

A MAN PREVENTED FROM BURNING THE DEAD BODY OF HIS WIFE.—The Milwaukee American says that the city was thrown into the greatest excitement on the 19th ult., by an attempt of a man there to burn the dead body of his wife.

The story was as follows: A Russian by the name of Pfeil married a woman who was a Brahmin in belief. He was possessed of wealth, and both were persons of culture. She sickened and died, and requested, according to the faith of her fathers, that her body should be burned. Pfeil had collected sixteen cords of wood, arranged it properly, and was about to perform the deed, when news of the fact was circulated, creating intense excitement. Sheriff Conover proceeded at once to Pfeil's house, and forbade the act. The Russian asserted his right and duty to be, to burn the body of his wife. "No law forbids," said he, "my religion commands; I will do it." The body was in its shroud, the torches prepared, all was ready to place it on the funeral pyre. "Let it be borne to its place," continued the Russian; "there is no law against it in Wisconsin. But the Sheriff took possession of the body, ordered a coffin, and made preparations for its Christian burial. The crowd grew and thronged round the house. Alarmed or afraid to persist, Pfeil gave his consent to a Christian burial. "You may order or have what ceremonies you please over the body," said Sheriff Conover. "Gentlemen," replied Pfeil, "it makes no difference with us, if we cannot go on in our own way." Thereupon the body was buried.

NEW BOOK. BERTHA; OR, THE POPE & THE EMPEROR. An Historical Tale. BY WILLIAM BERNARD M'CABE, Author of Florine, a Catholic History of England, &c.

THIS book has gone through many editions in England and Ireland, and will meet with a rapid sale in America. It makes a book of about 600 pages. Price 75 cents. Brownson, in his Review for October, 1854, thus speaks of it:—"This is an historical romance, designed to vindicate the character of St. Gregory the Seventh by portraying the real character of Henry the Fourth of Germany. It is a specimen, and a favorable specimen, of the class of works we wish to see multiplied among us. It is interesting, and really meritorious as a romance, and it is highly instructive as a work, illustrating a much misrepresented period of history. We most cordially and earnestly commend it to our readers, and we are most happy to learn that an American edition of it may soon be expected from a Catholic publisher in this city. Its author is one of the first and most meritorious literary men in Ireland, a vigorous writer, and a Catholic after our own heart."
