Subscription Rates (Daily Edition) W. H. MORTON, Business Manager. Editor-in-Chief.

WEDNESDAY, SEPTEMBER 12, 1917

THOSE WHO COULD NOT GO

A word for the men who have done their best to get overseas and have failed. Thouswhich they could not control. Everyone who Since his return from Russia, Mr. Root has when the roll was called it appeared that there were 1,003 surhas watched the armies of Canada surge to-been giving his countrymen much light on the vivors of the Lutzow: 597 men had ward the battlefield know the stories of young war, not only as it affects Europe, but also this perished in the battle." men who could not, despite the finest of im-continent. Addressing the American Bar As pulses, answer the call that burned in their sociation a few days ago he said: ears through days and nights. Parental restraint has held scores from going. Especially when the home life has been very close and steadfast between son and mother, when her wish is his command, it has been next to impossible for him to go. At other times responsibilities in business assumed have been too great for those who would have joined. They found themselves enmeshed in cares and difficulties and burden assumed before the war that could not be laid aside. Try as they would these men saw their duty lay with their tasks, and a man is the only one who can see his duty. Oftentimes it is more difficult for a man to keep out of khaki than to put it on, and those who faced the insistent demand: "Why aren't YOU in khaki?" without flinching, and stuck to the post which they believed needed them, were often more courageous than those who were coerced into the service. When the history of Canada's recruiting has been dispassionately surveyed, it will probably be said that inspiration from Ottawa was wholly lacking, and that badgering recruiting methods suggested from Ottawa drove more men away than they brought into the army.

ANTI-BRITISH NEW YORKERS

considered worthy of public notice, some news- bility of democratic government. paper diversion is being gained on the question as to whether anyone in the United States likes an "Englishman," and by way of explanation, it may be said that in the big United States of America, with the exception of a few rods and let us do so by satisfying them that we are or at any rate, might have been seen and let us do so by satisfying them that we are or at any rate, might have been seen and let us do so by satisfying them that we are or at any rate, might have been seen and let us do so by satisfying them that we are or at any rate, might have been seen and let us do so by satisfying them that we are or at any rate, might have been seen and let us do so by satisfying them that we are or at any rate, might have been seen and let us do so by satisfying them that we are or at any rate, might have been seen and let us do so by satisfying them that we are in the big city and complain that he could not gram can be carried out by smuggling into Ger-shoulders than their own—all of it, get employment because of anti-British feeling many literature explaining the Allied aims. The feeling was there, and many would not Sir Edward Carson has another theory:— military organization—and that the Cossacks have intelligence as well as ent controversy arose through a letter from an been in vain; that the world will unite against their own judgment and initiative.

While so many other sections of the section of t American who could not get employment be-the accursed militarism for which their Gov-the Russian army became utterly decause he was mistaken for an Englishman. A erament stands. Canadian, who takes up the subject, says he was rejected at most places where he applied, most likely to succeed. It is all very well to tell dulged in no wild vagaries in regard to a ruinous and treacherous peace to a ruinous and treacherous peace his experience with one man, American-born:
"You're English," he remarked with an inane
"You're English," he remarked with an inane disassociate themselves from Prussianism. If "You're English," he remarked with an inane smile, shaking his head as he spoke, "No," I replied, "I'm a Canadian." "That's just as bad," policy, the war must be fought against them as which they have sent to Petrograd policy, the war must be fought against them as

and probably after it is ended New York em-bring about a revolution, which is the plan of and it is upon the latter, evidently, ployers will continue to exercise their right to the peace advocates. employ whom they wish, and out-of-work Ca-

ON TO THE FALL

The screeching press that cries 'Disloyal!' at everyone who does not shout for Borden, less. may be instrumental in bringing the Canadian government into a peculiar state. Canadians are for winning the war, and ready to abide by and to support the conscription law on the statute books, but the goads of rank partisans may cause to set in a madness of radicalism that in the name of denouncing both parties as unfitted to govern may place Radicalism and Nationalism in control at Ottawa. Those who say the people of Canada would have turned down a conscription refer- The flush of spring upon the hawthorn spray, endum, apparently do not realize that in the same breath they declared that those who support conscription must surely be defeated. If of time to bring up all the wounded, too they are scription everywhere conscription itself was to be defeated, how do for they are scattered everywhere. they reason that the embodiments of conscription to be carried up, but all the rest who tion, in the persons of the candidates, can win? could not walk or crawl had to be The only thing that can save the Tories, it is eff behind. safe to infer, according to their own reasoning, dynamo chamber had heard the is election manipulation.

Food control for the food interests, C.N.R. two of their number lay bound bescandals, the prospect of a slackening of munitions to throw labor temporarily into the mar- sealed-up men had continued to ket, these things call out to Radicalism to carry on their work in order to provide the ship with light. sweep into power. The present is a time for the sanest of Liberalism to pledge itself to the took off the crew of the Lutzow, and those left behind were doomed to saving of this country, the very existence of death. It was resolved that no piece whose stability may be threatened by autocrats of the vessel should fall into the enemy's hands. An order was given and gamesters who are ready as in 1911, to win and a torpedo cleft the waters. Just by any means at their command.

MR. ROOT'S CAMPAIGN.

If there are any pro-German hyphenated the torpedo exploded, the Lutzow's Americans left in the United States, it is likely rose until she stood on end. Then ands have been disqualified for physical unfitthat they will try to hide their identity before great whirlpool that carried everyTorpedoed by ness, and many because of circumstances Elihu Root gets through making speeches. great whiripool that carried e

"If you maintain your democracy you Cry Clears All But Members From must kill autocracy. As well go to sleep with a burglar sitting in your front hall as to talk about peace and security of a democracy with footpad threatened the late traveler. Germany still competent to pursue its career It used to be as much as a member's pe of domination.

"If we had not gone into this war and home alone. So when the hour their shipmates. Germany had succeeded and had come out struck there was a cry of "Who goes After describing the first part of home?"—that parties of a dozen or the battle and telling how the arwith her power unbroken, and had applied to more might be formed to go across rival of British battleships turned us what she did to Serbia and Belgium, what the park to the corner, or to Pall the tables on the Germans, Krug would have Germany have been doing to us Mall. would have Germany have been doing to us It is not generally known that a "Suddenly the entire ship is rough- der now?" What would Germany have been do- member may have all strangers by shaken. The colossus heaves far the ing to us during the last five months if she ejected from the House if he wishes over, and everything that is not fixed to be "nasty." had not been held down in Europe? Why, her heel would have been upon our necks.

to be "nasty."

He has only to rise and say, "Mr. torpedo pierces the fore part of the Speaker, sir, I spy strengers"—as if he had just that mement caught wood, metal, parts of bodies, smash-

"So our entrance into the war has been sight of the people in the strangers', ed ship's implements are all inter- France, of disms phering Italy, the grasping at the chance for the preservative press galleries—and the whole chance spared, continues to shine everywhere. If they had triumphed, tion of our system of government, our right lot must be turned out. of American manhood to assert the rights of Prince of Wales he strolled into the dynamo room, there is still life. Commons to listen to a debate, and the lote Mr. Joseph Biggar a very light of the lote Mr. Joseph Biggar a very light of the lote Mr. Joseph Biggar a very light of the lote Mr. Joseph Biggar a very light of the lote Mr. Joseph Biggar a very light of the lote Mr. Joseph Biggar a very light of the lote Mr. Joseph Biggar a very light of the lote Mr. Joseph Biggar a very light of the lote Mr. Joseph Biggar a very light of the lote Mr. Joseph Biggar a very light of the lote Mr. Joseph Biggar a very light of the lote Mr. Joseph Biggar a very light of the lote Mr. Joseph Biggar a very light of the lote of the l power, the one chance to continue the free imp of mischief, caught sight of him. have been spared, but the chamber been so converted. Just for this rearepublic that our fathers handed down to us. In an instant he was on his feet. "Mr. And our vigorous successful prosecution of called, and the heir-apparent to the called the call this war is the sole way in which we can throne had to walk out. It is more 38-centimeter shells squarely hit make that chance successful."

From the first, Mr. Root has had a clear conception of what the war meant. His voice was lifted high for American intervention long of Cossacks had not been a stranger before the president acted. He has returned to to so many minds, possibly the pre-In the big town of New York, where only a America more determined than ever that his sent very obvious opportunity to do the ship. The entire fore part of the versel as just that would not come as the surfew very wealthy persons, a particularly fiend-country should play its part in suppressing the prise it does to most of us. We have ish murderer or an occasional pretty actress is military monster who is threatening the sta-

PLANS FOR PEACE Let us show the people of Germany the fu- neavy wings.

That conception, of course, is not long the frontier, an "Englishman" is known in this war for humanitarian purposes only. that in all these cases the Cossacks were illustrating the soldierly qualto many as anyone who owes allegiance to the When they see this fact, they will cease to fight ity of executing without question the British crown. The war has brought it on. against us, and will overthrow their present orders that had come down to them from the commander-in-chief of the Previous to the year 1917 no Canadian would government. This is the proposal of the peace army of which they were a trusted have had the temerity to write to a newspaper advocate who goes on to declare that the pro- and highly efficient part. Responsibility for their acts rested on other hesitate to tell him so. Of course, there were Let us show the Germans the futility of war by courage has been shown by the attidecisively beating them, and proving to them tude which they have taken since the revolution gave them their first It is particularly interesting that the pres- that their forty years of preparation have all chance without disloyalty to act on

Of the two views, Carson's appears the sense of discipline. because of his nationality. He thus described the German people that the war is not directed with the enemies of free Russia and he retorted. "We don't want either in this esthe representatives of the abhorred regime, sense with most of the other expres-There is little hope of reaching the masses by the Russian soldiers around whose Of course, the discussion is not one-sided, written propaganda to such an extent as to name cluster no such evil associations as around that of the Cossacks,

So weaken the Germans, in a military way, rely most confidentally for help in So weaken the Germans, in a military way, carrying out its plans.—New York nadians will have the privilege of returning to that they cannot diregard peace treaties, is Times. Canada to "accept a position." But the anti- Carson's advice, and no one can doubt the ef-British feeling will be softened by brotherhood fectiveness of this plan. It will cost many lives on both sides, and entail much suffering, no article of jewelry more useful but its results will not be so terrible as another than the watch, it seems hard to stow war. In the end it may be the only satisfactory been tucked away in vest pockets and method of dealing with the problem. Certainly chain or an inconspicuous ribbon, and has adorned the wrists of all classes.

A WOODEN CROSS

Somewhere in No Man's Land a wooden cross Swept by the rain and beaten by the sun! Pathetic? Yes, and yet how small a loss: Among the many thousand crosses—one!

How small a loss, you say; but nay, but nay! To a fair maid who cannot see for tears It means the tragic darkening of the years.

-Clinton Scollard.

Eighteen men had the good fortune

"The 27 men shut up in the Diesel order through the speaking-tube for help, and it was learned that "The torpedo-boats now quickly then seven men were to be seen running like madmen round the red Over-fatigued as they were, they had apparently dropped off to published at The Hague. It is be- superior races. sleep and only just awakened. As bow quickly dipped, and the stern

"I SPY STRANGERS."

House of Commons.

ljoke.

Cossacks Are Not Awful.

Cossacks only as the ruthless instruments of an archaic despotism-to picture them as wild horsemen riding. through a crowd of helpless civilians and beating them brutally with heavy whips.

moralized as soon as the Czar fell. the Cossacks have preserved their that the provisional government can

A Buttonhole Watch.

In spite of the fact that there i spicuous location yet chosen for it is in the buttonhole of a coat lapel. The buttonhole watch is necessarily tiny, and fits into a gunmetal case which resembles a large-sized collarbutton in shape. When worn merely for the convenience of the owner the watch is usually turned upside down, further encounter. But at 3 o'clock so that the time may be seen at a downward glance, without even lift- two British cruisers and five destroying the lapel of the coat.

It is said that the diminutive size of the watch does not interfere with the accuracy of the works.- Popular Science Monthly.

congulaption is about ten great as that of France.

STORY OF JUTLAND BATTLE TOLD BY GERMAN.

The First Description of Admiral Beatty's Victory From the Point of View of the Teuton Sailors to Reach English-speaking Public Comes From The Hague.

some of the newest and largest of the German battle cruisers 1916, are vividly described by P. Krug, one of the Lutzow's survivors, in a pamphelt which has just been ceptionally subject to exploitation by plaiting should be twice as thick. lieved to be the first detailed story of that great battle, from the point of view of the German sailor, to reach Torpedoed by a British warship early in the engagement, the Lutzow. which was the flagship of Admiral Hipper, was hammered unmercifully by the big guns of the British vessels, and soon became a complete wreck, a "ship of the dead," as Krug describes her.

According to his story, twentyseven German sailors were trapped and remained there when the Lutzow, a disabled hulk, was abandoned sent to the bottom by a toro from a German destroyer. Two their right disputed to enjoy life was worth-and certainly more of these imprisoned men had been driven insane and were kept tied by

After describing the first part of

upon this sight.

than probable that he enjoyed the their mark, working terrible havoc. The first hits the wireless departthe apparatus, there is nothing more Nothing is left but a smoking heap of ruins. The second The entire fore part of the vessel as to the other, the opinions and sentifar as the Diesel motor room was past saving. Another broadside meant for the Lutzow fell short, but a torpedo boat idealism and sentimentalism do not close by disappeared, leaving only a few odd pieces of wood and a smash- tics of a nation, and that ed lifeboat drifting round. It is now things, like individuals, take into half past seven, and the hostile circle account only their own convenience grows ever smaller. The Lutzow and their own needs. Governments ideas of others. They should have the Seydlitz fie with their bows deep of democratic countries cannot deben quicker to adopt war methods, in the water; both are badly mauled. part from this line of conduct with-The fore part of the Lutzow was in out incurring terrible responsibility. ship's side in rapid succession. ship's side in rapid succession. A and invariable, although we may terrible sight is presented on board have at hand the grand and noble the Lutzow, and it needs iron nerves example of Belgium and the United to look upon it coolly. Hundreds have lost their lives, while many have lain for hours in torture, and convenience and the material interthe fight is not yet over. The bow is now crushed in, and is entirely submerged. The four screws are already | Argentine Republic, in particular, to sticking half out of the water, so that the Lutzow can only make eight to ten knots an hour as against the normal 32.

The Admiral decides to transfer to the Moltke. He gives orders to turn and get away from the scene of the fight, but the Lutzow has not gone a mile before she receives a broadside of 38-centimeter shells. The entire ship was filled with the poisonous fumes of the shells, and anyone who failed to affix his gas mask was doomed to be suffocated. "It was three quarters of an hour before the lighting installation was Then for the first time could the extent of the damage wrought by the salvo be seen. One of the shells had landed in the sick Here there were three doctors and fifteen attendants besides 160 to 180 wounded. Of all these only four remained alive. These four were hurled into the next compartment by the air pressure; there they lay unconscious.

"The Lutzow was now a complete wreck. Corpses drifted past. From the bows up to the first 30-centi meter gun-turret the ship lay sub merged. The other gun-turrets were completely disabled, with the guns sticking out in all directions. On deck lay the bodies of sailors in their torn uniforms in the midst of the empty shell cases. From the masts fluttered torn flags, twisted signal lines, and pieces of wire of the wire-less installation. Had not the lookout man and the three officers on the as adorned the wrists of all classes. commander's bridge given signs of But the very latest and most con- life, the Lutzow would have truly resembled a ship of the dead. on the battery deck and in the coal bunkers, there still lay innumerable wounded, but there was no longer a doctor to attend to them.

"Night came on and hope was entertained of getting away without a in the night news of the approach of bulkheads gave way.

arises on the lower deck, for every-Royal Gardens at Kew in 1892."-

SEES GERMAN MENACE.

Latin Races in South America Were Being Exploited by Teutons.

How the European war has ennanced the solidarity of South American peoples is discussed in a long article in La Nacion (Buenes Aires) under the heading, "The War and Latin America." This article satirically reviews the German frightfulness campaign as a phase of twen-CENES on board the German tieth century culture, and shows how, modesty my idea to the highly comflagship Lutzow during the the Latin race is represented in op-Jutland naval battle, when position through the action of France following explanatory remarks: and Italy. The article declares that the German conception of France was that of a center of corruption; of were battered or sunk by Admiral Italy as that of a nation of mandelin rine destroyer, built with the object Beatty's British squadron in June, players and punchinellos; of Spain as of sinking U-boats, should be twice that of a comatose and ineffective or- the size of the boat it has to at ganism; and of the Latin-American peoples as proud and useless, and ex- and diving capacity, the extended

"Even when these concepts could not be expressed openly," says this article, "they were the opinions which predominated in the thought of the German people, especially in the upper classes, and they contemplated only one privileged race, that was the Teutonic." The article continues: "In this great war it, is only a question of the right of existence for small nations, respect for international treaties, and the reat matters that have been repeatedly set forth; it is also a question of races, a question whether the in the Diesel dynamo room before people of the Latin race have a the battle had/been long in progress right, not so much to the predominance and pre-eminence which the Germans assume, but to be respected, to live in peace, without having have legitimately achieved. extraordinary occurrences since August, 1914, have imposed sweep nodifications upon the ideas termans. Amazed at the her nacious resistance of the Re , French, and Italians, they intalk no more of Latin decr , and they have lost much of infatuation and pride which they at the beginning of the war but it is none the less certain that fore receiving the chastiseme ich has been given them, the and the intention of annihilating more than one growing country "Two decks lowe", in the Diesel would have been converted into a German province, just as the other certain Latin nations. Since the first moment all the sympathy and preference of the people of Spanish speech ment. Of the twelve living men who ought to have been eloquently and a moment ago were seated before unwaveringly expressed in favor of the people of their own race, of the people of France. Fortunately, that which was inevitable is coming to pass. From one side of the continent ments of all peoples are unifying in favor of the great Latin family. "Many object, no doubt, that amount to much in the foreign poli-Shells burst against the Let us accept the theory as exact ests would impel the people of Latin America in general, and the incline to the side of England/ France, and Italy. We have close bonds and a debt of gratitude between us and these great nations." The article reviews the way in which England through her contal. France through her art and literature, and Italy through lavor, aided the development of South American countries, and declares that it is certain that many of those organized undertakings and deveopments would pass into German hands if Germany should win the war. It says: "During the war the Germans have revealed their intentions too clearly for us not to tremble at the idea of having the domination of the seas and supremacy in finance pass into their hands. On the day n which the Germans should find hemselves without competition they would impose their militarism and subject everything to the common domination of a discipline which adnits no resistance or discussion which does away with volition and ompels subjection and obedience.

In 1911 the then Governor of Queensland, Sir William MacGregor, obtained from Sabal Island, Torres Strait, information on the subject of the diameter of space to which root cords spread out from the base of cocoanut trees, and handed the report to the Agricultural Journal for tral States will put up as strong a publication. While discussing the root question, his Excellency stated that in Hawaii he had been handed a cocoanut for refreshment and that he found inside it a valuable pearl. He saw the cocoanut opened, and was quite sure the pearl was not dropped into it. He gave the pearl to a lady, who afterwards were it at a court who afterwards wore it at a court function in London, Singularly enough, says the Journal, we find in a book on "Tropical Agriculture," by H. A. Alford Nicholls, M.D., the following remarkable confirmation of ers was received, and just at that critical time the fore and middle the enterior of pearls in cocoanuts. The author says, when describing the various parts of the nut, "Finally the accuracy of the works.—Popular . "Orders were given to carry wick-cience Monthly." In the wounded to the stern. Then the order rings out: 'All hands mus-tereat Britain's per cap'ta coal ter in division order abaft.' A tumulit men was added to the museum of the Use Subs To Fight Subs

T is as a neutral, devoted friend of the Allied cause, says Dr. R. Anema, described in The London Daily Mail as a well-known Dutch thinker, that I propose in all petent advisers of the Allies, with the Qualities a fleet of submersible de stroyers should possess: The subma should have double the surface s that of its adversary, and its arma ment should be twice as powerful.

Supposing Germany possesses 30 submarines, the Allies should have fleet of 3,000 submersible destroyer to chase the 300 pirates. This flee of submersible destroyers should be divided into different squadrons, t be stationed in waters which th pirate mostly haunts. Each squadron should be ready to start out as soo as a German pirate has been signale in its zone Why the technical success of submarine destroyer seems to be Taking the submarine a exists, the application of my id from a technical point of view this advantage, that it has not through the stages incumbent altogether new invention. The cessary stages of every new tion are: (1) The conception of idea in all its technical details; the trials and experiments before idea can be put into practice. this means time, which, at the ent, is an exceedingly valu factor. Why the submersible desired should be more practical . than the surface destroyer: Why do I imagine that the submarine itself can made specially effective in hunting the submarine? In answering this question I would recall the habits of a certain tiny Javanese duck which lives almost as well under as above water. In presence of danger it dives, usually long before the hunter can reach it, just as the German submarine dives as soon as it smells To approach the duck the hunter makes himself almost invisible. His gun lying in front of him on the bow of the boat, he lies prone in an extremely low and small canoe, paddled by a clever little native. Were he able to convert his surface canoe at will into a submersible, to dive and reappear close to the flock of ducks, he certainly would have a better chance of surprising them than now, when he has to remain a long way off and trust to a skill that few shots possess.

The ocean-going German submarine (we know this from the logbooks of their commanders) keeps submersible destroyer would have another advantage over the surface destroyer: that of being able to make itself invisible by diving if attached. Lack of adaptability, a weakness of the Allies in this war: I believe that the Allies in this war have often been behindhand in adopting the se of the Germans, who, hav ing prepared for almost half a century for this war, doubtless had devices worthy of imitation. their ideas was the siege guns which reduced Liege and made Charleroi possible. An instance of German adaptation is the zeppelin, an engine not their originally, but which in their hands has become a force in naval battles. Then there is the submarine.

I am of the opinion that the Allies underrated the technical capacities of their opponents. To underrate one's enemy is a mistake. Even now, after nearly three years of war experience one hears intelligent people say that the Germans only imitate. For argu-There are, however, moments when he adaptation of principles and devices proves more useful than new inventions. The Germans have realized this. They adapted such inventions as the dirigible, aeroplane, and ed" engines they are doing an immense amount of harm, so much so that at a certain moment it looked as if the pretended submarine blockade of the English coast had be a reality. I sincerely hope the Allies will take this lesson to heart. I am convinced they can do it now by adapting an invention of their own, that of the submarine, and building a large fleet of submersible destroy-It should not take them long, now that America is with them, launch some 3,000 speedy, heavily-armed undersea destroyers This undersea fleet would, I believe, soon out-manoeuvre, if not altogether destroy the relatively small umber of German pirates manning her U-boats. The war is not over yet, and the victory of the Allies is still some way off. I, who know the Germans, am convinced that the Cendefensive action as the offensive with which they began. The declaration that the decision of this war lies on the seas becomes more and more to the other excellent measures of defence and attack alrady in existsure, soon cure the German subma-rine evil. This is the opinion of a neutral who since the beginning of the war has done his duty towards the cause of the Allies, their cause being his, as it is that of all hu-

The world's consumption of tea

Vincent.

office in Officers as I wa see the Wall s There kind of for I "aces" the batt modest observed young a risk thei and nigh were o "They When of the M eye of movemen in Frenc had who well. N pert aer through efficiently whether I ment for replied:-

try.

Americ "Do need of matter? and she of aviatio fore, req America requisite: side of plished a zation w Already regard t great nu enter av part in

"I not quently a aeroplan that at o 30,000 40,000 This is all to pr of the pr many ae