"SPORTING LIFE" TWO DAYS MORE

British Racing Story Pleases Large Crowds for Many Days.

Large crowds are still the rule at every performance of Maurice Tourneur's special production of the famous Drury Lane melodrama, "Sporting Life," which finishes its extended run at the Allen on Saturday night.

Seldom has there been a motion picture production of such magnitude is "Sporting Life." Produced on a lavish cale this film has been declared by both critics and public to be the greatest of the year, replete with thrills and

An absorbing love story runs thru-out the entire drama. The romantic element is provided by the Earl of Woodstock, who is in love with the daughter of his chief trainer. Her sister loves Joe Lee, a prize fighter of unknown ability. When the latter is drugged just before stepping into the Fing, Lord Woodstock takes his place, and not only wins the fight but thou-

Thrill follows thrill in rapid success on, which keeps one expectant at all times. One of the most notable achievements of this tremendous melo drama is the scenes showing the famous Derby Day at Epsom, greatest event of the year in English sporting circles. Beautiful women, in the latest and most stylish gowns, add to the setting for the running of casion. A detachment of troops will pay honors to the arriving delegates, and Stephen Pichon, the French oreign minister, will receive the various delegations. The meeting will begin at 3 o'clock sharp.

The plenipotentiaries will sit around a horse-shoe table, the middle part of this table being reserved for officers. The delegations will be grouped by states in alphabetical order, as they appear in the Almanach de Gotha. American delegates will be at one end, then those of the British Empire, France, Italy and Japanese in the order named. After them will come reresentatives of other states, also
