

and wanted the Independents to drop a man or allow them to put on a new and fresh man. The Referee ordered the man to be brought forward to judge whether he could allow it, and then decided nothing was the matter with the man except "played out"—nothing to show except a blister on his foot and legs shaky. The man refused to play, and the Independents would not agree to either drop a man or allow a fresh man to be put on. The game started with eleven Shamrock's to twelve Independents. After the game had progressed a few minutes a new man appeared on the field and refused to leave. The Referee stopped the game and ordered the Shamrock captain to take off the man. He refused to do so, and the Referee then adjudged the match to the Independents after warning the Shamrock captain. This is the first decision of the kind in Montreal.
