LORDS PASSED THE VETO BILL

Continued from page 1. The House of Lords will meet on Wednesday or Thursday and Lord Lansdowne will move the acceptance of the bill, predicting its repeal as soon as the Unionists return to office. If the extremists rally around Halsbury and vote for the rejection of the bill, Lord Lansdowne is expected to summon his followers to vote for it. It is not anticipated that Halsbury will find more than 50, perhaps not more than a score to make the last stand, and the greatest constitutional removal in almost a century will be accomplished.

Three considerations have impelled the peers to swallow this bitter medicine, a desire to save their own ease from an embarrassing position, and to prevent the immediate enactment of extreme radical measures, such as Home Rule and the disestablishment of the Welsh church. The only dramatic touch of the day was furnished by Lord Halsbury, whose voice, despite his 86 years, rang with passion and indignation as he denounced the passing of the old regime.

Lord Morley snavely hoped that this parliamentary operation would be accomplished without further social shock, and everyone understood that social shock meant dilution of the peerage by the infusion of new blood. Lord Lansdowne replied with equal snavity, that the Unionists must oppose the bill as proposed by the House of Commons as long as they were free agents. Everyone interpreted this to mean that they would consider themselves free agents when the threat of doubling the peerage was definitely held over their heads.

Mr. Balfour has summoned a meeting of the leaders of both Houses for the purpose of considering the question of future policy. In opening the debate Lord Morley reiterated the hostility of the government towards any qualification of their original proposals. The bill now being returned to the other House was he said, so changed as to bear no resemblance to the original measure passed by the House of Commons and to accept the bill as amended would be a death blow to the House. Criticizing the amendments in detail, the government's spokesman declared that the opposition instead of making a few changes as they could, had made as many as they could. "Say what you please of the parliament bill," he exclaimed, "nobody can pretend that

MR. COWAN TO SIR WILFRID

Continued from page 1. A direct challenge to the government to dissolve parliament and fight out the reciprocity issue on the hustings was made tonight by George H. Cowan, of Vancouver. Mr. Cowan followed Major Currie, and after dealing with the Chinese immigration scandal, branched off into a merciless raking of the various ministers present, beginning with Sir Wilfrid Laurier. The latter, he feared, was falling in love with himself, like Narcissus and would die of self admiration. He warned the Premier against self indulgence, too much looking glass and the fatal course of Narcissus. "It is not a question of the white feather," he said "but if it is delayed it may be a question of the white feather."

Urging the government to face the issue, courageously, man fashion, Mr. Cowan said "There is no use dodging the issue, you will not succeed. If the worst comes and you are dismissed from power, take your fortune like brave men." The reciprocity debate was not reached till midnight when Thornburn of Lanark got back to his speech. Mr. Thornburn wanted an adjournment and wanted the adjournment, the minister got up and moved the adoption of the resolution he got quickly up again.

An Old Story in a New Dress.

There is nothing new under the sun which shines on St. John. Long before Mr. Pugsley discovered Courtenay Bay, or put the old Sun out of business, or conceived the brilliant idea of converting Fort Howe into a park, the Board of Trade discussed a project to transform the old fort into a park. About ten years ago a committee of the Board of Trade took up the question of converting Fort Howe into a beauty spot and it brought in a long and elaborate report, but nothing was done about it. Thus it is once more demonstrated that Mr. Pugsley is behind the Times.

THE BIRTH OF A TRUST

John E. Parsons Tells U. S. Congressional Committee How The American Sugar Trust Had Its Being. New York, N. Y., July 20.—John E. Parsons, former counsel for the American Sugar Refining Co., today told the special congressional committee investigating his version of the formation of the trust. "I am willing to take the blame for originating the idea of consolidating the sugar interests into the big company of 1887," said Mr. Parsons. He went further and said that this was the first combination, even preceding the Standard Oil and Representative Madison of Kansas remarked: "Ah, here is the real father of the trusts."

"There have been many makers of sugar prior to 1887," continued Mr. Parsons. "I think it was in all their minds. I'm the man, though, who deserves the credit of the blame for actually forming that company, which under reorganization became the Sherman Anti-Trust law, became the present American Sugar Refining Company."

FOUR BODIES FOUND.

Pittsburg, July 20.—Workmen engaged in clearing away the wreck of a Baltimore and Ohio freight train at Bryant, Pa., early today, found the body of Tony Felschmer, of Etna, Pa. near a mass of debris. Four bodies were taken out of the wreckage last night, soon after the accident, and Samuel Mattingly, of Johnstown, Pa., later died in a local hospital.

Slight Fire on Spar Cove Road.

About four o'clock yesterday afternoon the North End fire department were called out by an alarm from box 121. The cause was a slight blaze on the roof of Mrs. McGuire's house on Spar Cove Road. The blaze was extinguished by the chemical engine and the damage done was trifling. A second and needless alarm was sent in by some person who discovered the fire.

GALLINGER MAY RETIRE

According to reports from New Hampshire United States Senator Jacob H. Gallinger may never return to Washington. It is understood he will not participate in the deliberations of the present Congress.

The reason given is that the deaths in his family have made him undecided as to the future. One year ago his wife and three of their four children died. He is in his seventy-fifth year and is practically alone, his surviving daughter living at Brookline, Mass.

WORKINGMEN ATTACKED AND WRECKED A FACTORY NEAR ALLIXCO.

Mexico, July 20.—Further pillaging is reported in today's despatches from Puebla. A factory owned by Sanchez Gayto was attacked by Maderist soldiers, who also raided the ranch of Enrique Silva Lanager, who is said to have been killed. His mules were slaughtered and farming implements destroyed. Workingmen attacked and wrecked a factory near Allixco. San Martin Tepehuacan, just across the line in the State of Tlaxcala, was raided by the peons. The outbreaks were conducted with the departure of Francisco I. Madero for Tehuacan, where he arrived last night. The Maderist soldiers acted in protest against the attempt to disarm them. The workmen were attacked by a labor grievance and the peons took advantage of the withdrawal of the Maderist guards to raid the village which was without protection of a garrison.

PLAN FOR A TUNNEL UNDER BOSTON HARBOR.

Boston, July 20.—The proposition for a tunnel beneath the harbor connecting the Boston and Maine railroad system with the New York, New Haven and Hartford, received an adverse report in the house today, but as the original bill contained a provision for the electrification of ten miles outside of the city, was found to be beyond the scope of the original petition. Representative Washburn gave notice, however, that when the question of accepting the report came before the house, he should offer a substitute bill which would meet the objections to the original bill.

TRAINED MEN ARE NOW HUNTING MURDERER.

Beattie, Jr., of Richmond on the Middlethian turnpike late Tuesday night. FINE TREES HAVE GONE UP IN SMOKE

Forest Fires in British Columbia Have Done Great Damage in Valuable Tracts of Timber. Vancouver, July 20.—Damage estimated at half a million has been caused by forest fires at Squamish, according to advices brought by the government launch Skinner, which arrived in Vancouver from the scene of the conflagration last night. The timber belt through which the flames fought their way, it is stated by officials of the provincial timber inspector's office, is one of the finest in British Columbia. The fire which is said to have originated near the limits of the Newport Timber camp has almost wiped the camp of that company out of existence, it is stated. The Newport Timber Company possess large holdings in the Squamish district and had over 120 men employed at the time the fire broke out. Since Monday last when the outbreak was first reported, every man in the camp together with the armed force of fire wardens has been fighting the flames in an effort to protect the timber still standing.

When the outbreak was found to be uncontrollable, the donkey engines used in the camp were buried in mud and left there, attention being turned to saving the horses and some of the lighter part of the camp equipment. The stables and sheds, it is reported, have all been burned as well as other buildings in the camps.

FOUR MEN INJURED IN AN AUTO ACCIDENT.

Utica, N. Y., July 20.—Four men en route from Boston to Toronto by automobile, ran into a tree at Swampsville, west of this city this afternoon, and as a result, two are in hospital at Onondaga with bad injuries. The men refused absolutely to give their names and one removed the license number from the car after the accident. One of them has both legs broken and another a broken knee cap and internal injuries. The other two escaped with a shaking up. The force of the impact was so great that the front axle of the machine was bent about the tree.

Unites. Puck:—The Rhine maidens ate potatoes and all manner of starchy foods. "In order to preserve the unities!" they explained. "The unities!" repeated the then world, in great perplexity. "Yes. Only very stout songstresses will be able to do full justice to the trifles and things which are destined to be written about us!" declared the Rhine Maidens with prophetic discernment.
