

Chautauqua Required Literature

1891-92.

The books for the coming year of the C. L. S. C. are now ready, and will be sent promptly on receipt of price. The volumes are:

Canadian History and Literature.

By REV. W. H. WITHROW, D.D. and G. MERCER ADAM. 60 cts.

*Leading Facts of American History. (Illustrated.)

By D. H. MONTGOMERY. 12mo. $1.

This volume is not, as one might infer from its title, a fragmentary historical work, but a progressive treatise dealing with all the important events and movements of American History. Mr. Montgomery's scholarship, enriched by long study in the British Museum, has enabled him to produce an accurate, unprejudiced, and at the same time popular book. The copious illustrations—portraits, maps and historical scenes—greatly increase the educational and artistic value of this history.

Social Institutions of the United States.

By JAMES BRYCE, M.P. 12mo. $1.

Mr. Bryce's study of American Institutions has been unusually thorough, and though, perhaps, all his conclusions cannot find unqualified acceptance here, his manifest fairness and sincerity gain for him a ready hearing. The unprejudiced views of an intelligent alien ought always to be helpful and suggestive to citizens who in such matters are denied the advantage of an external point of view. Mr. Bryce in his introduction to this volume shows a gratifying interest in the Chautauqua Circle, for which this special edition was prepared.

Initial Studies in American Letters.

By PROF. H. A. BEERS, Yale University. 12mo. $1.

The work of Prof. Beers is a rare combination of accurate, critical treatment and popular presentation. His books on literature are not mere catalogues of books, dates and authors; he describes epochs, schools and tendencies, with enough biography and bibliography to give clear ideas and a reasonable knowledge of facts. These "Initial Studies" are followed by a brief anthology of American works, designed to stimulate a wide reading of American authors.

The Story of the Constitution of the United States.

By PROF. F. N. THORPE, University of Pennsylvania. 12mo. 60 cts.

The development of Governmental ideas on this continent forms a subject of most profitable study. It is not only true to the facts, but it presents the theories of government in a clear and attractive way. The volume is compact, and covers the ground without unnecessary digressions or technicalities. Prof. Thorpe's name is so prominently associated with the subject of American History and Government, that a book from his pen takes a front rank at once.

Classic German Course in English.

By DR. WILLIAM C. WILKINSON. 12mo. $1.

The attempt to present foreign literatures in English has been so successful in the case of Dr. Wilkinson's works, that any extended notice is unnecessary. The method consists in making judicious selections, in translation, from the authors represented, and combining with such excerpts the necessary biographical and critical matter. While by this method the discipline of linguistic training is lost, yet a definite idea of the literature itself is certainly presented.

Two Old Faiths. (Hinduism and Mohammedanism.)

By J. MURRAY MITCHELL and SIR WILLIAM MUIR. 12mo. 40 cts.

These two essays describe briefly the characteristic features of two religious faiths that have gained wide acceptance. The subject of comparative religions is profitable not only from the standpoint of anthropology, but also for the sake of the light which it throws on the principles of Christianity. The authors of this book are eminently qualified by travel and study to treat these themes.

*Not absolutely required of Canadian students, although it is strongly recommended.
