Corn Batter Cakes-One and one-half cups white cornmeal, sifted with a teaspoonful of sugar and a half teaspoonful of salt. Add one cup of boiled rice and a teaspoonful of lard. Mix all together and scald with two cups of boiling water, stirring constantly. This with one and one-half cups of sour milk, one-half teaspoonful of soda dissolved in milk: last stir one beaten egg and bake on hot greased griddle.

Potted Ham—The scraps from a boiled ham may be utilized for a small jar of potted meat. Chop all the scraps very fine, removing all the gristle and hard, dry pieces. Pound it to a paste in a mortar, or a wooden chopping bowl, and a potato masher may be used. Measure the paste, and to every half-pint add a half-teaspoonful mustard and a half saltspoonful of cayenne. If dry, add a teaspoonful of melted butter. Pack tightly into small earthen cups. Paste papers over them, lay covers over the papers and set the cups in a pan of boiling water. Bake slowly one hour. Remove the covers, and, if it is to be kept a length of time, pour melted fat over very thin.

Chicken, with Mushrooms-Have ready one pound of cold cooked chicken, cut in dice, and one-half pint of mushrooms, cut in small pieces. Cover mushrooms with hot water and cook five minutes. Skim out into a hot dish. Add enough milk to the liquid to make a coffeecupful. Thicken with a tablespoonful of flour rubbed smooth in the same quantity of butter. Season with a saltspoonful of salt and half as much of white pepper. Add the chicken and mushrooms and cook two minutes longer, stirring constantly. Serve on hot platter.

Newmarket, Ont., Nov. 3.-Mrs. F. Irwin and hired girl were asphyxiated by stove gas last Saturday night, but the fact was only discovered yesterday afternoon. It appears that Mrs. Irwin had filled the stove with coal on Satsome ugly bruises. Mr. Jared Irwin called at the house the following morning, but found the door locked, and thought Mrs. Irwin was not at home. He again called at the house yesterday afternoon, and found everything the same as before. Finally the doors were forced and Mrs. Irwin was found lying on the floor, apparently lifeless. The hired girl was in bed in the same condition. After considerable work the doctor brought both around. The girl is fast recovering, but Mrs. Irwin's chances for recovery are very slim.

A Balm for Many Wounds.

Rev. Dr. Talmage Offers Comfort for the Loss of Children-Taken From the Evil to Come.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 31.-From an unusual standpoint Dr. Talmage offers comfort at the loss of children, and this sermon must be a balm for many wounds. His text is Isaiah, 57,1: "The righteous is taken away from the

We all spend much time in panegyric of longevity. We consider it a great "What a pity!" Dr. Muhlenbergh, in old age, said that the hymn written in early life by his own hand no more expressed his sentiment when it said:

"I would not live alway." If one be pleasantly circumstanced, and the more kindred, the more chords he never wants to go, William Cullen to be wounded or rasped or sundered. Bryant, the great poet, at 82 years of age, standing in my house in a festal group, reading "Thanatopsis" without spectacles, was just as anxious to live as when at 18 years of age he wrote that immortal threnody. Albert Barnes, so well prepared for the next world at 70, said he would rather stay here. So it is all the way down. I suppose that the last time that Methuselah was out of doors in a storm he was afraid of getting his feet wet, lest it shorten his days. Indeed, I some time ago preached a sermon on the bless-ings of longevity, but I now propose to preach to you about the blessings of an abbreviated earthly existence. If I were an Agnostic I would say a man is blessed in proportion to the died he would, in the first place, have number of years he can stay on terra escaped that particular bereavement; firma, because after that he falls off the docks, and if he is ever picked out of the depths it is only to be set up in some morgue of the universe to see if tines, and the fatigues of his military anybody will claim him. If I thought campaign, and the jealousy of Saul God made man only to last 40 or 50 or and the perfidy of Ahithophel and the 100 years, and then he was to go into annihilation, I would say that his chief business ought to be to keep alive. But, my friends, you are not Agnos-You believe in immortality and the eternal residence of the righteous lived to be of vast use to the church in heaven, and, therefore, I first remark that an abbreviated earthly ex- happiness was concerned, does it not Istence is to be desired, and is a blessing, because it makes one's life-work very compact. The woman who suffers from weakness and disease of the distinctly feminine organs is certain to become an invalid. No woman can suffer in this way and be a healthy, happy, amiable wife and a competent mother. Troubles of this nature sap the strength, rack the nerves, paint lines of suffering upon the face, destroy the temper, make the once bright eyes dull and the once active brain sluggish, and transform a vivacious woman into a weak, sickly, invalid. This is all wrong. It is all unnecessary.

It allays inflammation, heals ulceration, soothes pain and tones and builds up the nerves. It banishes the discomforts of the expectant months and makes baby's coming easy and almost painless. It guarantees the little new-comer's health and an ample supply of nourishment. Thousands of women have testified to its marvelous mer-

He escapes 50 funerals, 50 caskets, 50 obsequies, 50 awful wrenchings of the heart. David lost his son. Though David was king, he lay on the earth mourning and inconsolable for some time, at this distance of time, which do you think was the one to be congratulated, the short-lived child or the long-lived father? then he would have escaped the worse bereavement of Absalom, his recreant son, and the pursuit of the Philescourse of Shimei, and the destruction of his family at Ziklag, and above all, he would have escaped the two great calamities of his life, the great sins of uncleanness and murder. and the world, but so far as his own seem to you that it would have been well there are also blessings in an abbreviated earthly existence.

If the spirit of this sermon is true, how consoled you ought to feel about members of your family that went early. "Taken from the evil to come," this book says. What a fortunate escape they had! How glad we ought to feel that they will never have to go through the struggles which we have had to go through. They had just time enough to get out of the cradle and run up to the springtime hills of this world and see how it looked, and then they started for a better stopping-place. And if the spirit of this sermon is true, then we ought not to go around sighing and groaning when another year is going; but we ought to go down on one knee by the milestone and see the letters and thank God that we are three hundred and sixty-five days nearer home. We ought not to go around with morbid feelings about our health or about anticipated demise. We ought to be living not according to that old maxim which I used to hear in my boyhood, that you must live as though every day were the last; you must live as though you were to live forever, for you will.

On Christmas Day I witnessed something very thrilling. We had just distributed the family presents on Christmas morning, when I heard a great cry of distress in the hallway. A child from a neighbor's house came in to say her father was dead. It was only three doors off, and I think in two minutes we were there. Pendleton you would not find this side of heaven. Without a moment's warning the pilot of the heavenly harbor had met him just off the lightship. He had often talked to me of the goodness of God, and especially of a time when he was about to enter New York harbor with his ship from Liverpool, and he was suddenly impressed that he ought to put back to sea. Under the protest of the crew, and under their very threat, he put back to sea, fear-Had David died as early as that child ing at the same time he was losing his mind, for it did seem so unreasonable that when they could get into harbor that night they should put back to sea. But they put back to sea, and Capt. Pendleton said to his mate: "You call me at 10 o'clock tonight." At 12 o'clock at night the captain was aroused and said: "What does this mean? I thought I told you to call me at 10 o'clock, and here it is 12." "Why," said the mate, "I did call you at 10 o'clock, and you got up, looked around and told me to keep right on the same course for two hours, and then to call you at 12." Said the captain: "Is it possible? I have no remembrance of that." At 12 o'clock the captain went on deck, and through the rift of a cloud Now, this, my friends, explains some things that to you have been inexplicable.
