

Bog Spavin

Cure the lameness and remove the bunch without scarring the horse—have the part looking just as it did before the blemish came.

Fleming's Spavin Cure (Liquid) is a special remedy for soft and semi-solid blemishes—Bog Spavin, Thoroughpin, Splint, Curb, Capped Hock, etc. It is neither a liniment nor a simple blister, but a remedy unlike any other—doesn't irritate and can't be imitated. Easy to use, only a little required, and your money back if it ever fails.

Fleming's Vest-Pocket Veterinary Adviser

describes and illustrates all kinds of blemishes and gives you the information you ought to have before ordering or buying any kind of a remedy. Mailed free if you write.

EVERY WOMAN WHO SUFFERS

Can Find Sure Relief in Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Mrs. J. Oliver Tells How She Lost Her Pains and Weakness When She Used the Old Reliable Kidney Remedy.

Elgin, Ont., April 12.—(Special).—Women who suffer, and there are thousands of them in Canada, will hear with interest the experience of Mrs. J. Oliver of this place. She has suffered and found a cure, and she has no hesitation in saying that cure is Dodd's Kidney Pills.

"I suffered for over a year from Backache and Fainting Spells," Mrs. Oliver states. "I was tired and nervous all the time, and the least exertion would make me perspire freely. My feet and ankles would swell, and I had a dragging sensation across the loins. I saw Dodd's Kidney Pills advertised and bought some. Twelve boxes cured me."

All women who suffer should use Dodd's Kidney Pills. They make healthy kidneys, and healthy kidneys are the first rule of health for women. The female organs depend almost entirely on the kidneys for their health. No woman can hope to be healthy and happy unless her kidneys are right. The kidneys need occasional help, or they must become tired or sick. And almost any woman can tell you out of her own experience that Dodd's Kidney Pills are the help they need.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS. Miscellaneous.

MATERIAL FOR BASEMENT WALL.

As I am going to build a barn, with a stone basement under same, I would like to know how much stone, lime and sand it would take for a wall 36x48 ft.; wall to be 8 feet high; stone of the average quality.

H. K.
Ans.—For information of this kind relating to ordinary tradesmen's calculations, consult a mason. Any contractor would cheerfully calculate the amount of material required in such a case. "The Farmer's Advocate" receives so many inquiries for information which cannot well be locally obtained, that we must ask our readers not to refer to us questions which can be answered conveniently in the neighborhood.

SILLO QUERIES.

I saw in the last number of "The Farmer's Advocate" where a man intended building a silo in the barn.

1. Which would you recommend, building it outside the barn or inside?
2. What material gives best satisfaction, the plank, cement concrete, or cement blocks? Also, where could a person get the rings to build one?

J. E. M.
Ans.—1. Except in very exceptional cases, we advise building outside. Sometimes, in severe climates, where a man has more barn room than he needs, and can build a silo to a good height inside, say 26 or 30 feet, and can provide a good cement foundation with drainage to keep the site dry, it may be admissible to build inside, but usually it is better to erect the silo outside.

2. For a permanent silo, where material can be obtained with reasonable convenience, cement concrete or cement blocks are to be recommended. The block silo is slightly more expensive than the solid cement concrete (an expert says 8 per cent. more), but keeps the silage with less freezing, which is an advantage. Cement-block silos are not yet numerous in Canada, but those who have them appear to like and recommend them. If you wish to build solid cement, the London Concrete-machinery Co., who advertise in this paper the adjustable steel silo curbs, will sell you a set or may be able to recommend a contractor in your vicinity who has one, and would build a cement-concrete silo for you.

MILK WELLS—BREED COLORS, ETC.

1. Is a cow with two milk holes about 2 or 3 inches apart at the end of the milk vein, where it comes out of the belly, likely to be a greater milk producer than one with a single hole?

2. Are there any pure-bred Jerseys with white markings on the shoulders or back or belly? If so, are they objectionable?

3. How are the Guernseys compared with the Jerseys for size and for milk and butter producers? Are there any breeders of Guernseys in Ontario?

4. What is the proper color for a Holstein bull? What is the best colored bull to breed to to get proper marked heifer calves?

5. What would be a good book to buy on the feeding and training of trotting or pacing colts?

G. McK.
Ans.—1. Large and tortuous milk veins and large and deep milk wells, so called, are generally considered indications of large milk production, though not infallible. We have not known the claim to be held that two wells are indicative of greater milk production than one.

2. Yes, many. White markings are neither objectionable nor disqualifying, under the registration rules. Many of the best of the breed have white markings.

3. Guernseys, as a rule, are somewhat larger than Jerseys. For production they are about equal. No Ontario Guernseys have been advertised or exhibited at leading shows recently.

4. Black and white, or white and black. Latterly a preponderance of white appears to be most popular, other qualifications being equal, but descent from heavy producing stock together with constitution and approved conformation, is of much more importance than color.

5. Geer's Experience with Trotters and Pacers; price, $2.00, postpaid, from this office.
