JOYOUS DAY OF THE YEAR.

Fitting Christmas Celebration in the Catholic Churches.

Before dawn streaked the eastern sky churches of the city were pealing out a clear, sweet, joyous welcome to Christmas morning, while the voices of hundreds of children swelled the praises to the new born King. mas morning, while the voices of and dreds of children swelled the praises to the new born King. The most important feast of the ecclesiastical calendar, as usual, it was celebrated with all the pomp and ceremony that marks the observance of great festivals by the Catholic church.

In all the churches special masses were celebrated in the morning, followed by vespers in the evening. The children of the parish schools sang Christmas hymns at the early masses and the altars were elaborately decorated and brilliantly illuminated. At St. Mary's Cathedral the first service at 6 o'clock in the morning saw the big edifice rowded to capacity. Mass was celebrated every half-hour until 9 o'clock, and many of the faithful attended three and four masses.

At 10.30 high mass was celebrated by his Lordship Bishop Dowling, who, at the conclusion of the service, commented briefly on the significance of the great festival.

In all the churches miniature repro ductions of the manger at Bethlehem vividly reminded the faithful who knelt the foot of the crib of the story of the Saviour's birth. The contributions dropped in the collection boxes go to the poor.

New Year's Day will be a holy day of obligation in the Catholic churches. In the afternoon his Lordship will hold a reception at his residence from 2.30 until 5 o'clock in the afternoon.

GREATNESS OF SAVIOUR.

Subject of Bishop DuMoulin's Address at Cathedral.

Christ's Church Cathedral was well filled on Saturday morning, when Bishop DuMoulin preached his annual Christma The services were especially sermon. The services were especially appropriate, and the bishop's address was equally as interesting. His subject dealt with the greatness of Jesus, as foretold to Mary by the angel. His birth, the bishop said, was great, as a birth announced by a multitude of heavenly hosts had never been witnessed by the world before or since. The child: heavenly hosts had never been witnessed by the world before or since. The child-bood of Jesus was great, for at the age of twelve He astonished the vise men of His age by the wisdom of His answers. He was great as a young man, when He came forth from the obscurity of His home and entered into His public min-istry, every step of which was marked and characterized by great teachings. The teachings of Buddhism or Con-fucianism never contained the philoso-phy or ethics that the teachings of Jesus did. He not only taught the purest and highest principles of morality, but was the means of lifting me to fellow-hip means of lifting me to fellow-hip their Creator. No teacher since with their Creator. No teacher since the world began ever taught mankind ay such signs and wonders as ite had, the asserted His power in performing mitracles to conform His teachings, and although many other men, before and simee, had professed to work miracles, mone had done so. In conclusion, the bishop referred to the greatness of Jesus after the resurrection. Earthly kingdoms, he said, would not maintain borever, but after their mission was combleted Jesus would take over all aupleted Jesus would take over all au-thority and establish a kingdom that

KNOX MEN.

T. C. Robinette Spoke at Sunday Afternoon Meeting.

There was a large attendance at the men's meetnig in Knox Church yesterday afternoon to hear Mr. T. C. Robinand practical address on "Indifference When a man, he said, was indifferent to the welfare of others, and committed to the welfare of others, and committed murder, manslaughter or other criminal offences, it was within the power of the law to punish him for such indifference on his part. But there was a vast amount of indifference that could not be punished or reached by the law, but punished or reached by the law, but which, nevertheless, brought punishment with it. If a person was indifferent to the rules of health, to the home ard social life and to the moral laws, the punishment would follow. Not So Easy to Walk at That Rate as Many Persons Irragine.

There is nothing that the average person believes more implicitly than that he can walk four miles in an hour easily. Almost any one will say: "We were out walking for an hour and a half to-day. Let me see, four miles an hour: that makes six mines we went," and he is convinced that is the ground his party covered.

That same average person has only to That same average person has only to try to walk four miles in sixty minutes to discover that it is good stiff going. There are many more folks who cover three miles in the time when they think they are going at the rate of a mile better than there are who actually know the pace they are making.

It is an easy thing to determine. For instance, one man started at 110th
