

in its hour of danger, and, finally, preserved to our sight to-day by a woman?

May we act up to it, and by our efforts to preserve the history of the days when it was worked, fire the hearts of the future with the loyalty to crown and country which burned so brightly then, and be worthy to bear upon our escutcheon the words

“Deeds Speak.”