OL. XXVII., NO. 229---WHOLE NO., 8681. Chapleau is a French-Canadian farmer, bora in Terrebonne, Canada, 40 years ago. His parents were of the middle class, very respectable, and he refuses to tell his wife where they are. Rumor has it that J. A. Chapleau, the present Secretary of State in Canada, who was born in Terrebonne, is his cousin. Joseph Chapleau was educated at the college at Terrebone. He enlisted at the Plattsburg garrisen, served with credit for five years, then having married Eliza Cassidy he took a farm on the Miller road three miles from the village, and provided well for his wife and two children. One of these children is a girl of his own about 11 and the other is an adopted boy of about 13, the son of his wife's deceased sister. In the twenty years that Chapleau lived in Plattsburg his reputation for gentlemanly conduct, sobriety and industry was firmly established, and so far as his family was concerned all accounts agree that he was devoting itself.

KISSING IN THE PARK.

The Recorder of Montreal Lectures

The Recorder of Montreal Lectures a Young Couple on its Immorality.

Ottawa, July 16.—Last week there came before the Recorder of Montreal a very peculiar case. There happens to be in that city on a visit to one of its most respectable and well-connected citizens some ladies who belong to good English families, one of whom is engaged to a young Englishmen, who is also on a visit from South America. After dinner a walk was suggested in the park. They walked up McTavish street, where the engaged couple wandered away from the others, and the remainder of the party, supposing they had gone home, returned. What was their surprise on reaching home to receive a message from the police station that the young couple had been arrested and were prisoners in the cells. Their friends went to the station and bailed them out, when they discovered that the couple, when quietly sitting on some iron pipes at the head of McTavish street, saw two men approaching who really were park rangers, but it being dark the young Englishman did not notice the uniform, and being afraid that they were suspicious characters he told his companion to run home, and, in his own words, "tackled them." He got the worst of it, and he and the lady were arrested and marched off to the station.

The Recorder fined the young Englishman $15 and treated him to a lecture on the immorality of kissing in public places, the defendant having admitted on the trial that he had kissed his intended while sitting on the iron pipes. The Recorder said that the English people must live up to their own standard of morality, of which they braged so much. They were fond of reproaching the French—the Recorder is a French-Canadian—with the laxity of their morals—while they themselves pretended to be very rigid. At all events, public parks were not the place for kissing, and if future, if he wanted to indulge in this weakness, he must do so at home. The Recorder then turned to the counsel for the defense and asked what defense the young lady had to make. The counsel replied t

Au inventive genius is said to have about perfected a device for catching passengers for express trains in the same manner as they scoop up water or take in mail bags when going at full speed. The luckless traveler is to be in a long trough between the rails upon a curved iron bed. From the bottom of the train a moveable piece of steel comes down which catches occupant and bed and throws them in. This is a "very good scheme—if it works."

FRIGHTFUL DISASTER. Explosion of 1,800 Kegs of Gunpowder.

CINCINNATI, July 15.—A terrible explosion occurred here yesterday at King's powder mills, on the Little Miami Railvoad, 29 miles east of this city. Two empty freight cars were being rolled on to a side track, where a car containing 500 kegs of guppowder was standing. As the cars struck there was a terrific explosion, and immediately another car containing 800 kegs of powder exploded, making 1,300 altogether, or about sixteen tons. Wm. Fraula, a brakeman in the service of the Little Miami, was blown to atoms and not trace of his body has yet been found. Several others, supposed to be employes of the powder company, were killed. The King Powder Company and the Peters' Cartridge Works have works on both sides of the river along the railway. The explosion occurred on the south side and THE DESTRUCTION WAS ENGRMOUS. There are a number of cottages occupied by workmen in the powder factory, and situated close to the track. These were shattered by the explosion and their immates in jured. Twelve or fifteen girls at work in the cartridge factory were crippled by the explosion. The railway station, or threight house belonging to the Little Miami Railway, with the adjacent buildings, were set on fire and totally consumed. CINCINNATI, July 16—12:45 a.m.—A messenger of the Adams Express Company arrived from King's station at 12:45 this morning. He says that at King's station at 11:30 all was bright as day. Everything combustible was burning. The roadmaster of the Little Miami road informed him there were three families living in cottage near the place of the explosion, but six hours search failed to find any trace of them. He says more than ten were killed.

Storm on Lake Michigan.

Benton Hardor, Mich., July 16.—The heaviest rainstorm ever known here struck this vicinity at 12:15 Monday, lasting half an hour. A high wind accompanied the rain and much damage was done.
