PILOTAGE MATTER UNDER DISCUSSION James U. Thomas, of St. John Pilot Commissioners, Presents Pilots' Case Before the Marine Committee.

Ottawa, April 25.—The new ship bill was up for review before the marine committee this morning. The pilotage provisions being under consideration, Hon. Mr. Brodeur stated that after consultation with the Shipping Federation and the Dominion Marine Association this morning he had agreed to drop for this session at least one clause which required compulsory pilotage upon ships in the St. Lawrence.

Mr. Kite, of Nova Scotia, said if the bill was left as at present for the St. Lawrence, he could see no reason why it should be changed, for the rest of Canada. The bill proposed that there should be no pilotage charges upon "dumb barges" or barges in tow. This would apply to St. John, Halifax and other Maritime ports. St. John and Halifax pilotage authorities were present to object.

James U. Thomas, speaking for the St. John Pilot Commissioners, declared that it was desirable that barges should be allowed to pay pilotage at St. John and that all other crafts should do so. It was desirable that the pilotage system should be kept as it is, because which required compulsory pilotage upon ships in the St. Lawrence.

Colonel McKean, M. P., said the question of a tax on barges applied only to St. John. He wanted to see the pilotage system of St. John kept at a high standard and if necessary government should contribute to the benefit of all to which all could and all did resort. He stated that since the Springhill strike there has been little large business at St. John, and all other crafts should pay. All could contribute to the maintenance of the system which was maintained for the benefit of all to which all could and all did resort.
