

RATS WREAK REVENGE!

For all the gory
details in living
colour, see inside...

Students to sell
legal drugs

The Daily Nuisance

Circulation: 20,000 copies sold; 60,000 borrowed

Thursday,
February 30, 1986

★★★★ Bedford Sackville: No circulation

MIKE ATTACK — 1960's guru Dr. Timothy Bleary tries to protect himself moments before a fatal attack by killer microphone. (Luklow)

TRAGEDY!

Dad despondent...

Port Dufferin's Dating Dog Dead!!!

DREDGE FENWICK

As the number of violence-related deaths increase in Halifax, yet another incident occurred this past weekend in the Port Dufferin area.

Lassoo, a pure-bred German Shepherd, was brutally shot in the head on his way home from visiting his girl-friend Sunday night.

"This sort of thing is very frequent in an area that contains a high concentration of dogs," says Gorden Hare, Director of Zoology from the Zoology Institute of Port Dufferin (ZIP).

Hare says the main reason for these attacks seems to be because these dogs walk the streets so often alone late at night. "They are an easy target," says Hare. "We are completely devastated by what happened," says Mr. Hound, Lassoo's father. "We called all the relatives from away and had Lassoo's funeral on Tuesday night.

Lassoo was buried in the ZIP cemetery in a plot next to his best friend Ralph. "The fun-

MAN MURDERED BY MIKE

by POL
WITHERED

1960's guru Dr. Timothy Bleary was attacked, mangled, and murdered last night by a seeming enraged and irate microphone.

Bleary was addressing a group of geriatrics about the dangerous side effects of tie-dyed shirts at the Halifax Home for the Deceprit when the attack occurred.

Bleary had just started his discussion of different types of dyes and their varying effects when the microphones lunged at the helpless lecturer, wrestling him to the ground and proceeding to strangle him to death. Approximately 150 old and senile residents watched in horror at the event.

"It was something to see. I remember back in '42 when the same thing happened to my dear old dad. Of course it wasn't a microphone, it was a mango back then, but it's sort of the same," recalled Jeb Smith, a long-time resident of the home.

By the time the aides got to Bleary it was too late. One microphone had been securely lodged in his windpipe, while the other was wrapped tightly around his throat. The con-vulsed look on Bleary's face was only slightly worse than the above photograph.

It is believed by this reporter that Bleary had some premonition of the attack. Before the lecture, in a private interview, Bleary spoke out on the chance of an assassination.

"There are many people and things out there who don't understand or appreciate my views. For that reason I'm always packing a little heat, yes some A-6-46 muscle relaxant. There have been others that have gone before me that have not gotten away as lucky as I have.

Just last week in Chicago my wife threw a shoe at me. Let me tell you and your readers in this business you always have to be on your guard."

The world will truly miss Dr. Bleary and his award-winning books such as You and Your Tie-dyed, LSD is You, and who will ever forget My House is Inhabited by John Lennon's Ghost.

The police are currently investigating the murder, in the meantime the microphone is in custody while the extension cord is being sought for questioning.

Public phones rip you off?

Too Bad.

A helpful thought from:

M Tee and Tee

