ussions about the pistol found near the foodship between the city of Toronto and the Toronto Railway Company there would be a great deal less nonsense fired off on the public by the press and platform speakers. In 1891 these two corporations made an agreement in regard to the street car franchise. The rights of each of the parties are duly set out in that agreement. Whatever those rights are they are as sacred as the rights of any other parties to any other contract. Some people and some of the city newspapers seem to imagine that the City Council has power to interfere with the contract rights of the railway company. The council can make bylaws the violation of which will bring one into the Police Court; it fixes the rate of taxes we pay each year and has authority to visit the citizens with fines and penalties of various sorts. No wonder, then, that the unthinking citizen has got an idea in his head that the City Council is a body of immense authority, second only to the Itominion Parliament itself. The fact of the matter is, that the City Council can no more after the terms of the agreement with the railway company than a private individual could were he the contracting party instead of the city of Toronto. The agreement stands in violate, unless with the approval of the two parties concerned. It is therefore absurd for City Clerk Blevins to say that the vote cannot take place until the terms of a certain resolution by Ald. Carlyle are carried.

This resolution sets out that no vote be taken on Sunday cars unless the company give a written agreement thet none of its employes be required or permitted to work more than six days a week. Neither clause 40 nor any other part of the agreement refers to any such obligation as that proposed by Ald. Carlyle. If the railway company choose to recognize Ald. Carlyle's resolution they do so merely through courtesy. They have not incorporated that resolution as part of the original agreement. The railway company has a right to have a vote of the citizens taken on the simple question whether they want Sunday cars or not, and the council has no power to load that simple question with any condition whatever. A resolution are recognized to the condition of the condi that no vote will be taken until the railway company give an agreement that every em-ploye shall be paid not less than 30 cents an our might just as reasonably be passed by the buncil as the resolution of Ald. Carlyle council as the resolution of Ald. Carlyle about six days' labor. The Mayor will be committing a blunder if he should refuse to let the vote be taken on Saturday because of the absence of the agreement as to labor. There is little doubt of this contingency arriving, however. The railway company has There is little doubt of this contingency arriving, however. The railway company has already agreed to the conditions of Ald. Carlyle's resolution, and the only reason why the city had not accepted the company's agreement up to last night was because of olicitor Biggar's absence from the city. In the same way the railway company is under to obligation to make an agreement with its continue thing, free no obligation to make an agreement with its employes or with the Trades and Labor il, although it was a prudent step on right to get an expression of opinion from the citizens whether they want Sunday cars or not, and the council is legally bound to allow such expression of opinion to be taken, subject to no conditions except those embodied in the agreement, and in the agreement there are no conditions as to taking the

The time between now and Saturday night should be spent in active work by the Sunday car people. First of all, every one who is in favor of Sunday cars, either because he wants to use the cars himself or because he desires to see a great principle endorsed ought to get definite and certain information ought to get definite and certain information as to where he votes. Let every one make sure of his voting place. And let him attend to this matter to-day or to-morrow. Don't leave it till Saturday. Saturday will witness one of the liveliest days Toronto has ever witnessed. If you are a friend of the movement make certain about your own vote before Saturday, and on Saturday fill in all your spare time hunting up your friends and bringing them to the polls. The central and ward committees will be fully occupied on Saturday supplying information to citizens who will leave this matter off till the last moment.

Citizens should remember that this contest includes more than Sunday cars. in Buffalo.

Buffalo, Aug. 23.—Policeman Robert Eager of the Seventh Precinct attempted to arrest Thomas Haley, a fireman on the whaleback steamer Colgate Hoyt. Haley ran away. The policeman followed him.

Haley dashed in the arch that runs from the New York Central freight house through Ohio-street to the dock. He threw a coupling pin at Eager. The latter opened fire on the sailor and shot him through the left side. The bullet pierced Haley's lungs and he died a few minutes afterwards. Such in brief is the story of the sad tragedy.

As Haley is a British subject his friends are talking of appealing to the British Government to take the case in hand and demand damages. They say it will become an international affair.

The British Consul at New York will look into the matter.
