WEDNESDAY, MAY 28th, 1902.

Not the least impracticable of the many Canadian colonization schemes that have been proposed since the discovery of the continent.

—The Bank of Nova Scotia will shortly open a branch at Granville Ferry.

—A steel bridge will soon replace the wooden structure across the river at Middleton.

—Look in at Hicks' windows. The very latest novelties in pictures, 15, 18, 20, 25 and 30 cents each.

—Master Lemuel Jodrey is operating a boot-blackening stand at the corner of the Murdoch block, Granville street.

—The flies are out. Before they get in put up your screen doors. All sizes made at J. H. Hicks & Son's factory.

—Messrs. Pickels and Mills of Annapolis have lost several thousands of dollars worth of timber by recent forest fires.

—Messrs. Forbes Bishop and Long Hall made their annual trotting exhibition last week and secured a large catch.

—Mr. William Burns was kicked by a horse that was standing in his smithy last Saturday, and sustained serious injuries.

—Capt. T. W. Templeman of Port Lorne has opened his house, known as the Summer House, to the public for the summer months.

—Miss Annie Kinney has been appointed to the primary department of the school here. A principal has not yet been selected.

—A New York physician has recently purchased ten acres of land near Hawkesbury and proposes to build a sanatorium there.

—Mr. Harris Foster died at the home of Mr. Harry Chute, Granville street, this morning, at the age of eighty-seven years.

—The Ontario provincial elections take place tomorrow. Ninety-eight members will be returned to the assembly—four more than sat in the last legislature.

—The temperance people of Middleton are becoming very zealous in their work. Large collections have been taken up for the purpose of enforcing the Scott Act.

—The marriage of Miss Lizzie Healy, daughter of Councilor W. C. Healy, and Mr. J. A. Kirkpatrick, all of Roundhill, took place today, in St. Paul's church here.

—William Howe was up before a magistrate's court yesterday charged with a third offence against the Scott act. His trial takes place tomorrow before Stipendiary Cox.

—Ex-Mayor James T. Hamilton of Halifax died last Friday, leaving an estate of $20,000 which goes to form an endowment for the Halifax Dispensary, an important city charity.

—Edward Chute of Bear River was accidentally drowned in Maine last week, and his body brought to his native town for interment. He leaves a widow and two children.

—The death of Mrs. Moses Lowe, of Annapolis, occurred on Monday last week, at the advanced age of eighty-four. Mrs. Mark Curry, formerly of Bridgetown, was a daughter of the deceased.

—It is probable that hereafter the D. A. K. steamers will coal at Yarmouth instead of Boston. This will mean a market for 25,000 tons of coal yearly for the Dominion Coal Company.

—The closing exercises of Acadia take place on Monday and Tuesday of next week. Among the students of the senior class who deliver orations at that time are W. M. Steele of Annapolis and E. M. Baird of Chatham.

—The Yarmouth Ministerial Institute are protesting against the arrival and departure of Sunday boats and have approached General Manager Gilkins on the subject. Mr. Gilkins replied by offering to make Budge's port of entry instead of Yarmouth.

—Work has now begun on the church at Young's Cove. The frame is up and being boarded in. There is now some talk of having a tea-meeting on or about the first of July in aid of the funds. It is hoped to complete the outside work this summer.

—Yarmouth Times. It is rumored in political circles that Sir John Bourne, clerk of the House of Commons, on account of failing health, resigns his office shortly. Bourne, who is now 70 years of age, has been in the office for 33 years.

—Among the Nova Scotians employed in the Ferris coal mines were Messrs. J. H. and Howard Marshall, of Westville. Mr. Marshall, the younger, died last week, at the age of 30. He had been ill but a few days, and at the time of his death was suffering from pneumonia. The cause of his death is not known.

—Victoria Day was a disagreeable one all over the province, on account of the rain, and sports were called off generally. A goodly number gathered here to see the racing in spite of showers, but the condition of the track made it necessary to discontinue the races. It is probable, however, that Coronation Day will see one of the best races ever held here.

—Word has been received that a party of about one hundred children from the Middlemore Home, England, is expected to arrive in Halifax about the 3rd or 4th of June. The party will include about 10 children from two to eight years of age, and the Nova Scotia Superintendent is anxious to find good homes for these little ones. Application forms and all information may be obtained from Mr. L. Lloyd, Superintendent, Middlemore Home, Fairview station, Halifax.

—The community is stirred with sympathy this morning for the family of councillor Alvan Young, the coachman having visited their home last night, and borne away the eldest son, Harold, a promising lad of sixteen. He had been ill but a few days, and at the time of his death was suffering from pneumonia. The cause of his death is not known.

—The character of the physician who treated the young lad is a general favorite with his associates and his character was irreproachable. The Monitor extends sincerest sympathy.

—Mr. John W. Bars, one of the oldest and best known residents of Wolfville, died at his residence there last Thursday at the age of eighty-nine years. The sons who survive are Dr. A. E. W. Bars, Wolfville; A. K. Bars, Vancouver; W. L. Bars, Halifax; Rev. Howard Bars, who died at Grandville, N. S., where he was the pastor of the Baptist church. The daughters are Mrs. Edwin King, Halifax; Mrs. Margaret Bars and Mrs. Wm. Chipman, Wolfville; one sister survives, Mrs. J. N. Freeman of Liverpool.

—The deceased was one of the best known and most highly esteemed residents of Kings county. He was a prominent member of the Baptist and of the most liberal benefactors of Acadia college.

OBITUARY.

JESSIE M. ATCHISON.

Our community was saddened on May 10th by the death of Miss Jessie M. Atchison, one of our most popular young ladies. Although she had suffered for many months with that dread disease, consumption, it was a shock to her many friends when the church bells tolled, telling them she had entered into rest. All through her long illness she had hoped to recover until a short time before her death, when her friends thought it best for her to know recovery was impossible, and although it was very hard to leave a dear mother and only brother, she felt resigned to the will of God. Several years ago she made a profession of religion while attending school at Lawrencetown, and since that time has been faithful worker in the Baptist church and in the Sunday school, and was often called upon to fill positions of honor. After having attended Acadia Seminary three years ago, she took charge of the school at home, endeavoring to do her duty to the best of her ability. She was a young and useful has been called away. The funeral was conducted by Rev. H. N. Parry who delivered a very appropriate address. The church was beautifully decorated with flowers and the soft rays of the afternoon sun streamed through the windows, it shed a soft radiance over the face of the dead. The choir which consisted of many of her young friends, sang a number of hymns in praise of their friend who was beloved by all has entered into rest, leaving a mother, brother, and a host of friends to mourn their loss, but with the assurance that a beautiful life was not in death.
