Internal cleanliness protects against disease

IN CONSTIPATION, say intestinal specialists, lies the primary cause of more than three-quarters of all illness, including the gravest diseases of life.

Laxatives and cathartics do not overcome constipation, says a noted authority, but by their continued use tend only to aggravate the condition and often lead to permanent injury.

Why Physicians Favour Lubrication Medical science has found at last in lubrication a means of overcoming constipation. The gentle lubricant, Nujol, penetrates and softens the hard food waste and thus hastens its passage through and out of the body. Thus, Nujol brings internal cleanliness.

Nujol is used in leading hospitals and is prescribed by physicians throughout the world. Nujol is not a medicine or laxative and cannot gripe. Like pure water, it is harmless.

Take Nujol regularly and adopt this habit of internal cleanliness. For sale by

ROKE AND BOWMAN QUIT PROGRESSIVE PARTY

Member For East Lambton Bitterly Denounces Drury and Doherty.

LAUDS MORRISON

Western Ontario Members Have Field Day in Legislature.

Canadian Press Despatch.
Toronto, Feb. 24.—By the breaking away of two members from the Progressives, the Ontario legislature today added another to its numerous groups. Leslie Oke, East Lambton, in speaking in the debate on the reply to the speech from the throne, announced that he and Beniah Bowman, Manitoulin, were continuing to be United Farmer members with no connection with the Progressive party, which is under the leadership of W. E. Raney. The House is now composed of Conservatives, Liberals, Progressives, Labor men and United Farmers.

Mr. Oke delivered a scathing attack on E. C. Drury, former prime minister of Ontario, charging him with wrecking, or trying to wreck, the farmers' movement in Ontario for his own glorification. He named in his attack W. E. Raney and Manning Doherty, both ministers in the Drury cabinet.

The East Lambton member censured J. G. Lethbridge, Progressive member for West Middlesex, for having opposed J. C. Elliott, Liberal M.P.E., in 1919 on the ground that farmers could not be represented by a lawyer, and for now sitting in the House under the leadership of a city lawyer (Mr. Raney).

Hit By Whirlwind.
"I am back here as a United Farmer member," said Leslie Oke. "The Tory, Liberal, Progressive whirlwind has hit the farmer movement, but it did not destroy it, and here is one thing that was not blown off the barn because it was oak and of good material. The only things that can make me quit the U. F. O. are death or when the people of East Lambton do not want me. By remaining a United Farmer I am keeping faith with the farmers who elected me, and I will not destroy that faith for all the politics under the sun."

"Mr. Drury and the farmer members had the faith of most of the people of the province. Did Mr.
Drury keep that faith? I say he did not or he would not have gone wool-gathering to give himself a bigger head. Drury's head is far too big now for any thought or love he ever had for the U. F. O. He had much more thought for the position he wished to obtain."

Mr. Oke said he still had the interests of the farmers at heart, and he was going to represent them, although he had no objection to other classes also having representation. If other people put in claims, then the farmer should always be in a position to put in a counter-claim.

He would not be doing my duty by those who elected me if I went to the Conservative, the Liberal or the Progressive party, and I will remain a United Farmer if I remain alone," he declared.

Lauds Morrison.
Mr. Oke paid a tribute to the man he called "Dad" Morrison, secretary of the U. F. O., who never wavered in his allegiance to it.

"Drury wouldn't listen to Morrison," he said. "He wouldn't listen to the members. He wouldn't listen to anybody. He knew so much he couldn't learn any more. Drury deserved the fall he got because he sacrificed the U. F. O. movement to put himself on a pedestal. Andrew Hicks must now feel a great satisfaction for starting the fall."

Mr. Oke said the farmers must speak out and act independently, as no party could speak for them, because the old parties had first sledgehammered the farmer and later killed them with flattery.

"I do not think that those who call

Praises Tariff All Day Long

Canadian Press Despatch.
Ottawa, Feb. 24.—Andrew Mc-Master of Bromes amused the House last night with the doggerel reply to Mr. Meighen, who had held up tariff as remedy for the miners' troubles in Nova Scotia.

"This is his story,
This is his song,
Praising protection,
All the day long."

themselves Progressives can now have a clean mind regarding the U.
F. O. when they propose taking all classes into the movement. We farmers do not want a Progressive party. We want a distinctive group to co-operate with the other parties.
If Drury had had more 'class' he would not have been so horribly de-fected.

Bowman, Too.
"I may say now, and I have his permission, that the member for Manitoulin (Beniah Bowman) is not giving himself over to the Progressives, but will remain U. F. O. We find the Progressives now led by a lawyer from Toronto. That, surely, is not a farmer movement."

On the O. T. A. charge, Mr. Oke said that the people felt that Premier Ferguson was not doing what he said he would do. "The people think they are in a position to challenge the veracity of the premier," said Mr.
Oke. "I will vote against the stronger beer because my riding voted 4,000 against any change in the O. T.
A. I like my glass of beer myself, but I will oppose the measure because my riding does not want it."

DOHERTY SPEAKS.
Special to The Advertiser.
by Staff Correspondent.

Toronto, Feb. 24.—Western Ontario members had a field day in the debate on the speech from the throne this afternoon and evening, with Manning Doherty of East Kent (Progressive), L. W. Oke, East Lambton (U. F. O.), W. S. Haney, West Lambton (Conservative) and E. P. Teller, North Essex (Liberal) speaking in succession.

Hon. Manning Doherty, former minister of agriculture, dealt with unemployment and with agricultural conditions, and condemned the government's beer proposals as "the supremacy of agriculture" that was preceded by several others.

W. S. Haney, the boy orator of Sarnia, surprised none, but won applause from his fellow-Tory bench-ers by his support of the beer bill.

Mr. Doherty condemned the present administration for not carrying out the plans he had started as minister of agriculture for the establishment of farm commodity marketing associations.

Minority Rule.
Mr. Doherty reminded the government that it held power with a majority of members but a minority of the votes in the province. He said the premier would not live to see the day when the Progressives won the election, and said that the by-election result in South Waterloo, when a Labor man was elected, had proved it.

Mr. Doherty commended the government for dealing with unemployment by the provision of work, but declared that although there were some who wanted work and could not get it a great many of the so-called unemployed in their hearts did not want work at all. "If there is unemployment in the country it is a condemnation of the false doctrine of industrialism," said Mr. Doherty, who added that smiling chinamen did not necessarily mean prosperity.

Mr. Doherty dwelt at length with marketing problems in agricultural products, stating that South Africa had beaten Canada in placing her fruits on the British market, and that what market had been retained by the dominion was only kept by the good quality, and not by the way it was marketed. New Zealand was beating Canada in the cheese trade for the same reasons, although Canada made as good, if not better cheese. He thought there should be an Ontario cabinet minister in Britain every year. He was glad to see that the government had not resented the dairy standards act, although Eastern Ontario Conservatives in their election campaign had promised that such would be the case. He also suggested that text-books on cooperative marketing should be placed in the public schools.

Opposes Beer Plan.
The proposed amendment to the O.
T. A. Mr. Doherty said, was the supreme blunder of the government.
He said that the premier had committed himself both before and after the vote, because he was over-confident of the results.

"We don't know exactly who is the father of this amendment," said Mr. Doherty. "The other night we heard an explanation of the new Nickle booze psychology—that the best way to keep people sober was to let them get half drunk." The argument of the attorney-general is so tortuous that it would make a corkscrew look like a straight line.

Haney Speaks.
W. S. Haney, Conservative member for West Lambton, delved extensively into the history of temperance legislation in Ontario, for the purpose, he explained, of showing the people of his constituency exactly where he stood and why he proposed to vote for the government's 4.4 beer amendment.

He marked the decline in sentiment behind the Ontario temperance act from the time of W. E. Raney's attainment to office, stating that it was well known that "he was a prohibition fanatic." Mr. Raney, he said, at once began to incorporate into the enforcement of the O. T. A. methods that would have been suggestive to the principals of the Spanish Inquisition. Those methods, he said, became a challenge to every fair-minded citizen of the province.

"I firmly believe," he said, "that my honorable friend, the member from East Wellington (Mr. Raney) did more to ruin the temperance act in the estimation of reasonable-minded men than any other person or consideration."

Sees Difficulties.
In describing what he considered to be the difficulties in the enforcement of the O. T. A., Mr. Haney said that it was the fact that the youth of the day had come to the attitude of thinking that it was "sporting" to know where to get a bottle of liquor and to carry a flask, and at social

ACTION PLANNED AGAINST COMBINE

Murdock Says Labor Department May Prosecute Nash Brokerage Houses.

Canadian Press Despatch.
Ottawa, Feb. 24.—Hon. James Murdock, minister of labor, stated today that the department proposed to take action on the report of Commissioner Lewis Duncan, tabled in the House of Commons yesterday.

The report finds that the Nash mutual combination of brokerage and jobbing houses is a combine operating detrimentally to the people of Canada, "wrong in principle and dangerous in the investigation of the action has not yet been determined. Mr. Murdock pointed out that the report tabled yesterday was an in-terim report and that the commis-sioner is still in a position to hear further representations either for or against the Nash interests.

The combines investigation act, under which the investigation took place, provides that legal action may be taken against a combine. The minister may leave it to the provin-cial authorities to proceed with the prosecution of the offender. If the province should take no action within three months, the federal government may proceed on its own account to lay information against the offender. The act provides for a penalty not exceeding $10,000 or two years in jail if an individual, and not exceed-ing $25,000 if a corporation, partici-pates in the formation or operation of a combine.

New Corset Models

Team play has its part in fashions as well as in sports. Artistry and good taste are essentials, but co-operation is an important third point. The corsetiere works hand in hand with the designer. To match slight changes in the 1925 silhouette, there are slight changes in the newer corsets. Gossard wrap-around and combination models have been made expressly to create or to accentuate the straight lines and slim contours necessary for spring clothes.

HICKORY ELASTIC PRODUCTS FROM THE NOTION COUNTER

To-day I saw

First arrivals in spring hats! A group of particularly smart ones coming in on the heels of our New York fashion letter which so cleverly described the very newest tendencies in hats!

That whole story might have been written around the dozen or so I saw this morning. Even to a hat with "windmill" tendency, that swirled very broad, very chic arms of black satin above a high pointed crown.

They were small, close-fitting hats for suit, or ensemble. Crochets high and pointed or dented or creased. Trimmings are as vagrant as spring zephyrs. Sometimes posing primly on top—for instance a bunch of forget-me-nots on a poufde blue straw. Very often they fall lazily from very peak of crown to very edge of brim. Deep fringe or folds of ribbon cascade to the brim and sometimes below it in a manner that's artfully casual.

And flowers—flowers are no longer the conventional flat flowers of previous years. They are just as real as those which bloomed all winter long on smart shoulders. Huge full-blown roses are widely used, roses that seem to have strayed from the picture-hat of a magazine-cover girl.
