FEET AT THE RACES

Quite the most noticeable feature of this race meeting has been the exquisite shoes and stockings displayed to great advantage by the girls, which unfortunately often display to great disadvantage. Shoes are no longer of one color, but are worn in two and sometimes three shades, almost all having the huge colonial paste buckles varied by bows, crowns and butterflies all in paste. The average price ranging from $10 to $25 a pair, adding at least $10 for the shoes and from $2 to $5 for the stockings, the fashionable woman's bill for footwear is almost equal to that for her hats. The prettiest feet and those the best shod during the meeting were certainly the dainty pair belonging to Mrs. Cushman of New York, who was a popular visitor with Mrs. George Hees, and the guest of honor at innumerable entertainments. On Wednesday Mrs. Lowndes' green satin slippers with paste buckles came a close second, and Miss Marion Gibson's smart patent leather colonial shoes were a delight to behold. Many of the shoes are made with patent leather front and heel and back matching the gown. Mrs. F. H. Philpott wearing a very pretty pair matching her cream colored tailor-made on Wednesday afternoon. Purple shoes are the rage, and in some cases look charming, but worn with all colored gowns are horrible, especially some having white heels and white stripes at the side, which are most unbecoming to the foot. Black satin are still the real favorites, but some women were noticed wearing worn-out black satin slippers, beads off and toes and heels rubbed white—dear old comfy things, which should have been relegated to very private wear months ago. Aside from shoes, the fashions have not been so bad as we hoped after the first shock on the 24th. The colors are at least cheerful, and make a good appearance if one does not look too carefully at the faces under the curls, tinsel, pumpkins, lemon, puce, magenta, emerald, and all seven shades combined hats, for they are generally unbecoming and inclined to reflect upon the wearer's face with awful results. Then the gowns belted just in the wrong place, they are very nice on the slim young girl, but on the stout woman the less said the better. Lots of the society women are fortunately dressing in as good taste as usual, and some exquisite gowns were noticed every day. Mrs. Christie had some lovely dresses, perhaps her most becoming being on Wednesday, when she had on a beautiful jetted wrap. Mrs. John Macdonald looked well, especially in black, and Mrs. Duff Scott was always noticeable either in tailor-made or satin gown; Miss Lily Lee, who wears a tailor-made better than anyone in town, had some very smart ones alternating with her lighter frocks. Mrs. James Worts wore some charming dresses, especially one of the white voile, embroidered with posies of flowers in crevices. Miss O'Brien wore one of the new coats like a dress suit one day with a plain striped skirt.

IF THIS IS YOUR BIRTHDAY

Do not travel. Much success and satisfaction will be yours for remaining quiet. If an employer, you will receive a merited advance.

Those born today will have restless, active natures and will be inclined to quarrel. If they can be turned towards the friendly strife of outdoor games, they will be better. In material things they will be generally fortunate.

"SALADA"

TEA reaches you just as it left the Gardens of Ceylon, with its fragrance and flavor unimpaired.

Rev. S. Edward Gregg officiated. The bride, who was given away by her brother, Mr. C. Cotton of Peterboro, wore a white mesaline silk dress trimmed with lace and pearls, orange blossoms encircled her tulle veil, and she carried a bouquet of white roses and lilies of the valley. Miss Maud Woolley, sister of the bridegroom, and Miss Doris Eland acted as bridesmaids, wearing very pretty dresses of pale blue silk, trimmed with shadow lace, each carrying a bouquet of white carnations. The flower girls were Miss Evelyn Woolley, niece of the bridegroom, and Miss Gertrude Evans, whose dresses were of white voile trimmed with white lace and insertion, each carrying a basket of white carnations. Mr. Joseph Woolley acted as best man. English papers (West Bromwich and Aston) please copy.

TO KNOW CHRIST READ ABOUT HIM

Archbishop Wright's Advice to Congregation at St. James' Cathedral.

INTERCHANGE CLERGY

Australian Primate Believes This Would Help to Bind Two Countries.

The story of Christ walking on the water was told by Archbishop Wright of Sydney, Australia, last evening, in St. James' Cathedral, to a congregation made up largely of people who have migrated from Greece, Britain westward to better their fortunes and make homes for themselves. His appeal was direct to those who know Christ, and have faith in Him, will be comforted when buffeting the storms that come in life, especially the life in a new country.

"The miracle tells you when you are in storm and stress to keep on tolling as the disciples did and Christ will come to you," the archbishop said. "If you want to be ready for the eventualities of life, make sure that you know Jesus, and when He comes to you you will not be afraid."

With the manner of a master teacher the archbishop explained to the audience how they can come to know Christ. "To know Him, read about Him in the Bible," he said. "When we grasp that assurance, what a change it makes in the problems of life."

Canadian Churches Older. The archbishop commented upon the number of churches in Canada that have celebrated their centenary, and added that Australia has few of those churches. He stated that many of the churches in his country are in small communities and far apart, and that the most of them are in his diocese.

He also expressed his pleasure at having the opportunity to preach to congregations in Canada, and he said that he hoped that Canadian clergymen would seek opportunities to visit Australia and preach to congregations there, because such interchange made for the binding of the two great commonwealths in the work of the Christian ministry to better the lives of the peoples.

DIPHTHERIA

Unless the mother has formed the habit of regularly examining her child's throat, this dread disease may be well advanced before it is suspected. After being exposed to diphtheria the child will show symptoms of it in from two to five days. The disease is shown sometimes by a discharge from the nose of mucus mixed with blood, the child at the side of the neck may be swollen and there may be some fever, though it is not likely to be high except in the case of very young babies.

On examining the throat you may find a faint grayness of the tonsils, or both sides of the throat may be covered with a thick, grayish-yellow patch and the whole throat will be very much swollen.

The pain in the throat may not be so severe as that from tonsillitis, but the danger is in the soreness spreading down into the windpipe and causing membranous croup. Sometimes the disease starts here and makes the child very hoarse and croupy. This is the most dangerous form of the disease, and severe cases require large doses of antitoxin.

The only safe rule regarding sore throats is to send for the doctor as soon as white, gray or yellow spots are found on a child's throat. Put the child to bed and keep the family away. Antitoxin given in full doses and early in the disease is the best of all treatments. The mouth and throat sprayed. The bowels must be made to move every day during the disease by some simple laxative.

The diet is milk and broths at first, with a gradual return to solid food. If fever is present given sponge baths with lukewarm water with a little alcohol in it.

Complications that may occur are paralysis, broncho-pneumonia, kidney and heart diseases. If the anti-toxin is given early enough and in sufficient quantities the child is very likely to escape these troubles.

Of course the room must be thoroughly fumigated at the close of the illness, and the bed and dressed before allowed to mingle with other children.

DIAMOND JUBILEE OF LOCAL CHURCH

St. James' Square Held Grand Reunion as a Celebration.

It was a grand reunion held at St. James' Square Presbyterian Church yesterday. The occasion was a diamond jubilee to celebrate the 60th anniversary of the church. Many years ago when the congregation had not assumed very large proportions, Rev. Dr. John King labored to augment the flock. And his efforts were not in vain. As a mark of respect to the memory of Dr. King, the officers of the church induced Rev. C. W. Gordon (Ralph Connor) of Winnipeg, to preach the morning sermon, as he is a son-in-law of the late Dr. King. Rev. Wardlaw Taylor, a grandson of the first minister of the church, assisted with the services.

Rev. Dr. Robertson, minister of the church, introduced Rev. D. G. McQueen, D.D., Winnipeg, moderator of the present Presbyterian Assembly, as one of the men who had attended the church in his student days.

Dr. McQueen made reference to his last visit to the church over 25 years ago, and recalled sitting in the balcony with other students while the late Dr. King preached.

There were many aged persons in attendance who joined the church when it was in its infancy.

EFFICIENT HOUSEKEEPING

BY HENRIETTA D. GRAUEL DOMESTIC SCIENCE LECTURER

Blue Monday

Monday is a "blue" or dismal day, because women have chosen it for the hard, unpleasant task of washing. Just why it is the most unsuitable. It is a busy day without the drudgery of washing, and women are always tired and usually out of humor on Monday.

Sunday is a day of rest to the men and children of the family and to the servants, but not to the women.

The house may have been in "apple-pie order" at bedtime Saturday night. The refrigerator and pantry may have been stocked with good things to eat until their shelves groaned—but Monday morning always sees the house tippy-turvy and the cupboards as bare as Mother Hubbard's.

Your entire effort is needed to get things back into their proper groove. Even the help are demoralized from their afternoon and evening off. This is not the time to start washing.

Besides, unless you have smashed Sunday to bits, you are not prepared to wash. The preliminary duties necessary to proper washing require several hours.

The clothes must be assorted; flannels in one pile, table and body linens in separate heaps and fine lawns and delicately colored things put aside for special care. If there are stains they must be removed before the article is wet, torn places should be mended and very dirty spots well soaped.

It facilitates washing very much to soak the clothes over night, but you cannot expect the laundress to come in and do this Sunday evening and you would not expect your maids to do what you would not do at this time.

If Tuesday morning could only be chosen as the national washday we would have no more "blue" Mondays and housekeeping would be simplified very much.

It is a good investment to buy those things which furnish a laundry and enable you or your help to wash in the easiest way. A copper boiler will never rust your clothes and will outwear many tin ones, and a clothes wringer with good, soft rubber rollers will save your clothing and your time. A washing machine is a proven help; the ones operated by water-power give splendid satisfaction and one should be installed in every home where the back-breaking work of washing is done.

Three tubs are necessary besides the machine if you would work rapidly—one for rinsing, one for blueing and one for soaking the clothes. Every woman has her own idea as to the best way of cleaning soiled clothing and these ideas are as fixed as the laws of the Persians, but all admit that certain chemicals like ammonia and borax loosen the dirt. Washing soda is used by hired help and is a powerful bleach, but soon eats minute holes in the fabrics. The recipe given in this column for Javelle water is the best detergent known. If you did not clip it when it was published, write to me and I will send it to you.

After the rinsing and blueing comes the starching, and this is the most important part of the whole work. Sticky, raw starch is the bane of the ironer. Use a porcelain kettle in which to make it. For two quarts of heavy starch use six tablespoons of starch made smooth in cold water. Pour this into rapidly boiling water and stir hard until it is thick. Add a little paraffine to it, as this makes it smooth when ironing. Cook it at least ten minutes.

Tomorrow I will give a few hints on setting colors.
