out with it! What's the business deal in which I am to act for you?"

"But it isn't," he other hastily interposed. "Hush! It all, can't you see? She's got a matrimonial scheme hatched up, and you're the bridegroom. She's got the whole thing planned out, even to the gown she's going to wear as matron of honor. You Sissy are to marry her. We want you to have an old-time wedding—festivities for a week, get you settled down, you know."
"But I tell you," Billy replied, when he had recovered his breath from this announcement, "I'm already engaged. I'm engaged to you. You Sissy are to marry her. We want you to have an old-time wedding—festivities for a week, get you settled down, you know."

HARRY BENNETT.

free adaptation of the play of that name made famous by David Warfield. Then there are comedies and other kinds of pictures. Holmes and Buchanan, who terminate their successful engagement tomorrow night, will continue in their greatest success, A Woodland Wedding, which has been playing the Nickel all week, and at Saturday's matinee they will give an extra show for the children. The Beethoven picture will be explained to the children upon the occasion. There will be more secret napshots taken too. Already Nickelodeons are on the out vive regarding the coming of the great Harry Bennett next Monday—the man who does Lauder songs and monologues like Lauder himself. Further late tomorrow night.

NEW SINGER AT THE PRINCESSES.

Mr. T. A. B. Waterall, a high-class baritone, opened his engagement at the Princess last night, and he jumped into immediate favor with the large audience. His rendering of "Take Me With You in Your Arms" was loudly applauded. Mr. Waterall will have a new song today. There is also a complete change of pictures. Blarinas during the Morning Brezza Show is a beautiful scenic picture. Educated Abroad is a drama 100 feet in length. A Rustle Flirt is a dandy comedy subject. There are also two other first-class pictures. Keep your eyes on this column for surprise programme next week.

A SLENDID PATHE FEATURE AT THE UNIQUE TODAY.

The Adventures of the Duke of Guise, one of Pathe's recent productions in what is termed the film art series, will be the feature picture at the Unique today. Other pictures are The Suffragette's Dream, comedy, and The Annals of Different Periods, descriptive. In response to what the Unique management feels would be a very general desire, arrangements have been made to hold over The Grand Canal of Venice for Friday and Saturday, and this splendid feature will occupy a place of honor on the week end programme. For a special Saturday matinee feature the ever popular Uncle Tom's Cabin will be shown for the benefit of the children. Mr. Killcove will make a change of song in today's programme, singing The Sea Bird's Warning Cry. Don't miss this excellent bill of fare for Friday and Saturday.

STAR TONIGHT AND SATURDAY.

Tonight at the Star there will be another of those ludicrous Jones series of pictures entitled "Mr. Jones has a Card Party." About a fortnight ago the Star showed the Jones picture "Mr. Jones at the Ball" which was a scream. This new picture is even funnier than the former one. The other pictures are The Little Violinist, "The Dawdling Mrs. Francis, The Tiny Martyr, and two other films. On Saturday the matinee will present special features for the children and Saturday night there will be a fine musical programme. Miss Yon Grandeur is to sing "It's the Pretty Things You Say."
