

QUEBEC IN WINTER

1. The accurate description of the city of Quebec, close to Mount Royal, is a subject of observation—on the top—and a model, with a communication of subjects of

2. Quebec is a city of great importance, not only in relation to the river, but also in relation to the other parts of the province. It is a city of great elevation, and its position is very advantageous. It is a city of great beauty, and its scenery is very picturesque. It is a city of great interest, and its history is very interesting. It is a city of great importance, and its position is very advantageous. It is a city of great beauty, and its scenery is very picturesque. It is a city of great interest, and its history is very interesting.

On the length of the shores and