

FADELESS IS A LOVING HEART.

Many eyes may lose their brightness;
Noble feet forget their tightness;
Pearly teeth may grow decay;

TEMPERANCE

Mr. T. S. Brown, in recording the Rev. Mr. McLeod's Resolutions, at the Anniversary of the Montreal Temperance Society, remarked:-

To hear some people's remarks upon interfering with the liquor trade, one would suppose a delicate thing that had never been touched by the authorities. Why it had been like a street vagabond, always in the hands of the police, from the beginning.

There had been already more acts of Parliament passed for regulating the traffic, than would oblige the largest church on the continent, and yet it was all butch-work, standing like the roof of a drunkard's barn only half finished.

But some cry out, that this is a terrible invasion of private, or individual liberty. Really if men considered but a moment, they would never give utterance to such nonsense. What else is civilization, but the restriction of private liberty?
