MYSTERIOUS DEATH STIRS THE CAPITAL

Woman Found Drowned.—Two Men Arrested in Connection With the Affair.

Ottawa, Sept. 5.—A mysterious and night drowning took place on Saturday night, and two men are held in connection with the case by the police.
The police had been scouring the parks for tramps, and saw two men under the influence of liquor, in company with a woman, go down to the water's edge in the Ottawa River. Two constables followed them, and saw them get into a boat. The police knocked at the door, and the two men rushed out and attacked them. Eventually they were arrested. Their names are Archibald Balster and Pierre Brisebois.
The woman was missing and the men said she had got away out of a back door. It was thought that she might not have escaped and the river was dragged. Within six feet of the boat, a body was found which is at present unidentified. The woman was well built and dressed and apparently about 28 years of age.
One of the men arrested was an employee of Dr. C. A. E. Harris near whose residence the affair occurred.

KEEP YOUR EYE OPEN FOR THE SNEAK THIEF

Police Say Vanguard of Band Following Fairs Has Arrived.

Five citizens who were not strapped to the seat fell off the water wagon on Saturday and Sunday, and as a result will spend Labor Day behind the bars at Carling street. With the exception of the gentlemen who imbibed too freely the police have been very quiet. The detectives are keeping a sharp lookout for crooks who are expected to arrive in the city to try and operate in London during fair week. A number of sneak thieves have been operating the last few nights, and several thefts of small articles from the verandahs have been reported. The detectives recommend all parties to take everything in from their verandahs at night.

PUNCTURED BY PIER GOES TO THE BOTTOM

Steamer Founders in the Upper Canadian Canal at the Soo.

Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., Sept. 5.—While entering the upper Canadian Canal this morning, the steamer Arthur W. Hawgood struck the north pier, puncturing a hole in her port bow. Her forward port apartment filled with water and she sank close to the pier. Traffic through the canal is not interfered with, however, the channel being wide enough to allow boats to pass with ease. Tugs and a lighter commenced work today. They expect to be able to release the Hawgood some time tomorrow.

SLEUTHS STILL ON THE KINRADE CASE

Pinkerton Men Are Endeavouring to Find the Path of the Mystery.

Hamilton, Sept. 5.—T. L. Kinrade, father of Ethel Kinrade, who was murdered in the Kinrade home last January, was not re-engaged by the Hamilton board of education for the re-opening of schools for the fall term. He had been out on leave of absence since the tragedy, which brought the attention of the continent upon the family.
Pinkerton men are still working on this mysterious case.

BOY INVENTORS.

Lindsay, Sept. 4.—Two Lindsay boys have invented and constructed an aeroplane and a trial flight will be made next week. The inventors are Riddick Elliot, of this town, and Bruce Ross, son of the deputy minister of finance at Ottawa. Their aeroplane is named "The Flying Dutchman," and it has taken many weeks for its construction. It looks something like the Curtiss aeroplane, judging from a photograph of the latter.

THE PROGRAMME FOR LABOR DAY

Demonstrated Promises To Be Most Successful Ever Held.

THE HON. CHAS. MURPHY

The Secretary of State to Deliver Address at Queen's Park

The Labor Day demonstration today promises to be one of the most interesting ever held in the city. The excellent programme is attracting a great deal of attention, and is bound to be highly interesting. The presence of Hon. Chas. Murphy, Secretary of State, will prove of great interest. This is his first visit to London, in his public capacity, and it is being looked forward to with much pleasure. He will arrive in the city at 11:28, and will be met by a committee from the Trades and Labor Council, after which he will be entertained at lunch at the Tecumseh House. He will deliver an address in the afternoon, leaving in the evening for Ottawa.
There are a considerable number of visitors to the city and it is expected that a very large crowd will attend the demonstration in Queen's Park. The sports will have a large entry list.

WITHOUT A LICENSE

Police Make Big Raid on Illegal Liquor Sellers at Hamilton.

Hamilton, Sept. 5.—As the result of a big police raid last night, officers at No. 3 police station are mounting guard over two wagonloads of whiskey and beer. The raid was made in Italian quarters in the east and north part of the city about 9 o'clock last night, and the officers found so much booze that two or three trips of the patrol were necessary to transport the confiscated liquor to the station.
The owners of the booze were summoned for selling the liquor without a license.

MADE BLIND BY A MENTAL SHOCK

Patient at Bellevue Suffers Loss of Memory From the Same Cause.

New York, Sept. 5.—Loss of memory, caused the doctors think by a severe mental shock, was followed yesterday by an attack of blindness in the case of Joseph Cleworth, a patient in the psychopathic ward of Bellevue Hospital, and hope that he will be able to tell anything of his antecedents has been almost abandoned. Beyond the murmuring of his name and the giving of one or two street addresses he can say nothing that will aid the hospital in finding his friends.
Two men found him huddled in the doorway of No. 464 West Twenty-third street, Thursday night, and helped him into a restaurant next door. A meal was prepared for him, and while eating it his sight temporarily left him.
At the hospital yesterday Cleworth told the doctors he was a ranchman, and again that he was an actor and had appeared in Philadelphia, but he was unable to give the name of the theatre or company he had acted in. He also gave an address at No. 247 West Forty-third street. This is also a rooming house, but Cleworth is not known there. Twenty-eight cents and a metal match safe was all the property found on him.
Dr. Gregory of the psychopathic ward says the patient has been suffering for some time with a tumor on the brain, that a recent shock brought about the bursting of the tumor, and thus caused loss of memory and blindness.

THE THIRD DEGREE FOR ALLEGED WRECKERS

Newcastle, Penn., Sept. 5.—A one-legged man and one-eyed man in the Newcastle jail charged with being suspicious persons. They were brought here from Ellwood City early today, and for twelve hours have withstood the grueling of five shrewd police officials. Examination will be resumed tomorrow.

In these two men the police believe that the perpetrators of the train wreck on the Baltimore and Ohio Railway at Chewton Sliding on Friday night. For the apprehension of the wreckers the Baltimore and Ohio officials have offered a reward of $25,000. Frank Coates, of Ellwood City, one of the men under arrest, was formerly a brakeman on the Pennsylvania Railway. A year ago he fell under a Baltimore and Ohio train at Ellwood City and lost his right leg. He received no damages.

BEER, WINE, WHISKEY AT SUNDAY PICNIC

Inspector Seizes Assortment of Booze Down the River and Intends to Prosecute.

Some 200 people, including a number of local bartenders and their friends, held a little social event down the river, near Byron, yesterday afternoon. Liquid refreshments seem to have played a very prominent part in the affair, judging from what was left over and found its way to the police station as a result of a seizure made by Inspector Galpin shortly after 10 o'clock last night. The inspector was on his rounds when he heard of the affair, and learned the name of the hotel where the wet goods were stored. He went there with a constable, found it all in the hotel yard, and securing a wagon, conveyed it to the station. Among the articles seized was a half-barrel of beer and bottles of wine and whiskey of all sorts, sizes, and descriptions. It looked as though the picnicers had had a festive time. They will probably have another in a day or two, as the inspector intends issuing a number of summonses.
"Onings of this sort cannot be tolerated on Sunday," the inspector told The Advertiser. "It is strictly against the law, and I intend to take action. This is not the first time Sunday picnics of this kind have been held, but it will likely be the last. If convicted, liable to a heavy fine."

A FINE SQUADRON FOR THE CELEBRATION

Great Britain to Send Powerful Fleet to Hudson-Fulton Festivities.

London, Sept. 5.—Not since Great Britain adopted the policy of keeping the main fleet in home waters, has such a modern squadron as that which Admiral Lord Jellicoe, at the end of the week to participate in the Hudson-Fulton celebration, visited a foreign country. In command of the squadron is Admiral Sir Edward Hobbart Seymour, of whom Admiral Dewey spoke so highly after the incident at Manila Bay and who became even better known to Americans by name at least, during the Peking expedition.
There are two versions with regard to the selection of Admiral Seymour at the last moment, after Rear Admiral Lord Jellicoe had been appointed in command. One is that the foreign office reminded the admiralty of the esteem in which Admiral Seymour was held in the United States, the second, and the most probable, is that the appointment was taken on account of the selection of a high German admiral who would be junior to Sir Edward Seymour. At any rate the admiralty and the foreign office have been complimented on the appointment.

GOOD AND BAD MEAT

The Government Will Have a Useful Exhibit at Western Fair.

Mr. A. N. Hunt, secretary of the Western Fair, yesterday received a wire from the government asking that glass-fronted refrigerator space could be provided by the fair board for a comparative display of good and bad meat.

Mr. Hunt at once wired in return that every possible facility would be taken advantage of to make possible the exhibition, and in return he received a notification that Dr. Murray who has the display in charge would be in communication with a few days. This display will, it is expected, be of great interest as well as being exceedingly instructive, and will outline the deterioration and the remedies that have been found for these conditions.

NEW CLUBHOUSE FOR TRAVELLERS

A Handsome Property on Richmond Street Purchased.

$5,000 ON ALTERATIONS

Work Will Be Commenced Very Soon and May Be Ready for Occupancy Dec. 1.

The Travellers' Club have purchased the London Mutual property on Richmond street, opposite the Grand Opera House, and will turn it into an up-to-date club house.
The deal has been hanging fire for some time, but was consummated on Saturday night. The price paid is not mentioned, but it is understood to be considerable.
Work will be commenced at once to alter the premises to make them suitable for club purposes. It is the intention of the executive to spend $5,000 on alterations. Work will be commenced as soon as the deeds are obtained.
"Our lease of the present property has expired," said President J. S. Townsend, "and we want larger quarters. Our membership has increased until we are cramped for room. Consequently we bought the larger building. We will make it a very up-to-date club, a credit to the club as well as the city. Our architect, Mr. H. C. McBride, is busy with the plans, and we will start to work on them as soon as we can. I think we have made a good move, and we are very hopeful of making it as successful as our present club."
The members are hopeful that it will be ready for occupancy by Dec. 1.

CANADA'S TRADE NAME WELL LIKED ABROAD

But It Should Be More Developed, Says South African Commercial Man.

Col. Stacey, a former St. Thomas man who is representing several large firms in South Africa, is a visitor at the Grigg House, and talked interestingly to an Advertiser reporter on trade conditions in these countries.
"South Africa is enjoying a great boom at the present time, and Rhodesia especially seems to be developing very rapidly," he states. "That country promises to be a great country in the future, and will be one of the most important parts of the confederacy. Other parts of the empire are enjoying great prosperity also."
Closer Relations Needed.
"You know, the empire needs closer trade relations more than battleships. We talk battleships, but we do little practically to bring the uttermost parts of the empire together in trade. Germany seeks us a fine example along this line. Every German steamer to foreign countries is subsidized. German goods are given a preferential rate, and are carried to foreign countries much cheaper than other goods. On these boats, the foreign traveller is looked after most carefully, and is given to understand that the boat is his. In addition, on every boat there is an expert in commerce who visits every port, makes a report on trade conditions, the sort of goods purchased, the price, little details of purchasing; in fact every detail of trade, and these are sent back in the form of a report to the manufacturer in Germany. As a result these men know what is needed, and they make every possible effort to obtain the trade. These matters are part of a scheme to control the foreign trade. They are doing it, too. We Canadians, as I said before, do not pay enough attention to it. We boost our foreign markets when we are not busy at home, instead of going out after it."
"However, there is an improvement along that line. At the present time, I am arranging for an exhibit at the Sydney, New South Wales. A number of Canadian firms are sending exhibits, and if it is a success, as I anticipate, it will be tried in other countries."

MAY LOSE SIGHT OF EYE

A Grand Trunk Employee Meets With a Serious Accident.

James Fraser, of 421 William street, met with a very serious accident, which may result in the loss of the sight of the left eye. While at work at the Grand Trunk car shops Friday a piece of steel penetrated the optic nerve, cutting a bolt, when a fairly large piece flew, striking him in the eyeball. A physician was called, and the injured man removed to Victoria Hospital, where he is now being treated.

The steel has not as yet been removed, and it is feared that it will be necessary to remove the eye.

BIG FRESHMAN CLASS FOR THE WESTERN

University to Reopen on September 30 and a Very Large Attendance Expected.

The Western University will reopen on Sept. 30, and from present indications there will be a splendid freshman class on hand on opening day.
"We can't tell definitely yet how many the class will number," Dr. James told The Advertiser, "but we expect it to be far more than we ever had before. There are a great many inquiries coming in all the time, and I expect the class will be a big one."
The supplemental examinations begin on Sept. 23.
Dr. Tamblin, professor of English, who is holidaying in the vicinity of Cambridge, will return shortly.
Rev. Principal Waller, of Huron College, who has been spending the summer in England, and taking a special course at Cambridge University, called for home on Sept. 3. It is understood that Huron College will also have a splendid freshman class when the college reopens at the end of the month.

WOMAN AND HER CHILD ARE GONE

Mrs. James Mosely Left Home With Baby and Never Came Back.

Detroit, Sept. 5.—Friends and relatives of Mrs. James Mosely, who disappeared last Saturday night taking her eight months old daughter, are inclined to believe that the women threw herself and child into the river.
Mrs. Mosely disappeared last Saturday shortly after her husband had returned from work and handed her $12 of his wages. She was not dressed as though intending to go any distance and it is this fact that leads the authorities to believe that she contemplated suicide.
The Mosleys have only recently come to Sandwich and are not very well known in the town. Mrs. Mosely had lately recovered from a combined attack of typhoid fever and pneumonia and her condition had not been improved by her worry over two daughters residing in the old country. Three other children are still with their father at the family home in Sandwich.

MUCH TYPHOID ABOUT CONTRACTED ELSEWHERE

Physicians Report That a Great Deal of Sickness Prevails in the City.

Local physicians state that there is considerable typhoid fever in the city at the present time, and attribute it largely to outside sources. The majority of the patients they say have recently returned from spending their summer holidays, and it is thought contracted the disease while away. The purely local cases are very few, and not more than is usual at this time of the year. Taking it altogether there is a great deal of sickness in the city.

DR. COOK SAT AT THE KING'S RIGHT

Danish Monarch Bestows Special Favor on the Explorer.

TAFT CONGRATULATES

President of United States Recognizes Feat of His Fellow Countryman.

Copenhagen, Sept. 5.—Dr. Frederic Cook dined this evening with King Frederick at the summer palace a few miles outside of Copenhagen. The King summoned Dr. Cook to an audience yesterday as a formal courtesy. They engaged in an hour's talk and while these royal audiences cannot, according to etiquette, mirror the descriptions by the members of the court, Dr. Cook made such an impression on the King that his majesty immediately instructed the court chamberlain to summon the explorer to dine with him tonight.
The King invited Dr. Cook to meet him yesterday only after having the Government make the closest possible investigation into the merits of his story. Only the Danish explorers were asked to give their opinions of Dr. Cook's claims, before the audience was granted, and their verdict was unanimously in his favor.
A Great Honor.
The dinner tonight was entirely the result of the King's personal opinion regarding the explorer, who had the seat on the King's right, an honor which Danes cannot remember having been accorded another private person, and members of the royal family listened to his every word when he recounted the dangers and nations which the polar journey entailed.

Dr. Cook was immensely pleased tonight by the receipt of a telegram from President Taft in which the President of the United States conveyed his heartiest congratulations on the announcement that Dr. Cook had reached the Pole. He had to undergo a veritable ordeal against seasickness before he could get to the table, but he was in conversation with Commodore Novgaard and Professor Cluifsen, secretary of the Geographical Society, the explorer was about again before 7 o'clock this morning, reading translations of the comments in the Danish newspapers. Later he received Commodore Sverdrup and Count Harald Moltke, a member of the Mylius Eriksen expedition, who will probably illustrate Dr. Cook's book.

Put to the Test.
One of the most exacting periods of the day was in an interview with Prof. Stromberg, the leading Scandinavian astronomer, who says that when he is permitted to examine Dr. Cook's observations, he can decide within half a day whether the explorer has been at the pole. Several other expert Arctic explorers are busy today in an eye-to-eye conversation with Dr. Cook. When they came out they appeared thoroughly convinced of his absolute good faith.

A luncheon at the American legation afforded further opportunity to non-expert persons to strengthen their already firm belief in the explorer's narrative. Then Dr. Cook disappeared from public view for an hour, during which time he submitted to the camera in the photographic studio.
The dinner at the Royal Castle at Charlottenburg was the greatest of the greatest enthusiasm. The king and every member of the royal family, even the smallest children, assembled. Dr. Maurice P. Egan, the American minister, the Rev. Dr. Dane, of Chicago, and several other guests, completed the party. The dinner passed off quietly, as is customary on Sunday in the royal household, but after the dinner, Dr. Cook started a succinct recital of his adventures, and the graphic depiction gained from the calmness and candor of the speaker. One after another of the royal personages plied him with questions, evidencing their intelligent appreciation of the conditions in Arctic areas, and they awaited eagerly while the explorer answered, without hesitation. The younger members of the family seemed literally to hang on his words. Prince Waldemar, brother of the king, who is a scientific scholar, was extremely interested in the currents about the pole and the condition of the ice. Prince and Princess George of Greece, also made pertinent inquiries. The king, queen and all were so greatly interested in the story of the pole discovery that they remained in the drawing room much later than is their custom. As Dr. Cook retired with Minister Egan, he was the centre of congratulatory groups. It was easy to be seen that the royal family had implicit faith in him.

Denmark Indorses.
When given some details of Lieut. Shackleton's expedition to the South Pole he was hungering for more and enthusiastic over the English explorers' achievements. Two of the most prominent literary men of Denmark, George Brandes and Baron Rosenkrantz, came in to shake hands and throughout the course of the day, Dr. Cook met the most notable people in all branches. The programme which has now been arranged includes a reception by the American minister to the diplomats on Tuesday afternoon.
