Supt. Hanrahan's School Report.

Supt. Hanrahan in his annual report of the Roman Catholic Schools, of the Diocese of Harbor Grace, points out the increasing difficulty of visitation and inspection during the past ten years, owing to the increase in the number of schools. He states: "As will be readily understood, inspection and visitation of all the schools along such an extended portion of the coast line of Newfoundland and Labrador, becomes more and more difficult with the great increase in the number of schools witnessed during the past decade. The nature of our coast line is such, and the modes of travel so various, that this part of the Superintendent's work is not accomplished without difficulty, hardship, and (very often) danger. The portion of the year most favorable to this work is the time of the mid-summer vacation when all the schools are closed. The month of September is partly taken up with the results of the C.H.E. Examinations, so the work of inspection occurs at the stormiest time of the year in Newfoundland. Under such circumstances it is impossible to visit all the schools; so that, as in previous years, while every educational district has been visited, a few isolated localities have not been seen."
As to salaries, Mr. Hanrahan declares that—
"The outlook for the female teacher is not at all discouraging, and places her in contrast with those who enter other avenues of employment open to females in this country, in a by no means inferior position. But for the male teacher, especially the man with a family, a great deal yet remains to be done. There should be some means whereby this matter could be dealt with specifically. There should be an amount laid down as the minimum for male teachers, which with their augmentation would place them in independent circumstances and enable them to devote their whole energies to their work, instead of being compelled, as at present in many cases, to divide their attention between their school and some auxiliary means of gaining a livelihood."

Mr. and Mrs. P. J. Walsh Celebrates the Fiftieth Anniversary of Their Marriage.

Fifty years yesterday our old and respected fellowtownsman, Mr. Patrick J. Walsh, of H. M. Customs, led to the altar Miss Catherine Griffin, of Waterford, Ireland. Mr. Walsh is hale and hearty, and although he is over eighty years he regularly attends to his duties in the Customs. Mrs. Walsh is seventy-nine and enjoys fairly good health. The old couple were favoured yesterday by a number of relatives and friends calling on them to offer their congratulations and good wishes.

The only surviving child is Mrs. E. M. Jackman. Both her husband and the five grand sons and one grand daughter were present yesterday at the family reunion. The bridesmaid at the wedding was Miss Ellen Griffin, of Sydney, C.B., and the best man was Mr. Peter Walsh, of Montreal, both are living and sent their congratulations. The Telegram wishes the Jubilarians Ad Multos Annos.

MONDAY, May 26, 1913.
Bell's Moth Bags for which there have been many enquiries of late have now arrived and are on sale. The price varies according to length—they are all, with the exception of the smallest size, of the same breadth. These Moth Bags are a certain preventive to the ravages of moths, and will protect garments placed in them from stains, dust, etc. They are light and odorless and take up little or no room. They have during the last two seasons been most successful for the purpose for which they are intended. Get one or more for your furs and winter garments. Prices from 25 to 80 cents each, according to size.

Meets Mishap.

When the Fogota was leaving Change Islands last week to come south and while she was hauling off from Robertson's wharf she ran close to a rock there, and the propeller striking it two of the blades were carried away. It did not, however, affect the ship's speed, but she must be docked to get two new blades adjusted. As the dry dock here is not available the ship will likely go on the dock in Harbour Grace.

Portia Back.

The s.s. Portia, Capt. J. Keen, returned from western ports this morning, having been as far as Bonne Bay. She brought a full freight and as passengers: Messrs. Connolly, Murphy, Fagan, Richards, Harter, Ellis, W. J. Burke, Mesdames (Canon) Bishop, J. Camp, Condy, Power; Misses Keam, Roach, Fleming, Murphy, Dinn and 20 in steerage.

Schr. Lost at Blackhead.

SCHL. ATHLON LOST LAST NIGHT AT BLACKHEAD.

Five men walked to the city to-day from Blackhead, where they lost their vessel, the Athlon, last night. The Athlon, Burton, master, left Spaniard's Bay on Friday evening last, bound to Sydney for coal. The weather was moderate. On Saturday morning she rounded Cape St. Francis, and Saturday night at dark was off the Narrows. The weather continued very calm with a heavy ground sea running. Last evening the schooner was off Blackhead, and not being able to make headway, as she was becalmed, two anchors were put on shore to hold her. Between nine and ten o'clock the tide and sea increased in violence, causing a great strain on the anchor chains. In a short time the chains parted and the craft went ashore. The crew of five managed to reach the shore in a boat. Scarcely had they abandoned here when the schooner was dashed to pieces on the rocks and became a total wreck. Having lost all their belongings the shipwrecked men walked to the village, where they were met and cared for by Messrs. Geo. Cook and Wm. Fitzgerald. The Athlon was a craft of 100 tons, was owned by Mr. Burton, the skipper, and insured for $1,200. This morning there was nothing to be seen of the Athlon above water but one of her spars, Capt. Burton and crew speak in the highest terms of the kindness and hospitality shown them by the two men mentioned of Blackhead.

Special to Evening Telegram.
LONG BEACH, Cal., To-day.
Too weak to uphold a burden of nearly ten thousand human beings assembled for the festivities of British Empire Day, the land end of the big double deck Municipal pier in front of the City Auditorium collapsed to-day. Hundreds of people on the top deck plunged down on the head of other hundreds crowded on the second deck. The lower deck gave way and all dropped down a chute of shattered woodwork to the tide washed sands 25 feet below. Thirty-three persons, mostly women were killed or crushed by the falling bodies of companions or friends fifty more were seriously injured, while hysteria and fright disabled scores of others.

CALGARY, To-day.
Luther McCarthy, heavyweight champion of the world, died in the ring from a chance blow, delivered somewhere in the region of the solar plexus after one minute and forty-five seconds fighting. There had been one or two mixups of an inconsequential character, then came the clinch. Referee Smith separated the men. Both were now becoming pugilistic and neither seemed the worse for the clinch. Suddenly McCarthy was seen to double up in a crouching attitude to spectators it looked as though his crouch was simply a fighting position, but he continued to go over and collapsed and fell at full length to the floor of the ring. The referee assuming he had been knocked out, stood over him to count for the young champion Arthur Pelkey, winner of the heavyweight championship at such a heavy cost, stood at one side of his fallen adversary. He could scarcely realize what had happened. The referee now became alarmed and called a doctor, several responding. The Royal North West Mounted police were called to hear the ring of the crowd, which swarmed over the ropes. The doctors worked over the stricken man for eighty minutes when they pronounced him dead. There were ten thousand in the arena. Pelkey was too overcome by the tragedy to make a statement. He was arrested on a charge of manslaughter and later released on bail. The doctors who attended McCarthy contend collapse was due either to organic heart trouble or paralysis of the heart.
