

ended to direct the simply a Reader, and all Exercises in writing Latin have enable him to be reserved for a future volume. require the aid of 1. With this statement of the design and plan of the work, the much which would commit it to classical instructors, in the hope that, in aim to point out their hands, it may render some useful service in the important ly and surely reach work of classical instruction.

tence, and then
 idiomatic English
 Providence, Aug. 21st, 1865.

some such dire
 the problem pr
 tle better than
 first translation
 regard either t
 es of his mother

formation as wil
 tter of his read
 him to surmount
 erences can be
 s; and, though
 t is yet a mis-
 place of com-

to each word
 ading lessons,
 ading signifi-

rofessors and
 ublish an In-
 o parts, the
 or the more
 k has been